Giving. Often it is hard to believe that a school could give more than just an education. At most schools that is all a student can receive. Arlington High School, though, bestowed us with several gifts that can never be repaid nor forgotten.

Arlington enriched us; it inspired discovery and created a sense of security to which we soon became accustomed. It was our second home as we became seasoned veterans of halls, lockers, rooms, and teachers.

The school changed and we changed with it. As it added new dimensions to itself — the new gymnasium, band hall, photography lab, and improvements to the auditorium — we seemed to add more depth to our own lives. Arlington High School pushed us to dreams of higher diversity. In those variations we strived to achieve, we found fun, traditions, and pride.

Arlington High School is boastfully filled with traditions. Our traditions kept memories of past classes, friends, and graduates alive in our minds. They also united us with the future as we laid the foundations for new traditions. These traditions brought us together and were accented with enthusiasm. Our pep rallies, athletic competitions, and all the work we put into ourselves were enlivened by participation. These activities reflected upon our school and gave us an intense sense of pride. Only Arlington High School students truly know the sensation at a pep rally as arms are raised to sing the alma mater.

Another Arlington High tradition was excellence — excellence in our student body, our school, and especially our faculty. Our teachers gave totally to us. Their unending willingness to pass their knowledge on to us won the admiration of the entire student body. One such teacher who nourished us through learning was Mrs. Mary Margaret Basham. A teacher of history and English, Mrs. Basham expanded our knowledge in many ways. We learned about ourselves and gained an understanding of the world that could not always be attained through a text book. She always demonstrated concern and support whether for an individual student or an all-school activity. We are grateful for her enrichment. With the greatest love, appreciation, and respect that can be given, we on the Colt Corral staff are pleased and proud to dedicate the 1982 yearbook to Mrs. Basham.

A C T I V I T I E S

As summer ended and school began, sophomores started hearing of the Howdy Day rituals and of the jokes that the "Big" seniors would pull.

When Howdy Day finally arrived, sophomores began to wish they were at home. Juniors were overjoyed because they were at last able to "strike back" for all the stunts that had been pulled on them when they had been the "poor sophomores."

Then the first pep rally came into light and the students were in for a change. The pep rallies were no longer in the morning but at the end of the day. All students were required to attend. This caused a few uproars.

Students knew school had surely begun when Principal James Crouch shared his first dream of the year exclaiming "How sweet it is to be in Colt Country."

Springing on the October horizon with a flurry of activities that began early in the morning and continued late into the evening was Homecoming '81.

For early risers the second annual Homecoming breakfast got underway in the Student Lounge before school. Clubs joined with the Student Council in providing juice, donuts, sweetrolls, and fruit for the affair.

This year's pep rally was moved to the afternoon and spawned another "tradition" change. The Exes reception, usually held in the morning after the pep rally, was moved to before the rally at 1 p.m.

Things though didn't sway from the traditional in the pep rally. The teachers were their usual hilarious selves when they presented the AHS version of Family Feud. Of course, the Colt Family won.

One of our own, American History teachers Mrs. Natalee Parr was named Coming Home Queen. Her counterpart this year was Mr. Tom Eaton from the Class of '31. Mr. Eaton was also presented a football autographed by the '81 Colts to commemorate the 50th anniversary of Mr. Eaton's squad. He served as captain of the 1931 Colt football squad.

As the evening began couples dressed in their finest, shuffled to find a place to sit, and waited through the first half for the Homecoming activities to get underway.

The Royal Couple was about to be announced. All of the nominees waited anxiously for the moment when all would know who the 1981 Homecoming King and Queen would be.

As the anticipation became great, the names were proclaimed, "the 1981 Homecoming Queen is Lauri Tillman and the Homecoming King is Mike Sulzen." The suspense was broken.

After the traditional Homecoming kiss and the royal ride around the field, the Homecoming King and Queen went their separate ways, each to always hold the memories of the night.

Students nominate eight finalists for Royal Court

As Homecoming approached, students became forever busy ordering corsages and boutonnieres, making reservations at the finest restaurants, and making preparations for all of the activities to come on Homecoming Day. The traditional election of sophomore and junior princess nominees along with Homecoming Queen and King kept others running in circles.

Nominees for sophomore princess were Connie Crawford, Joy Watson, Laura White, and Leslie Wright. Receiving the honor for the sophomores was junior varsity cheerleader Laura White. Nominated for junior class princess were Brittney Millholland, Suzie Santrelli, Lori Seal, and Barbara Williams. Winning the position of junior class princess was Lori Seal, also a Colt cheerleader.

Candidates for Homecoming Queen were Elise Brown, Sara Reed, Suzanne Rising, and Lauri Tillman. Nominated for King were Moody Alexander, Mark Joeckel, Richie Miller, and Mike Sulzen. The royal couple was announced at halftime. Mike and Lauri became King and Queen of the royal court.

The month of October started on its way with the mighty Colt football team stampeding past the Sam Houston Texans 28 to 7. This memorable game opened in the newly built UTA stadium. At the end of the month on Halloween the Colts surged by the Bowie Volunteers 7 to 0. The day of the game everyone prompted team spirited by dressing up in scary Halloween attire.

The week before Halloween the traditional Colt Country Jamboree was performed. Included in the fun was a beauty pageant in which four boys displayed feminine charms. After the Jamboree, everyone headed down the hall to the senior-sponsored masquerade dance held in the cafeteria. A DJ furnished music and flashbulbs popped as a photographer snapped the wild and crazy dancers.

Colts capture District title

November was a month full of activities including Spirit Week. The week began with everyone dressing up in the latest western fashion. Tuesday everyone was decked out in Hawaiian outfits for "Beach the Vikes Day," Wednesday the student body dressed punk for "Rock the Vikes Day," and Thursday the students decorated their hats for "Crazy Hat Day." Friday ended the week with the traditional Green and White day. During the week, spirit sisters decorated the football players' lockers and the different classes decorated the halls for a contest, which the sophomores won. The week's pep rally not only climaxed Spirit Week, but it also inaugurated the new gym.

Friday night the tried and true Colts stormed past Lamar 31-6, gliding into the District Championship. The following week the Colts played Eastern Hills for bi-district and were barely beaten by a score of 34-27.

Later in the month the drama department presented the play "The Matchmaker," the play from which the musical "Hello Dolly" originated. Darlene Cox, who portrayed the main character Dolly Levi, brought about a sense of reality and professionalism to the play. Students came in swarms to see the show.

Twinkling Yule lights reflect spirit

As Arlington High students bustled around busily trying to purchase presents before the final day arrived, Arlington citizens enjoyed the many twinkling lights of Christmas. The entire city shined with the thought of the coming holidays.

December opened at school with a HO! HO! HO! of a time. Most classroom doors were decorated for the Student Council Decoration Contest. The door of Mrs. Barbara Brown's room took top honors.

During the same week, Council members decorated the Student Lounge with a green and white tree and students attended the Choir Christmas Assembly.

Seniors attended the annual College Night, this year hosted by Lamar High School.

Construction causes hassles

The month of January was filled with band, orchestra, and choir variety dinners. Each fine arts department had a large turnout and good food. The band dinner consisted of chili in the cafeteria and a concert in the auditorium afterwards. The orchestra did much the same except they served lasagna. The choir also had chili but they gave a concert featuring a variety of vocalists singing pop songs.

Traffic jams became an everyday occurrence because of the construction being done on Park Row. This caused extensive traffic, wrecks, and much hassle. Often times students found themselves late to school after making the many detours.

During January, the civics classes paid a visit to the Tarrant County Courts in Ft. Worth's courts systems. The classes were divided into two groups with one group spending time at the civil courthouse and the other group at the criminal one. The visit lasted approximately three hours with both groups having a chance to witness both branches of the court system.

Council plans birthday party

February bustled by for AHS students because of the many activities. Included was a visit by the ninth graders to learn about our school. Students got a tour of the school and an introduction to the organizations that they will be able to take part in the following year.

Also during the month, Student Council members carefully planned a birthday party for Principal James Crouch. They bought a specially decorated cake and brought him carnations. Everyone had a fun time except Mr. Crouch, who was out of the building.

FHA got together and sponsored a dance for the senior citizens in the community. The members of the group got in and boogied down with the older folks and helped them all to have a fun time.

The varsity girls' basketball team rolled to victory in the district championship. In the bi-district game, Dunbar barely slid past them to win.

Student Council members sold valograms at Valentine's. They bought multi-colored carnations to distribute to students and teachers. Along with the flower, the recipient received a message from the giver. People bought flowers for their teachers, friends, and of course, their sweethearts.

Clubs host fair in Colt County

On February 26, the doors swung open at AHS for the annual Colt County Fair. Tickets cost $1.50 and the event lasted from 6-10 p.m.

Most of the clubs and organizations took part in the fair as a money making means. Student Council members, who organized and sponsored the event, set up a casino with a variety of games.

Seniors entertained their audience with the Senior Saloon. With saloon girls amidst the crowds, three shows were given, and 13 groups performed acts.

Seniors also sponsored the rock group, The Magnums, who performed in the old gym, and they conducted a raffle with tickets going for twenty-five cents.

Imprisonment, not entertainment held the Juniors' position in the fair. They had a formal jailkeeper who for a small fee would cast into jail your worst enemy. Juniors also planned the teacher target dart board game.

Changing from their usual fair program, sophomores replaced their cake walk for a booth which offered several games and had popcorn available.

Most of the language classes and clubs sold delicacies from their countries. Spanish I, however, gave people the chance to pose as a macho toreador or a sexy senorita to get their pictures taken.

"Scapino" was the Drama Department's entry in UIL one-act play competition. The first contest was held at Bowie High School and awards were received by Charles Peters for best actor, Mike Williams and Prescott Coleman made All-Star Cast, Toni and Angie Poncetti made honorable mention in the All-Star Cast. Besides these honors, the group won District. From there they headed to Area contest at TCJC where Charles Peters was named to the All-Star Cast.

"Paint your wagon and come along," were familiar words to a song sung during the month of March as the AHS Music Department prepared for its musical. All their hard work paid off as crowds gathered for this major production. The musical was performed three nights, two of which sold out, with all three nights receiving a standing ovation. Cast members included Doug Barber as Ben Rumson, Dena Magazine as Jennifer, Moody Alexander as Julio, Bruce Kunz as Jacob, Michelle McGee as Elizabeth, and Molly Costen as Sarah. The musical was based on the Gold Rush of the 19th century.

Also during the month, Mrs. Grace Roberts was named Teacher of the Year, Honor Society members were selected and inducted, and next year's varsity cheerleaders were chosen. Future Colt Cheerleaders include Mary Ellen Hughes, Gretchen Polhemus, Laura White, Connie Nuckols, Lori Seal, Greg Campbell, Rod Hutchinson, Jeff Burnett, Kyle Talkington, and Scott Cain.

Cast prepares behind scenes

The musical "Paint Your Wagon" was performed March 4, 5, 6. Often the work that is put into a musical of this kind is forgotten, and the people who work behind the scenes are never given any of the glory they truly deserve.

Tryouts for the musical were held in November, and the next week the characters were posted on the call board. Immediately the work began. Over the Christmas Holidays, the main characters met and went over their lines and memorized them. Then the committees were selected in different areas and their work began. The largest committee, scenery, spent hours of time building sets and painting. Planning costumes was the job of the clothing committee; furthermore, the tickets and program committees started printing processes. Other committees got the dressing rooms prepared, learned the art of make-up, gathered materials, prepared props, and learned stage managing techniques.

The main characters worked every day on their parts from January till the day of the first performance led by stage manager Kris Daulton and Mr. Rash.

(A) The principal dancing fandagos Dory Lawrence, Jennifer Kay, Marilyn Rising, Dawn Conley, Connie Crawford, Renee Matsler, Robynne Thaxton, Julianne Raines, and Laura White ruffle their skirts while Cherry (Becky Miner) gives her lover (Jeff Lawson) a warm hug. ## Students recall year's passing

As the end of May and the end of school approached, students recalled the expertise of the Colt varsity baseball team, the journalism annual senior lasagna dinner, and much more.

The Colt baseball team was crowned with the achievement of capturing the district championship.

Honoring seniors in the journalism department, Mrs. Phyllis "Teach" Forehand held her annual lasagna dinner and bid a fond farewell to her departing seniors.

As the teachers throughout the school district prepared tests and the students prepared to take these awesome exams, a former teacher of AHS prepared to retire. Miss Jane Ellis was Choraliers director at AHS for 25 years. She set up many traditions such as the Choraliers singing, "You'll Never Walk Alone" at graduation and many more.

When Bowie High opened Miss Ellis departed AHS to become a vice principal there. After 41 years of contribution to education, Miss Ellis is retiring this year. Former students of Miss Ellis honored her by singing "You'll Never Walk Alone," on May 20, at a banquet for her.

Speaking on the history of England and Shakespearean literature, Mr. Thomas Hunt of Stratford, England expanded AHS knowledge. He related how the Bard's writings still applied today and explained much history of England that began in 55 BC.

'82 seniors file into auditorium for final assembly

On May 19 the seniors filed into the auditorium for one last time and spent the next two hours applauding each other for honors ranging from academic to athletic.

The annual senior assembly was under direction of the class officers and was complimented by the AHS Jazz Ensemble.

Over 15 community organizations chose seniors to honor most with scholarship awards. Among these were the PTAs, Art Association, St. Maria Garden Club, Rotary Club, Police Association, DAR, Lions Club, Optimist Club, UTA, TWC, Dr. Zack Bobo, Texas Ex-Students, and the Athenian Club.

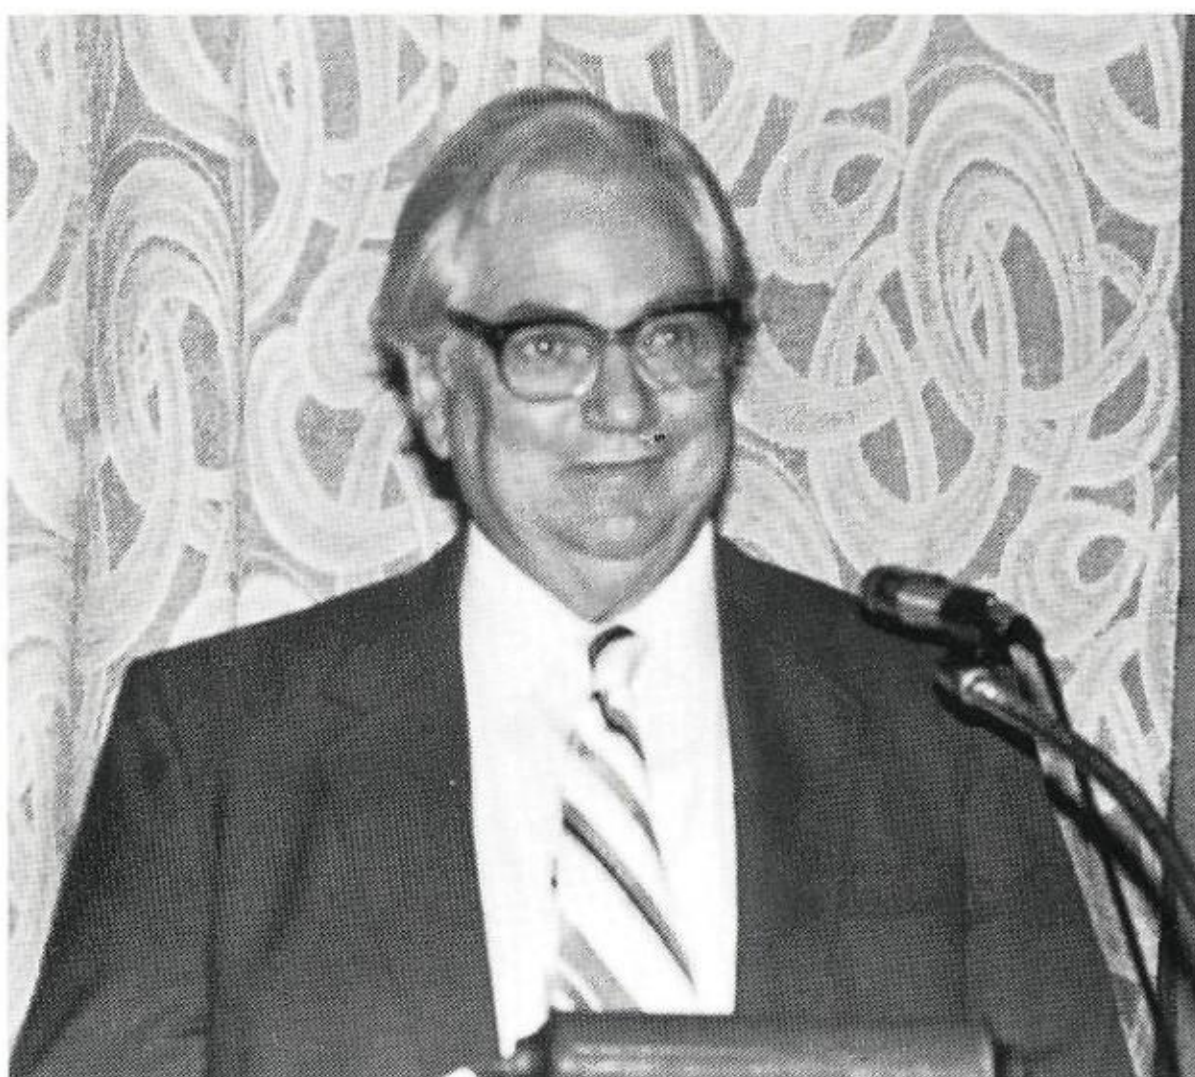

Arlington High honors included the David Tarrance, Elizabeth Amos, Emma Ousley, and Mildred Shupe Awards, all named after former teachers.

Athletes, who received honors and scholarships, were cited as were the National Merit finalists.

Principal James Crouch's tearful Principal's Address set the stage for the remainder of the program which saw Vice Principal Wendell Lackey present gold cords to the top ten and Mr. Robert Fielder, present the 50th Fielder Award to Dee Dee Askew and Mike Sulzen.

After one more screening of the senior slide show, president Moody Alexander thanked faculty and classmates for a good year and joined in the singing of the Alma Mater.

Seniors enjoy special service

Each year, as the end of school draws near, another senior class goes through many assemblies on their way to graduation.

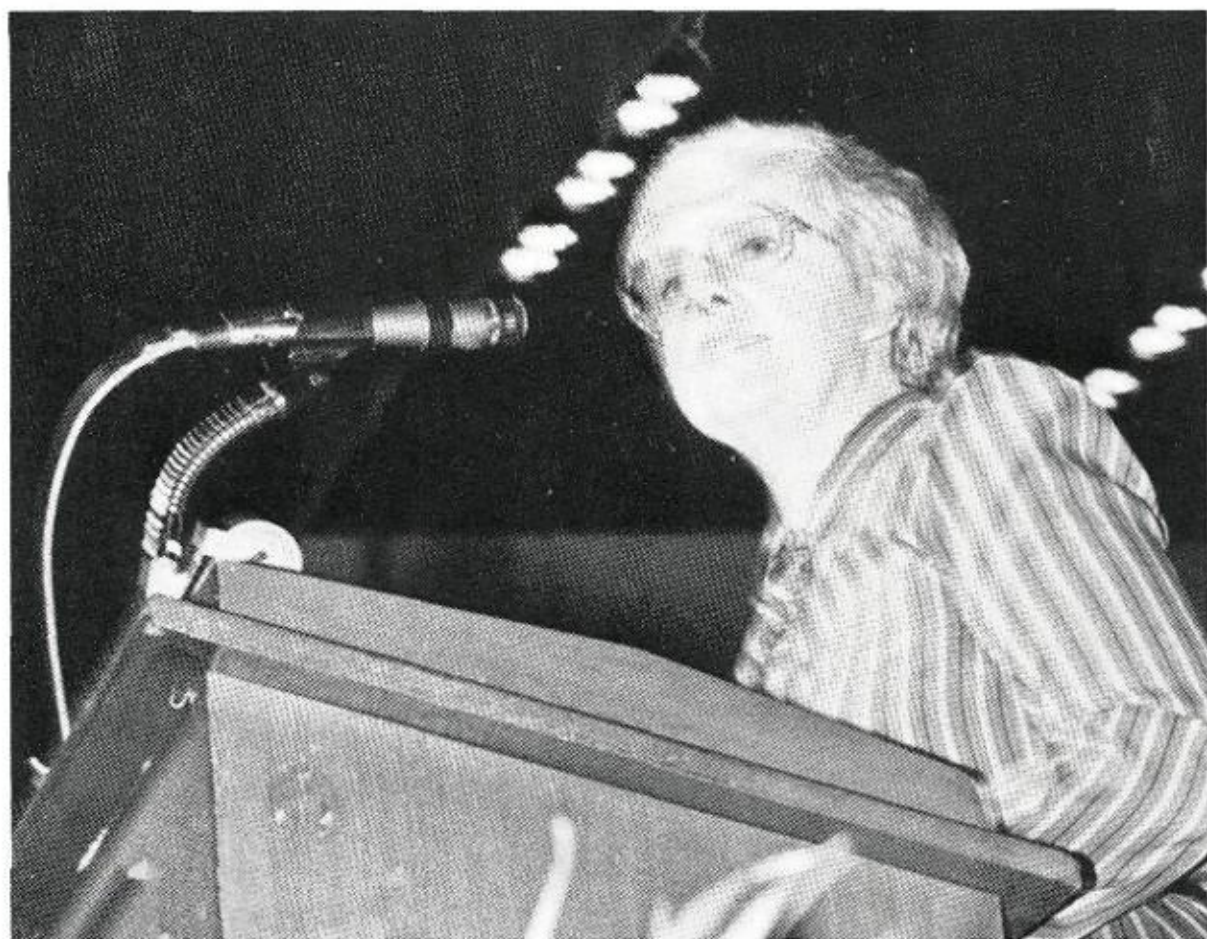

Vesper services were held May 23 at UTA's Texas Hall. The seniors entered the spirit-filled auditorium in orderly form as the band and orchestra played.

Seniors Freddie Loeber, Moody Alexander, and Dee Dee Askew expressed what Arlington High meant to them through speeches, while Lou Ann Shoults sang her song of "memories." AHS faculty members Coach Ben Bailey, Mrs. Mary Margaret Basham, and Mrs. Bonnie Shelley, told students, in short, to "Never give up, never give up, never give up."

The choir sang "Hymn for our Time" and "Sea to Shining Sea."

At the end of the service, seniors had a processional out of the auditorium and sighed as there were only two more days until their graduation.

1982 Graduates earn diplomas

Throughout the years, senior classes come and go, but the class of '82 will live on in the hearts and minds of parents, teachers, and friends always.

On May 25, 1982, one of the most honored classes graduated from Arlington High School at 8 p.m. in Texas Hall. Speeches were given by salutatorian, Cathy Dunning, eighth place graduate, Diana Powell, honor graduate, Martha Moon, and valedictorian, Anne Toxey.

As Principal James Crouch spoke to the class, and tears started filling mothers' eyes, graduates thought back on the past 12 years of study and fun realizing they were about to enter the real world. That thought was not only startling and scary, but also challenging and thrilling.

The graduates received their diplomas to the applause and cheers of family and friends. When the choir sang "You'll Never Walk Alone," seniors knew their days were over at AHS, but "We're the best at what we do, Senior Class of '82," will remain a class of prosperity forever.

Mystical Kingdom comes to life

Feeling closed in? Visit the Xerox room and enter a mythological kingdom where centaurs roam free and a cool breeze forever blows.

The original idea of the mythological scene was created by Doyle Beuke. Students in Mrs. Elizabeth Free's Art 3 and 4 classes submitted ideas for themural to Mr. James Crouch. Mr. Crouch chose the mythological scene. The scene represents a serene place filled with forests. The mural is an entertaining picture that is not something that will become old to the eye very soon.

The four students who participated in the project were seniors Doyle Beuke, Darryl Eng, Lauri Lendley, and Kathy Singletary. The first step was to draw the scene on the wall with charcoal pencils then the students, using latex house paint, started painting the scene.

The mural went through many mutations and was finished in the spring giving Mrs. Annette Archer and the other office workers a creative and interesting view.

(C) Mrs. Ruth Butler uses the map to aide in her teaching program. (D) Rowdy Jones finds the discussion in his English class exciting, while Bernadette Baisley could think of better things to be doing.

Social Studies

"Our hope is for the students to achieve an understanding of our nation's government and their part in it," social studies department chairman Mrs. Bonnie Shelley stated. "Also, hopefully, they will participate in our government. In social studies students, she continued, were taught to be better citizens and to know their rights and responsibilities." Students learned how to change things in the democratic society for the better.

Fine Arts

"The study of drama can reveal a lot about yourself; the way you feel, think and act, as well as the way other people are, too," stated Mr. Dan Manning, director of the drama department, which is only one of the departments in the AHS fine arts department.

Fine arts included many different areas of learning. Students involved in fine arts classes received the opportunity to learn more about themselves and also learned creative ways to express themselves whether through drama, journalism, art, music, or photography.

"I want my classes to encourage self motivation and hard work through the art of speech and drama," commented Mr. Manning.

English

"The goal of the Arlington High English department is academic excellence," Mrs. Martha Roark, department chairman, said. The teacher chooses this material for the students to help them attain the necessary skills which they will need through life. "This material not only helps the students to satisfy the requirements of the English department or AISD, but also to attain skills needed throughout life," said Mrs. Roark.

Mathematics

"Math offers something to everyone," claimed Mrs. Lou Baker, department chairman. College bound students and students going to work directly after graduation benefit! From math, students gained the ability to organize facts, not only numbers, about daily things and apply them to a decision. The decision may be which way a person would like to pay for something, what he should invest in, or how much interest he is paying on a loan. Mathematics in school this year offered each student a course that was challenging and essential.

Shop

The shop department headed by Mr. Jim Saxon gave students a chance to work with metal tools, cars, and many other things involved in industrial arts. The course helped the students to be able to decide what career they would like to pursue. Being involved in the industrial arts program helped many students enter into a career right after high school.

Science

Leading the science department, Mrs. Alice Biggs claimed that the goal of the department was to provide students with a general background in various areas of science. Any general knowledge of science may make it easier for a student to relate to any other subject the student might be confronted with. "All areas, professional or not, give students a better understanding of themselves and things they are around everyday," said Mrs. Biggs.

Time; effort increase knowledge

Students involved in shop classes learned several aspects in the planning and making of their projects. The first step in a project was to figure the dimensions. The students must plan out the height, width, and depth of their project.

After they plan out what they are going to create, they must prepare the wood or metal for construction.

Each student must pay for every project he makes after his initial project.

Students work at different speeds depending on their time, effort, and capabilities. By working at this construction, the students gain knowledge that they may use in their future years in careers or hobbies.

Among some of the projects students made were desks, cabinets, lamps, bookcases, and gun cases.

Ruthie, Richie tie knot in class

Nerves are tense; fingers flutter nervously trying to hold flowers; mothers cry while fathers shake hands. The music begins; the procession starts, and the crowd stands as the bride escorted by her father, slowly waltzes down the aisle. The wedding has begun. Two people are about to commit their lives to each other.

In the Home and Family Living class this year, a mock wedding was held. Students chose to do this as the 'height' of their study on what makes a good marriage.

Students go through budgeting and complete planning of the wedding. They plan everything from the invitations to the final ceremony.

From the wedding students can take a look at marriage and see that it is a very important step in a person's life. "Hopefully, from being involved in this 'mock wedding'," stated Mrs. Becky McDonald, "the students will now go into marriage as a life-time commitment. Also, they will see that it takes both parties working very hard to make a good marriage."

Drivers Ed

Students involved in the driver's education program faced many situations. One of the departments many goals was for the student to gain the knowledge, understanding, common sense and maturity to successfully execute decisions made in life and death situations. The students also gained the advantages of driving in controlled situations, an insurance discount, and got one-on-one assistance with their driving techniques.

Home Ec

Preparing students for the future was the goal of the home economics department. Students learned how to better prepare themselves for the future mentally and emotionally. They learned how to care for children, how to handle household finances and most important to the student, personal care. "The Home Economics courses are geared to teach students the skills to be able to care for themselves in the future," stated Miss. Deana Koonsman, department chairman.

Physical Ed

Students involved in a physical education class or on a sports team gained advantages from staying active in recreational activities. "We hope to interest the student in some activity to the extent that he or she will continue to participate in physical activities throughout adulthood," commented Coach Judy Stricklin.

The coaches also hoped to increase the students' level of physical fitness and awareness of the importance of recreational activities to improve endurance and to keep themselves in condition.

VOE creates insight; money

How many students would like to have a schedule like this? Go to school 20 hours a week and work 20 hours a week during the first semester, and during the second term go to school only 15 hours a week and work 20. This was the schedule of Robin Pfluger, a senior who was involved in the Vocational Office Education program.

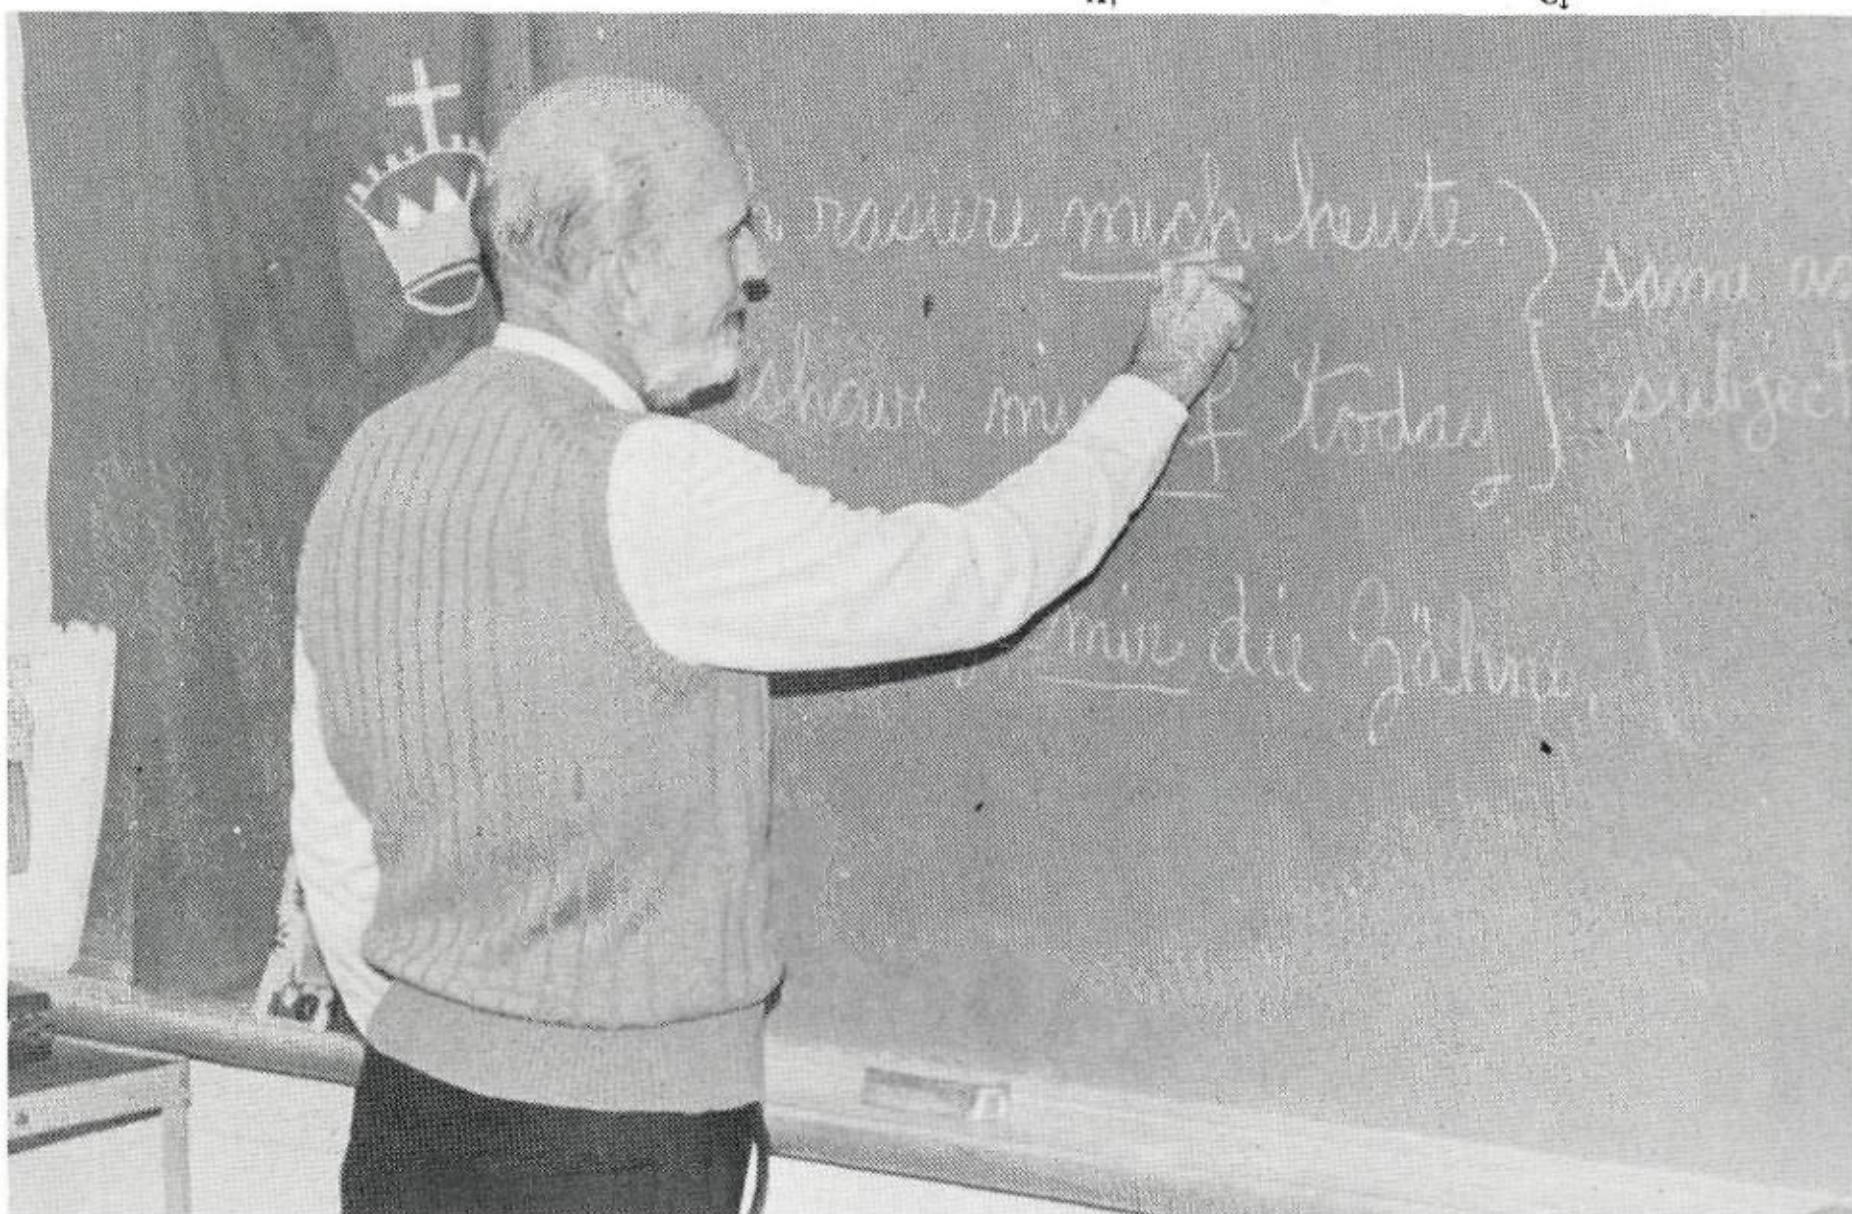

Robin worked as a secretary for Century 21 Elaine Southerland, Inc. She wanted a part-time job and knew that the VOE program could give her what she wanted. "Being involved in the program gave me an insight to my chosen career, as well as some extra money," said Robin.

Special Ed

Special Education courses were provided for students who needed special assistance. These students were placed in a small learning environment where they received individual attention. The students were met at their own functional level and taught skills to compensate.

Students were not taught such skills as geometry or how to write an excellent essay; but were taught how to check bank statements and how to read insurance policies.

Work Programs

The work programs, known also as training programs, trained students in specific areas. Students involved in the work program gained many advantages from their experiences. They also earned extra credits. Many of these students will go to college and many of their employers will pay for their schooling while the student works for them. Being involved in a work program helped the student to be able to gain a position he otherwise would not be qualified for.

Languages

Foreign language teachers had as their goals student proficiency in the language and an understanding of the culture of the language.

Taking a language helped students learn to appreciate foreign customs, food, and art.

Being involved in a foreign language course gave students a greater understanding of the world they live in and the ability to appreciate the difference in life styles of various countries.

FFA president grooms animals

Students involved in FFA were forever participating in the up-keep of their animals. Animals must be brushed or combed year round to build up a good coat. Senior, Rusty Phillips, president of FFA, had a heifer named Princess.

When Rusty prepared his heifer for shows, he went through a long process of washing, brushing and trimming which is called "fitting out". First Rusty would wash Princess to make sure that she was clean. Then using shaving cream to pull up her hair, he would trim and groom her, blending in her hair to correct defects. At the show he would put spray paint or shoe polish on her hooves and clip close to her belly.

Judges look for a feminine look in the heifer's face, and check for height, length and muscular build.

ROTC

Reserved Officer Training Corps (ROTC) is a unique program in which young people gained information about aerospace, the last frontier. Colonel Wallace Keehr and Sgt. C. H. Lawley trained the students in drill routines and rocket demonstrations. Students also entered in drill team competitions. ROTC strove to train students in leadership techniques in the all-volunteer program.

FFA

Leadership is a major factor in all areas of life, not excluding the FFA. The Future Farmers of America is not only a club but also a class. In production agriculture students learned about animal science, plant science, soil sciences, agricultural mechanics, and much more. "We try to train the students to be future agricultural leaders," stated Mr. Kevin Hamilton. The agricultural department contained two classes. In the co-op program students worked for one-half day at an agricultural business. Production agriculture combined agricultural sciences and a production project in which the student raised and showed an animal.

Business

Preparing students for future business careers, the business department offered typing, accounting, shorthand, record keeping, business law and personal business management. The courses helped students decide if they would like to pursue their chosen course in college. "When the students finish the courses, they should have a workable knowledge of the skill they have chosen," stated Mrs. Pat Thompson, department chairman. The students also have enough knowledge for their own personal use.

Who has the most school spirit in Arlington High? This question was answered when the students elected seniors Paul Belauskas and LaSchell Dietrich Mr. and Miss AHS Spirit.

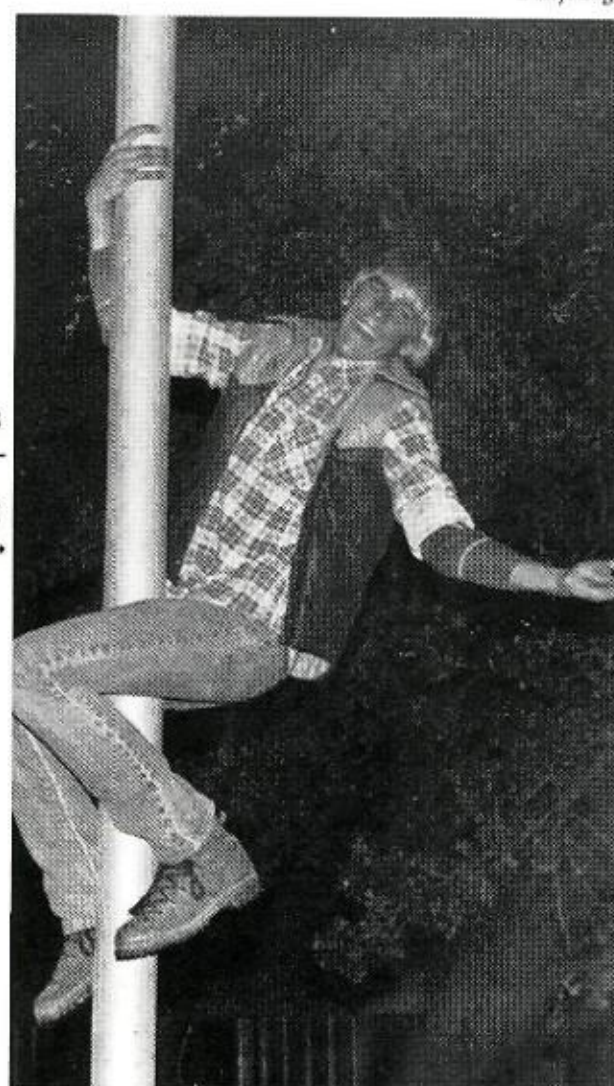

The two earned the title by attending pep rallies, going to poster parties, participating in senior class meetings, and showing genuine pride in their school through their actions and interests.

In addition, LaSchell was active in Student Council, a member of the Art and Spanish Clubs, a spirit sister, and the senior class secretary. Paul was involved with senior class functions and played varsity baseball.

Sulzen, Askew capture prestigious award at AHS

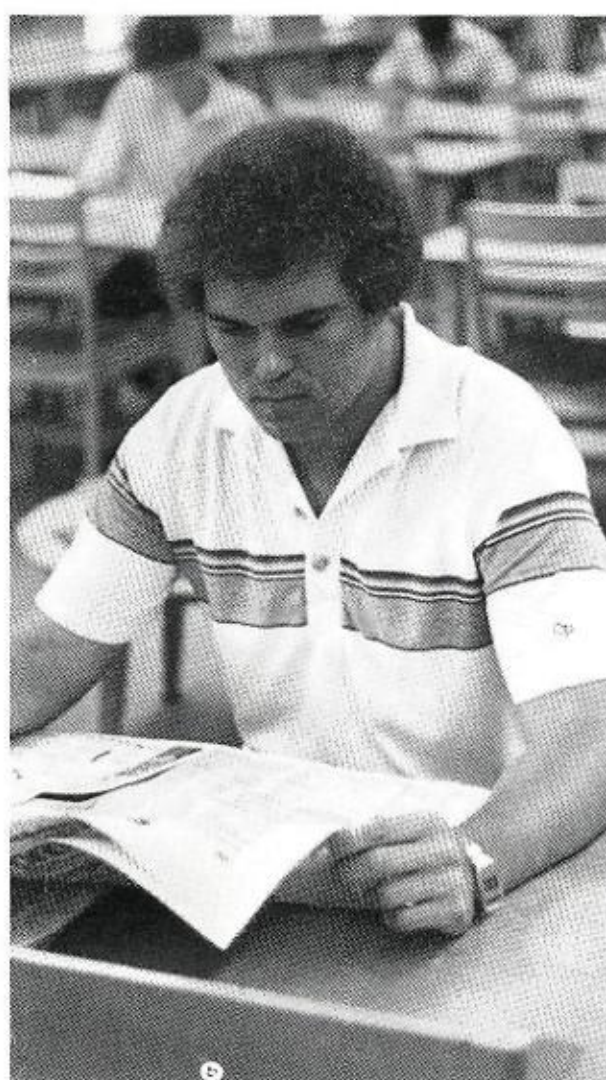

This year, the procedure for selecting the recipients of the Mr. and Miss AHS title was changed in order to give the title more prestige than in the past. Students had to be proposed by members of the faculty, and those nominated were given "point sheets" to fill out.

Nominees listed their high school activities for the past three years, with each activity being worth a certain number of points. Those students, six boys and six girls, having the greatest number of points were then voted on by the entire student body to determine a winner. The winners this year were Mike Sulzen and Dee Dee Askew.

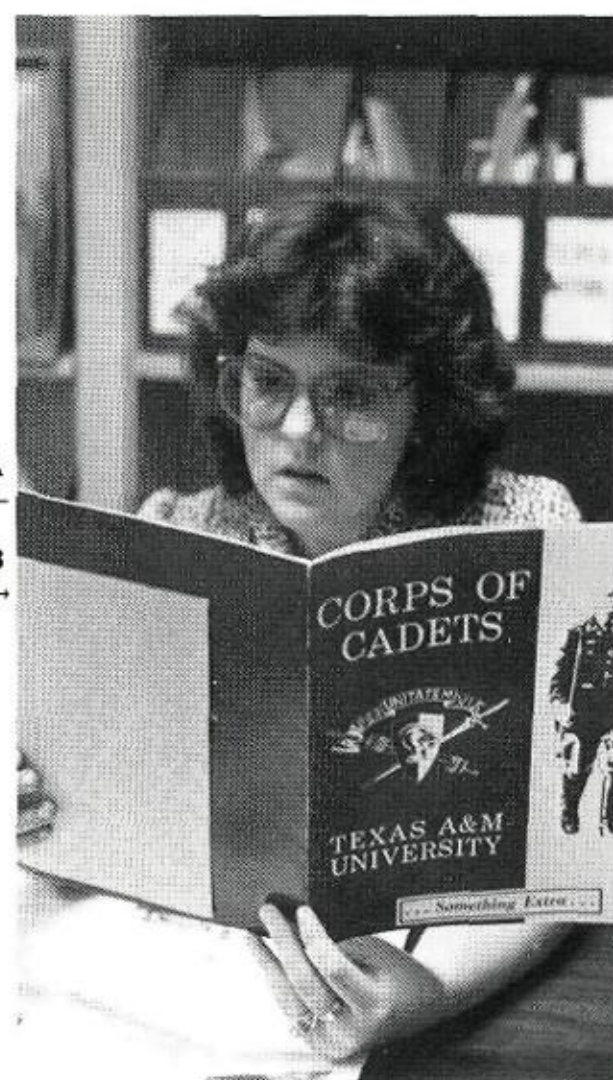

Mike lettered in football and baseball, was Homecoming King, played basketball, participated in Spanish Club, was a football team captain for two years, and received numerous honors and awards for his football abilities.

Student Council president Dee Dee was active in Youth Guidance, a member of Future Business Leaders of America, National Honor Society, and Latin Club, was in choir, and served as vice president of her sophomore and junior classes.

National Merit awards scholarships to 4 finalists

Four seniors were named as National Merit Semi-Finalists during September. These four were representative of the top half of one percent of all students who took the PSAT during their junior year.

In the spring, Steve Noyce, John Uribe, Scott Dickey, and David Yandell all made it to the Finalist level and became four of the 112 Texas high school students awarded renewable Merit Scholarships.

Although Steve declined to accept his scholarship, he was involved in high school as a member of the golf team and participant in drama.

John accepted his four-year Textron Merit Scholarship and planned to use it at the University of Texas in Austin. John was active as a soccer captain, editor of The Colt, reporter of the National Honor Society, and state-level UIL newswriter.

Scott likewise accepted his scholarship. His four-year Merit Scholarship from the Vought Corporation was to be used toward an electrical engineering degree from UTA.

David plans to major in Christian Education at Moody Bible Institute, therefore he declined his Merit grant from the University of Lincoln — Nebraska.

Council designs years activities

Leading Arlington High, the Student Council sponsored many fun-filled activities this year. Early in the year the "poor" sophomores were welcomed with Howdy Day and the Howdy Day dance. Later, carnations and Valagrams were purchased for "Loves" on Valentine's Day and were distributed by Council members.

The Student Council got its laughs during the TWIRP week assembly. They abused people, and threw pies in two student's faces. Girls had their faces painted with lipstick and guys shows off their legs during this annual assembly.

In February, the Student Council gave Principal James Crouch a birthday party with a gigantic birthday cake made just for him.

Officers included DeeDee Askew as president; Richie Miller, vice president; Janis Mikeska, secretary; and Tiffany Naughton, treasurer.

Honor Society plans busy year

Early in the fall, National Honor Society members met to install officers and kick off a busy year.

Mr. Billy Richter, youth minister at Trinity United Methodist Church and Mr. Herbert Fagan installed Anne Toxey and Becky Miner as presidents; Brent Magnuson, vice president; Doris Arbelaez, secretary; Cathy Dunning and Roshell Wade, treasurers; Martha Moon, girls social chairman; Bob Flynn and Jeff Lawson, boys social chairmen; and John Uribe, reporter.

In March, seven seniors and 49 juniors were tapped during their second period classes and invited to become members of the society. Later that evening, the oath of membership was administered to the new group before an audience of their parents in the cafeteria. A reception for the new members was held immediately following the induction.

Climaxing this year for the Honor Society, as has been the case for several years, members hosted students from Veda Knox School at a picnic in April.

Country Jamboree spawns 'Paint Your Wagon'

The 1981-1982 school year was extremely busy for members of the choral department. The year began with the Country Jamboree in October, which included pop and country songs, show tunes and skits modeled after the television show "Hee Haw," all with a country flavor. After watching the students perform the Country Jamboree, Mr. Dan Rash, decided he definitely had students who could dance and act, as well as sing. The decision was made to present the Broadway musical "Paint Your Wagon." The production became the highlight of the year as each choral student had a part as a cast or crew member. Countless hours were spent in rehearsal and set construction. Tryouts for parts were held in December, and diligent work continued on the production until March 4, 5, and 6.

The choir also performed a Christmas Concert and a Christmas Assembly. In January, choir members performed an all-school assembly of pop and country music. May activities included the Spaghetti Supper, Car Wash, Spring Concert, and Choir Banquet. The year ended with performance of special music at Vespers and Graduation.

Concert Choir, Chamber Singers enjoy busy year

Two music groups, the Concert Choir and the Chamber Singers spent the year in numerous musical endeavors.

The Concert Choir, consisting of first year choir members learned many singing techniques such as diphthong, scales, and sight singing. The Concert Choir helped on work days for "Paint Your Wagon" and helped with the chili dinner.

Concert Choir girls presented a song during the Jamboree "Doin' What Comes Naturally." Members also held a car wash to raise money for Choraliers next year.

Chamber Singers, a select ensemble composed of members from the entire choral department, had an exciting year. They performed more challenging choreography than attempted in previous years. In addition to school performances, they performed for the Arlington Art Association, Kiwanis, Rotary, and area rest homes. The group won first place in the Arlington Teen Talent Follies. They also made a guest appearance as the winners of the '80-'81 Roosevelt Madrigal Festival.

New leader adds excitement, success in Orchestra

Led by Mrs. Joanne Hall, the AHS orchestra had a productive year. The group played concerts at the Eastern Star Home during the Christmas season and at the school Christmas program. Then later in the year, several members were a part of the "Paint Your Wagon" orchestra.

Probably the highlight of the orchestra's year came when they walked away from UIL competition with the Sweepstakes Award.

In April orchestra members went with the band to Lake Charles, Louisiana for the 1982 Contraband Days. To raise money for the trip, the musicians hosted a spaghetti supper and conducted a car wash, which proved very profitable since it followed a severe sand storm.

Closing their busy year, the orchestra held a banquet and played for Vespers.

Orchestra officers included Tom Hussey and John Saleebey, presidents; Darci Paredes, vice president; Leslie Suggs, secretary; and Pam Johnson, treasurer.

Jazz Band wins outstanding title in Lake Charles

1981-82 was busy for the Jazz band.

The band played at the Chili Supper and the opening of the Bridgestone Tennis Tournament which was broadcast over cable television as far as Japan.

The group attended jazz festivals at UTA, TCU, and Lake Charles, Louisiana. In these contest the band received first division ratings. At Lake Charles, they were named as outstanding stage band.

Glen Singleton, Sarah Green, Jimmy Orr, and Keith Rogers were recognized at both the UTA and TCU contests with the National Association Jazz Educators Award, while Dee Dee Flynn and Carla Duval also were awarded at the TCU contest. In Lake Charles, Jimmy Orr received the NAJE Award and Sarah Green was Named Outstanding Musician.

Thespian drama makes a scene

Led by officers Melanie Morgan, president; Jimmy Cecil, vice president; Rochelle Gillett, secretary; Robert Obergon, historian; and Lisa Birke, treasurer, the Thespian Society had a very active year.

In the Fall they held a Halloween Party and informal initiations. Some of these initiations may have been weird, but most members participated. One initiate, Tony Poncetti, was told to try out for drill team (he didn't make it).

Thespians had a banquet at Bobby McGees. They awarded the Best Actress Title to Darlene Cox for her performance as Dolly Levi in the "Matchmaker." Best Actor was awarded to Charles Peters for his interpretation of Scapino in the UIL one-act play. Awards were also given to Angie Poncetti for Best Supporting Actress for her portrayal of Giacenta in "Scapino" and Jenny Mann for Best Technical Direction for her work as stage manager in "Matchmaker."

Thespians also attended plays in the Metroplex and participated in several tournaments.

Band members prepare early for marching season

Practice, practice, practice. Does it ever make perfect? The AHS band started practicing early before the school year began. They played in the evening hours between 7:30 and 9:00 during the summer.

The band kept the spirit strong by playing at all the football games and pep rallies. This year's band was the first to perform in the new gym.

Led by senior drum major Ken Spence and junior drum major Kyle Pope, the band received an excellent rating in the UIL contest held at Maverick Stadium. At midterm the band was sorry to see their assistant band director Mr. Jon Stutler resign to enter the business world. The band carried on under the direction of Ms. Barbara Ecabert.

Band students earn 1st division at Lake Charles

Finishing out the football season, the marching band entered the concert season.

The band was dismayed at the beginning of the second semester to see the assistant director, Mr. Jon Stutler, leave; but they continued in full spirit.

Throughout the year band members held many different activities to raise money for their trip to Louisiana. In February, the band held a chili supper. They also had a rummage sale and a car wash. Band members sold fruit cakes during December.

At the end of April and the beginning of May, the AHS Band joined the orchestra and traveled to Lake Charles, Louisiana for the Contraband Days. The band received a I in contest there.

Drill Team performs for students at pep rallies

After spending a good bit of the summer preparing, members of the Colt Kickers took to the football field during halftime early in September and wowed the crowd. Each morning, prior to the game, the girls strutted their stuff during Colt pep rallies.

Helping make their appearances near perfect was the experience they gained during the summer when they attended drill team camp at Kilgore Junior College, home of the famed Rangerettes. The Kickers brought home a first division rating in the Military Division.

Theresa Edmonson, Tammie Stewart, Julie Jones, Debbie Eaton, and Alicia Stone received recognition as outstanding dancers. Officers also attended camp at SMU.

After football season ended, the Kickers continued to entertain with their routines and high kicks; however this time it was at basketball games. The team climaxed their year with a banquet in May when they announced new officers and several awards before a slide show of the year's events was shown.

The French Club, led by president Wendy Miles; vice president Donna Harwell; secretary Alicia Stone; treasurer Nancy Norris; ambassadors Jackie Mance and Shelia Singh, and counselors Rene Matsler, Jeff Cannon and Tatiana Alkhazaschvily, had a French Pastry Booth at the Colt County Fair. French Club members created their own pastries and received donations from local bakeries.

The German Club held many activities throughout the year and participated in German Day at the State Fair, Oktoberfest in Ft. Worth, Novemberfest student competition at Paschal High School, and visited German restaurants in Ft. Worth and Dallas.

German Club officers were Walter Evans, president; Mark Joeckel, vice president; and Jenny Mann, secretary-treasurer.

Led by president Kris Martin; vice president Scott Thompson; and secretary Tatiana Alkhazaschvily, the Spanish Club attempted as did the other language clubs, to achieve a better knowledge and understanding of the life of a foreign culture and the people in that culture. The club had a very successful booth at the Colt County Fair where they served typical Spanish and Mexican foods.

The Spanish I Club, led by president Vinny Lecca; vice president Barbara Williams; and secretary Mary Beth Thompkins hosted dinners, went Christmas carolling, worked at Six Flags to raise funds, and held Spanish folk dancing classes.

Mary Foley, president; Patricia Pacillio, vice president; and Heather Foster, secretary; were the officers of the Latin Club. This group held a fruit booth at the Homecoming breakfast and had Christmas and toga parties.

AFS welcomes Robert to AHS

Imagine yourself attending a high school in another country. Maybe you don't speak the language at all or not very well. You don't know anyone else there. Robert Schult came from Costa Rica to live in Arlington as a foreign exchange student with the American Field Service, the international student exchange.

AFS, led by president Mike Palmer, vice-president Greg Barry, and secretary/treasurer, Wendy Miles, tried to help Robert adjust to his new home. AFS hosted a fall welcome party and a spring farewell party for Robert. Besides visiting foreign restaurants, they held a coin toss at the Colt County Fair to raise money for the next exchange student. "This is a big experience for me," Robert stated. ## Group earns money at fair

In order to promote a common interest in art, the AHS Art Club sponsored several activities this past year. Along with sponsors Mrs. Betty Cantwell and Mrs. Roni Brittain, President Kathy Singletary, Vice President Mike Kegley, Secretary/Treasurer Lauri Lindley, and Historian Danny Bindel, the Art Club sold Colt jewelry, printed football ribbons, and held an art sale.

In addition, the club printed t-shirts, did the posters for "Paint Your Wagon," and took a field trip to East Texas State University to take art courses. The club also participated in the Colt County Fair by having a special "funny photo" booth and by having a "guess the amount" contest with jars of jellybeans and M&M's.

Staff produces Colt new look

"Paste-up, Wednesday — 3:30!" shouts the fearless editor to the responsive staff. As that dreaded time approaches, the staff files into the omniscient J-room to finish production on THE COLT, one of the oldest and finest traditions of Arlington High School.

THE COLT staff began work on the paper in June when they attended a re-design session at the University of Texas at Austin. Being one of only 13 schools asked to attend, John Uribe, editor, and Kirsten Dietz, feature editor, gave THE COLT a face lift. With the new look, THE COLT informed the students on AHS events, features, human interest stories, and current events, followed all the Colt team activities; and voiced students' opinions through Letters to the Editor and Viewpoints.

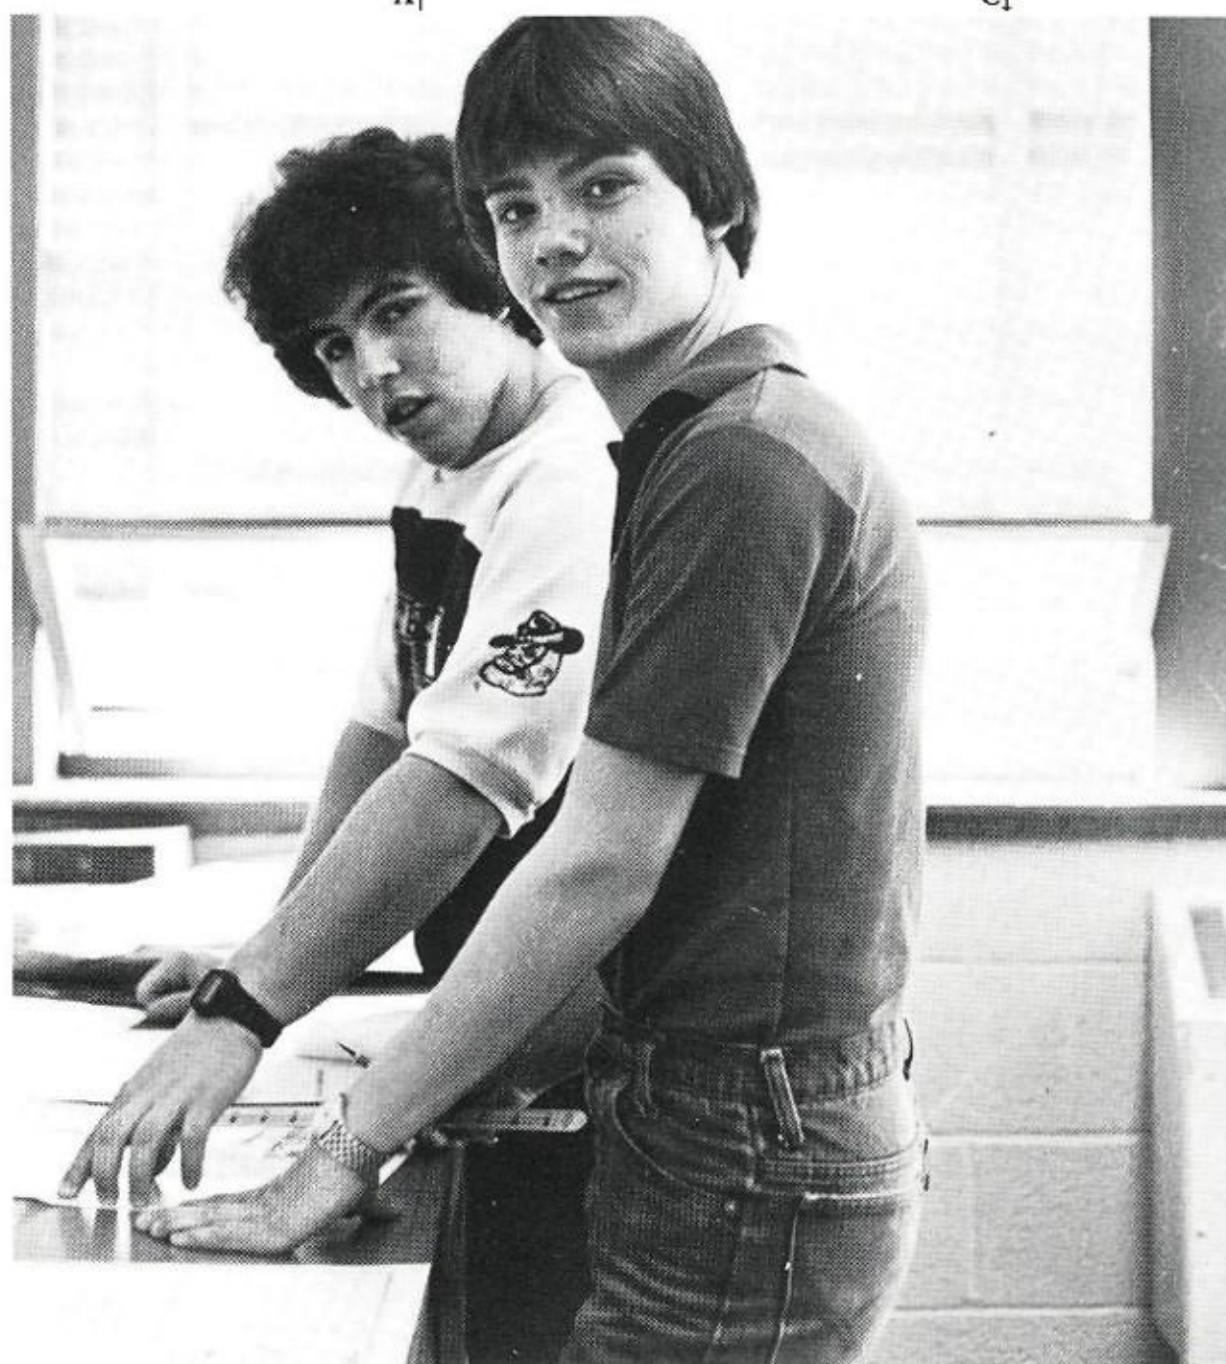

The staff participated in the Texas Association of Journalism Directors Convention held at the Americana Hotel in October. In the TAJD write-off contests, Kirsten took third in Feature Writing, and Scott Moffet, editorial editor, received an Honorable Mention in Editorial Writing. They also attended the Dallas Times Herald Journalism Day in Dallas.

Besides John, Kirsten, and Scott, the staff was comprised of Alicia Stone, managing editor, Freddie Loeber, sports editor, Kevin Weaver, opinions editor and sports writer, and Gray Matlock, sports writer. Though the staff was quite a bit smaller than previous years, Mrs. Phyllis "Teach" Forehand, felt that "they worked well together and produced a fine paper, for their size."

Hardwork, understanding, and cooperation attributed to the production of the annual. In September members of the annual staff went on a tour through Taylor Publishing Company, the yearbook publisher. That helped prepare the group for creating the annual. Staffers also attended the TAJD convention at the Americana Hotel in October.

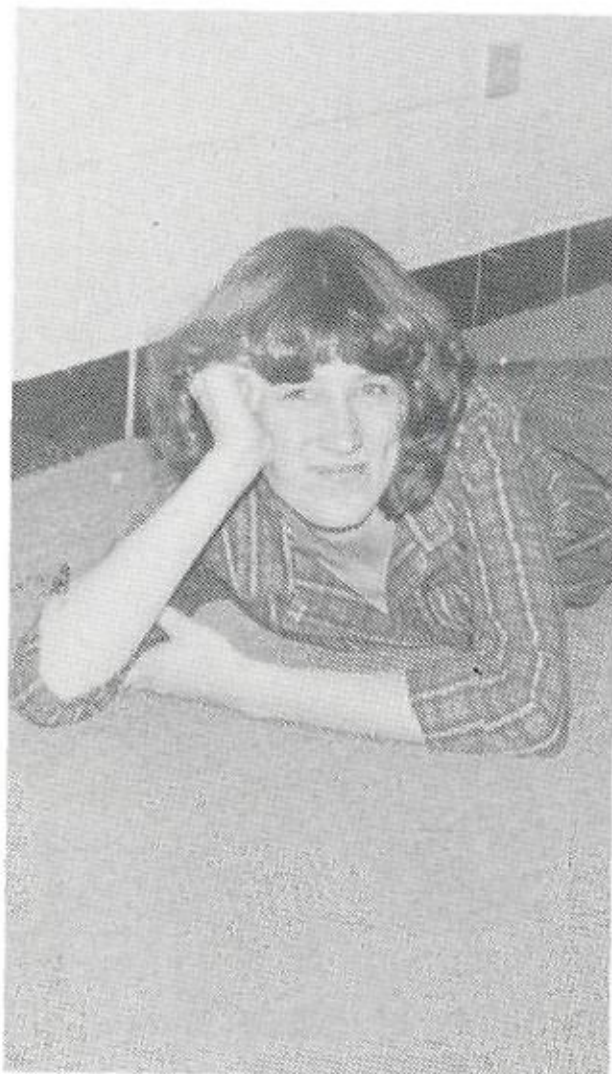

Amid the work, there was often time for play. The staffers loved to party. They went on picnics, and every birthday and completed deadline was celebrated.

Posing as editor for the year was Wendy Miles. Activities were run by Ann Loynachan and Jeanine Drake. Organizations were planned by Darci Paredes and Cheryl Oldham. Joel Patterson stood as faculty editor and Darryl Eng worked on honors and the cover. Karyn Young was business manager and Susan Garth, Robbin Shawn, and Stacy Knight worked with classes. Kristen Keilstrup worked on the index. Sports copy writer was Kevin Weaver and sports editors were Susan Moore and Jeff Caffey. Copy editor was Tara Clawson.

Staff captures school events

Capturing the '81-'82 year at AHS on film was the job of the photo journalism staff. From choir to football and dinners to band concerts, a photographer could be seen somewhere in the crowd. ## Banquet awards top journalists

Quill & Scroll, the journalism honor society, found time after meeting deadlines to relax at parties and picnics.

AHS members joined with journalists from the other three high schools for their annual Quill & Scroll back-to-school picnic at Vandergriff Park. Then in their own territory, junior and senior members hosted an ice cream party at Howard Moore Park to meet new staffers and J-1 Babies.

Around Christmas, secrets were abundant as Q&S members began pixieing. A pixie party at Joel Patterson's house gave everyone a chance to find out who his pixie was.

In competition, the journalists fared well at two conventions. At the Texas Association of Journalism Directors convention in Ft. Worth, Colt Corral Editor Wendy Miles took first place in the yearbook copy write-off contest, while Kirsten Dietz took third in Feature Writing; and Scott Moffett earned an honorable mention in Editorial Writing.

Interact, YGC provide service

The Youth Guidance Council and the Interact Club were organized for students who were interested in helping and providing services for others. Both clubs worked for the betterment of their community. YGC was responsible for all prayers given at football games and sponsored tutoring for students needing help. They also collected all sorts of goods for the Paris tornado victims. Interact provided services for the community. They hosted a Christmas party at Watson's Nursing home and made tray favors for Meals on Wheels.

Winning first place in the Senior Audio-visual contest at district, the Library Club worked together to maintain a smoothly-functioning learning resource center for all students and teachers.

The AHS Library Club sponsored by Mrs. Pat Moses, participated in many activities this year. They had a putt-putt/pizza party and a Christmas party. The students attended the District Conference of the Teen-Age Library Association in Everman, and worked as boosters at Six Flags for two weekends. For Christmas the club donated $75 to "Arlington Senior Citizens Home-Delivered Meals."

Chancery Club . . . Cosmetology . . . Para-Med . . . Career interest clubs help students decide on jobs

To help students decide on possible job fields, Arlington High School offered several clubs to help students decide.

Three of these clubs were the Chancery, Cosmetology, and Para-Medical Clubs.

The Chancery Club was started this year by Senior Wendy Miles, who also served as president. Vice president was Joel Patterson, and Alicia Stone served as secretary. Stated founder Wendy, "we got off to a slow start, but I feel that we accomplished something."

Cosmetology Club members went to district competition in Ft. Worth, where they carried away several awards. They also sold cubic key rings and headbands at the Colt County Fair.

Officers were Kristen Krotz, president; Tammy Baker, vice president; Kristi Taylor, treasurer; Michelle Santerre, reporter; Mary Kay Alton, Sergeant-at-Arms; Karri Scott, historian; Janice Phillips, secretary; and Vicki Johnson, parliamentarian.

Para-Medical Club was for students interested in the medical field. They heard talks by Dr. Ewing Cooley, a psychologist, and Veterinarian, Dr. R. M. Sanders. Para-Med members had a games booth at the Colt County Fair. They also sold popcorn jars, salt shakers, and Para-Med T-shirts. ## Club activities range from fundraising to parties

Students enrolled in homemaking, agriculture, or aerospace courses were offered an opportunity to get to know one another better through club activities.

Future Homemakers of America, provided extra training and extra curricular activities in the field of home economics.

During the fall FHA held a covered dish dinner and a pizza party.

The annual Senior Citizens Dance was held at AHS and decorations were provided by the Arlington High FHA.

The Arlington Future Farmers of America strove for agricultural education of the public, training leadership through parliamentary procedure, practice in public speaking, and recreational activities for its members.

Sponsored by Mr. Kevin Hamilton and Mr. J. W. Brown, FFA officers included Rusty Phillips, president; Kenny Hughes, vice president; Dale Latham, treasurer; Larie Williams, reporter; Ty Vaughn, sentinel; Phil Harvey, student advisor; Ken Hubbard, parliamentarian; Jeff Hutchison, chaplain; and Steve Perkins, historian.

FFAers participated in the State Fair, Ft. Worth and Houston livestock shows, the national FFA convention and the state convention. The local chapter won the Superior Chapter Award.

ROTC members had a busy year entering drill competition, going on field trips, and being of service to the school.

ROTC members provided the color guard for PTA meetings and acted as guides during open house.

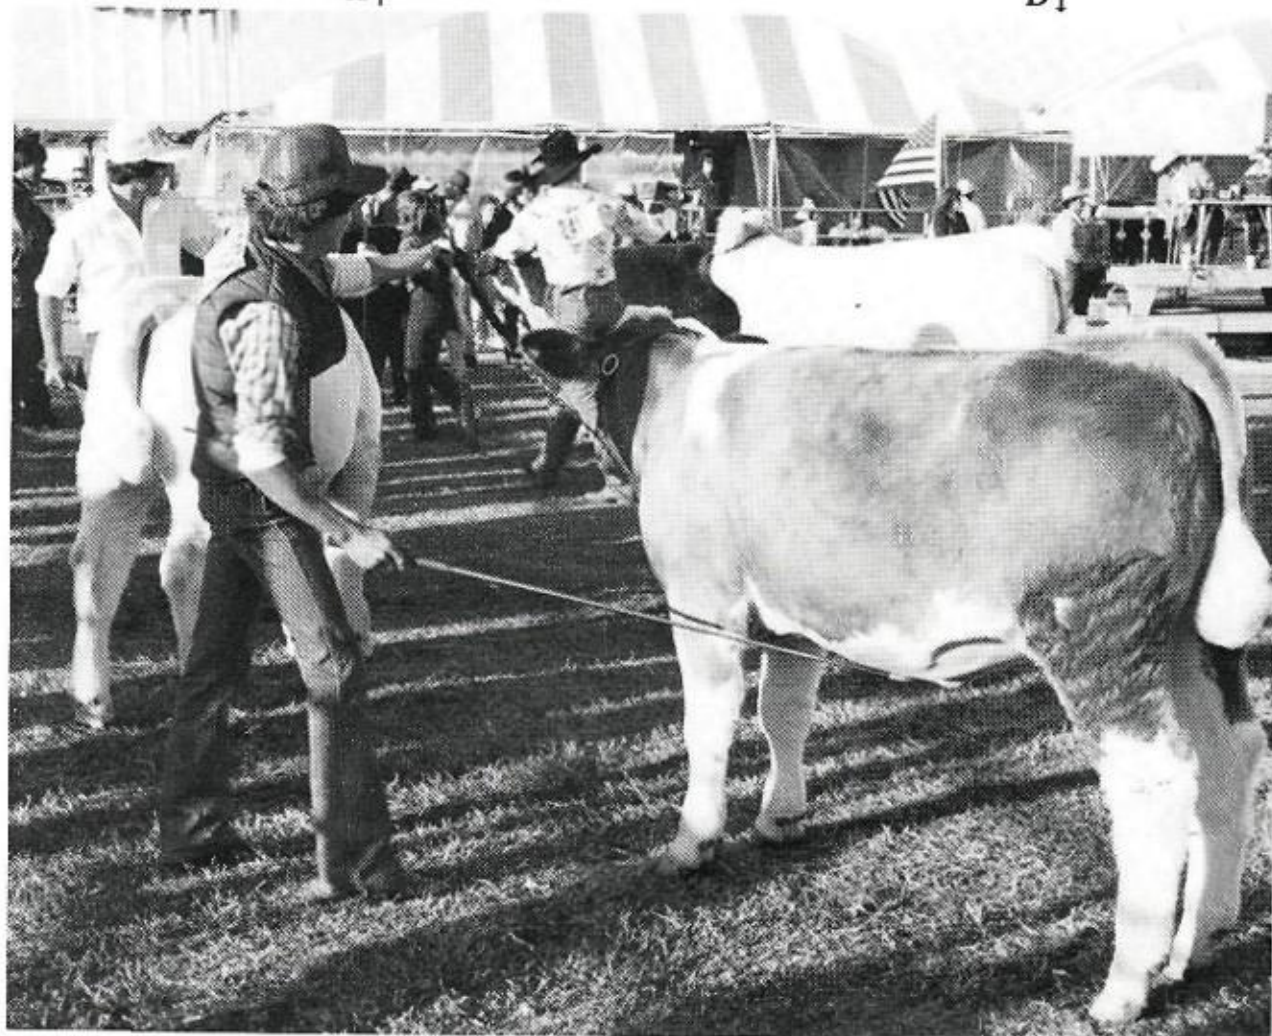

They competed in the Birdville, UTA, and Judson Drill competitions.

The group was led by Captain George Williams, commander; and Second Lt. Rhonda Coates, executive officer.

Students find activities through school program

Along with the hard work that comes with the vocational education program at AHS, students still found time for fun club activities. Health Occupations Student Association (HOSA), Distributive Education Club (DECA), Home Economics Cooperative Education (HECE) each kept their members busy.

HOSA participated in both area and state competitions, walking away with numerous awards. Placing in state were Debbie Loazna, Suzanne Barrett, Laurel Jentgen, Suzanne Rising, Robin Goode, Gretchen Polhemus, Amy Dunlap, and Doris Arbelaez.

The club also held a blood pressure screening at PTA, sold first aid kits, and Christmas candy-grams, and at the Colt County Fair they sold pizza. Suzanne Barrett and Suzanne Rising were named "Most Deserving HOE Students" at the HOE Banquet.

DECA members took part in the Glen Rose Leadership Lab as well as area, state and national contests. Bumper stickers and DECA candy bars were sold at the fair and members held the DE olympics and a car wash. Kynda Carter led the club this year along with Maureen Dillon, vice president; Lou Winchester, secretary, and Yvonne Dillon, reporter.

HECE students had their share of activities, also. Tammy White and Sandy Schwetmann both placed in the club's state convention. A garage sale was held at Traders Village in addition to a combined Halloween party with Sam Houston HECE students. The annual employer/employee banquet climaxed the year.

Leadership develops through participation program

Striving to develop leadership abilities through participation in education, vocational, civic, recreational and social activities, Office Education Association (OEA) and Coordinated Vocational Academic Education, CVAE participated in many activities this year.

OEA members, led by president Mike Smith, attended the OEA Leadership Conference in Denton and the Area I West Region Leadership Conference. The club also planned breakfasts and had a large Christmas project for needy families.

CVAE participated in the area and state leadership workshops, area and state contests, and many social activities such as collecting paperback books for veterans and having a Thanksgiving dinner for a needy family.

Awards received by CVAE members went to Anita Wilson, who was elected Area State Representative and state treasurer for VOCT and to Teri Arnold who was elected to represent Area II at Wimberly for a workshop.

Called by Coach Mike O'Brien "a great group of players, who were committed to becoming district champs," the 1981 Colt football team proved what they were made of as they captured the 8-5A district crown, and in doing so, finished with an impressive overall record of 8-2 and district tally of 5-1.

Coach O'Brien, along with his skilled assistants, were determined to turn the team into a contender after a disappointing 3-3 district finish in the '80 season.

The team started off the season with a 20-0 pounding of Arlington Heights. The Colts then travelled to Fort Worth's Clark Stadium, where, led by junior Pat Woodruff, the squad fought their way to a 14-7 victory over Eastern Hills.

The third victory came when the Tigers from Irving travelled to Cravens Field, where the Colts easily handed them a 24-6 beating.

Known as one of the best teams in the state, the Lewisville Farmers were the opponents in the Colts' pre-season finale. After battling the Farmers through the first half and taking a 15-14 lead into half-time, the Colts fell when Lewisville scored what was to be the winning touchdown early in the third quarter. When the gun sounded, the scoreboard read Lewisville 20, Colts 15, and gave the Colts their first loss.

New UTA stadium hosts Colt victory over Sam

Cross-town rival, Sam Houston, implanted new tradition for the Colts when they played their district opener on UTA's new Maverick stadium.

The AHS team adapted to the new surrounding very quickly as the Colt defense led the team to a slashing 18-6 victory over the Texans. Offensive starts of the win were seniors Jeff Lawson and Steve Johnson who connected for two touchdowns.

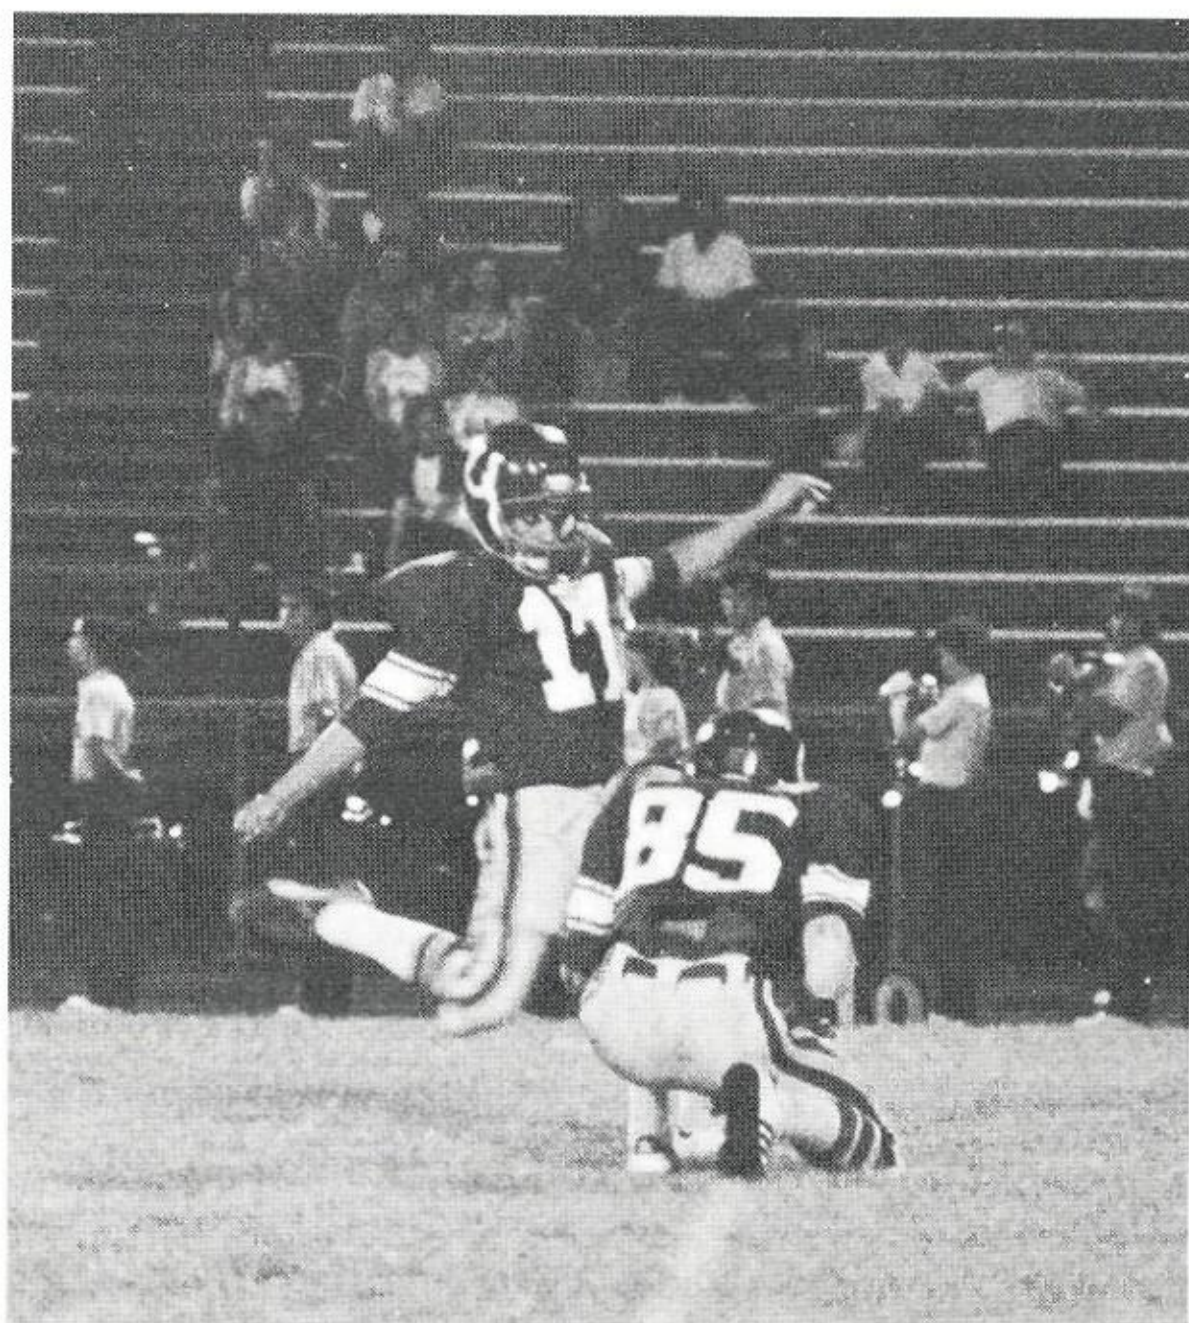

The "big night," Homecoming, was next as the Colts faced the foes from Burleson. Excellent showings from both the offense and defense proved to be too much for the Elks as they were shut out by an overwhelming score of 38-0.

The Homecoming victory was highlighted by a fantastic performance from Lawson who carried for 106 yards and threw for 57 more.

After a week layoff, the well rested Colt team travelled to Birdville Stadium to meet a tough squad from Haltom.

Senior Jack Dombroski set up the first Colt score by recovering a Buffalo fumble. The recovery was soon followed by a Bruce Kunz one-yard run. The momentum soon changed as the Buffaloes took the lead in the third quarter and it remained that way until tailback Mark Rhodes rambled over for the winning touchdown with only 40 seconds remaining. The defense held and in doing so gave the Colts a 3-0 district lead into the second half of play.

The excitement ended after the Haltom game as the Colts took on a very confident Bowie Volunteer team. Due to the rainy conditions, the game was all defense as the Colts held the Vols to a total of only 97 yards. The Vol defensive effort was almost as impressive as it held the Colts to a nonexistent passing attack and to a minimal running game.

The only score of the game came when middle linebacker Paul Frye picked off a Troy Clanton pass and dashed 49 yards for the lone touchdown.

Apparently some of the Colt players must not have heard Coach O'Brien tell them "don't take the Rebels lightly" even though the Richland team was having a disappointing season, as the Colts were blown out by a dismal score of 29-0.

The loss put the Colts out of the tie for first in district 8-5A with rival Lamar, but the loss made possible a district showdown with the Vikes for the crown the ensuing Friday.

(A) Sidestepping Jeff Lawson's block, junior Pat Woodruff heads for the goal line.

The showdown was set, Arlington against arch-rival Lamar for the 8-5A crown.

A packed house at Cravens Field cheered the Colts on to a 31-6 victory and a title which had eluded them for several years.

The Colts took command from the beginning as the offense, led by seniors Jeff Lawson, Bruce Kunz, and Mark Rhodes tallied over 400 yards. The defense, which was highlighted with excellent performances by Captains Mike Sulzen and Mike Foster, held the "awesome" defense of the Vikes to a disgraceful 33 yards on the night.

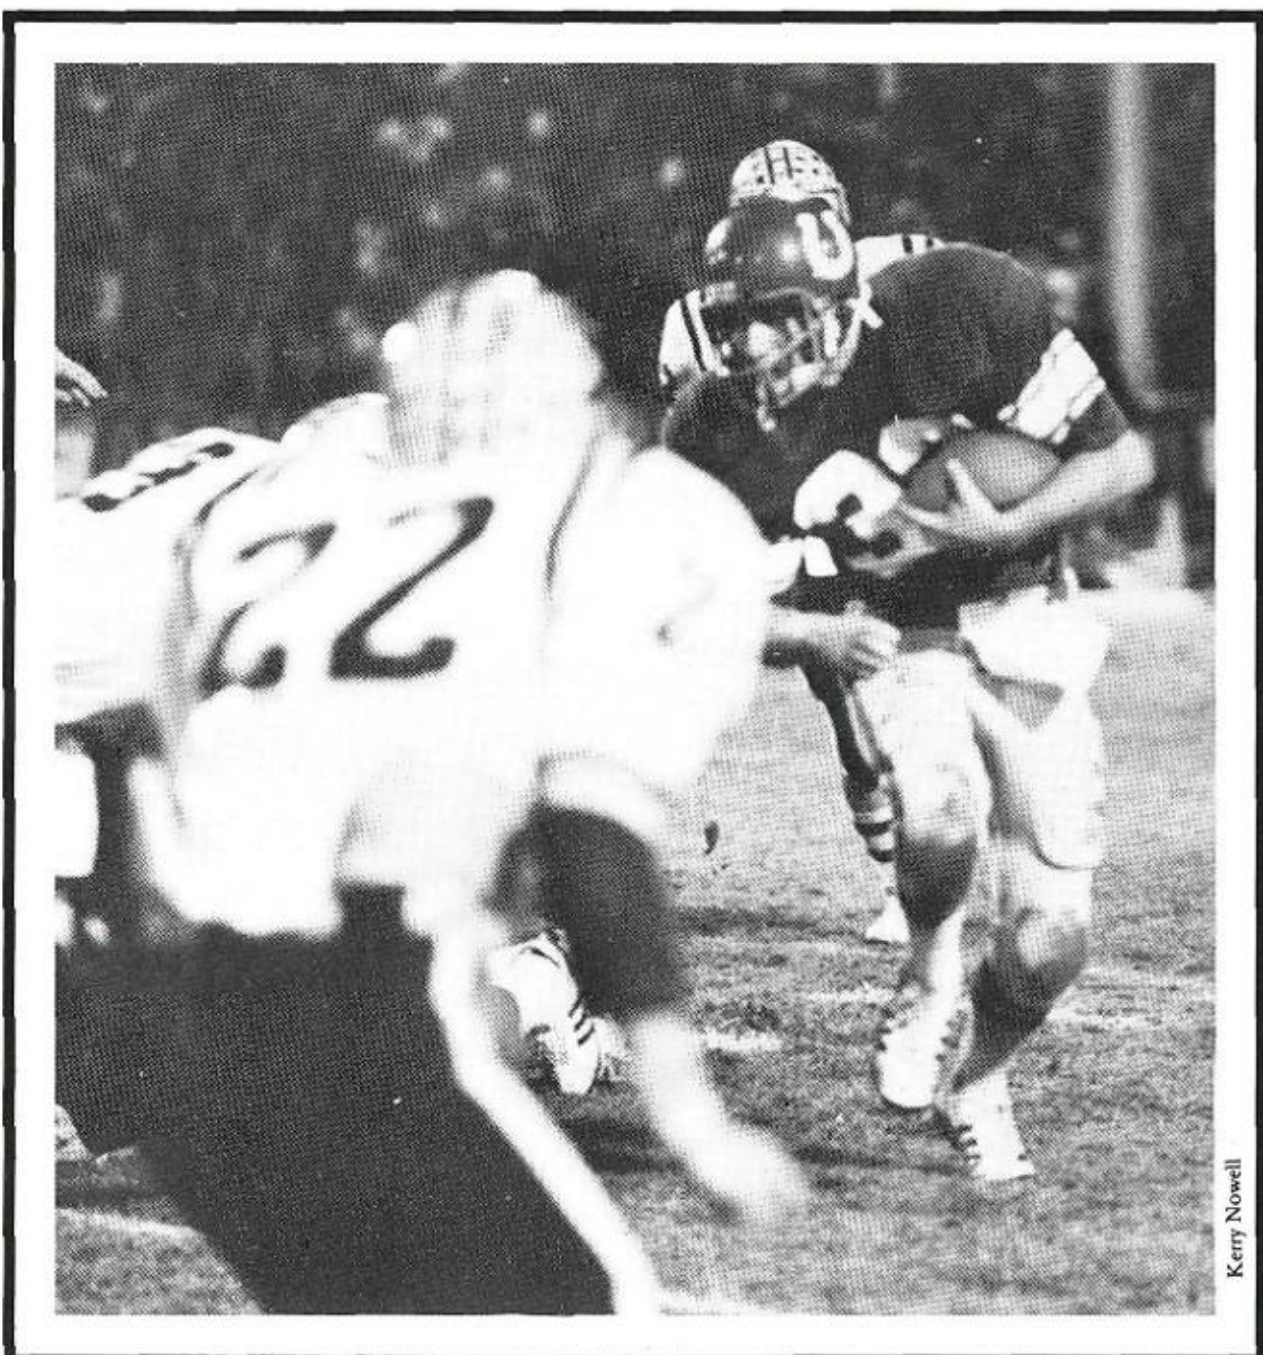

The AHS offense, which had been "sleeping" in previous weeks woke up, as they tore gaping holes in the Lamar defense and successfully moved the ball up and down the field. Rhodes capped off the opening drive with a 1-yard run around right end. Topping off a 73-yard drive, quarterback Lawson rambled around left end for another Colt touchdown.

Opening up the second half, Charlie Grimm added to the Colt margin with an 18-yard field goal. Kunz continued the AHS scoring with an 18-yard sprint, which was the conclusion of another 75-yard Colt drive. With only 5:42 remaining, junior fullback Robert Bloom burst through a huge hole in the line to finish the scoring.

The only bleak moment for the Colts came after an interference call on Blake Hyde which set up the only Viking score.

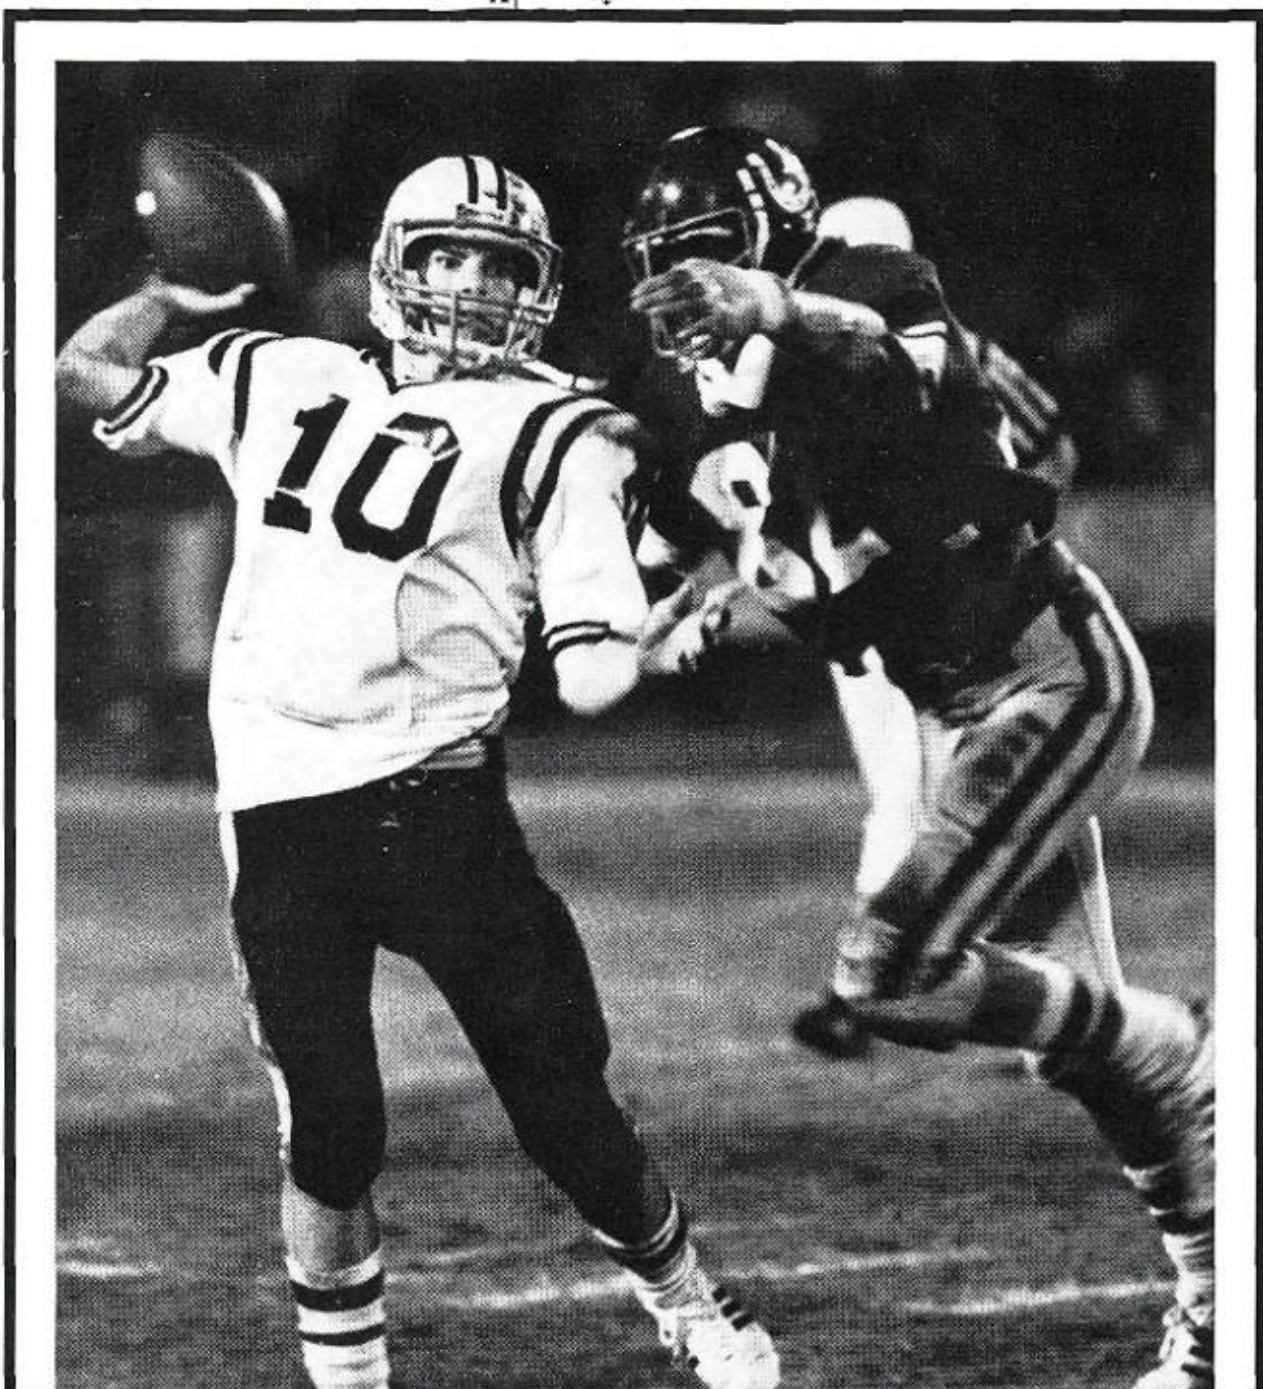

The win put the Colts into a bi-district face-off with Fort Worth's Eastern Hills.

'It's been a good season — it just ended too soon'

B| D|

The district championship was well-accepted and the excitement soon began to build for the bi-district game against Eastern Hills.

The game proved to be the last for the Colts as the boys in blue and grey defeated AHS by a score of 34-27.

"We had them stopped," stated Coach Mike O'Brien but they made the big play and we didn't, that was the difference."

The ground game, as it had done all year, performed excellently as the team pounded out 309 yards. The majority of the yardage came from the workhorses of Bruce Kunz, who gained 176, and Mark Rhodes, who finished with a 116.

The Colts opened up the game with two quick touchdowns, one resulting from a Highlander special team error. Eastern Hills soon answered with a 65-yard TD bomb which closed the gap on the Colts' lead. The gap was closed even more when Hills' quarterback Vincent Spruell rambled in from 6 yards out right before half to make the margin only two points.

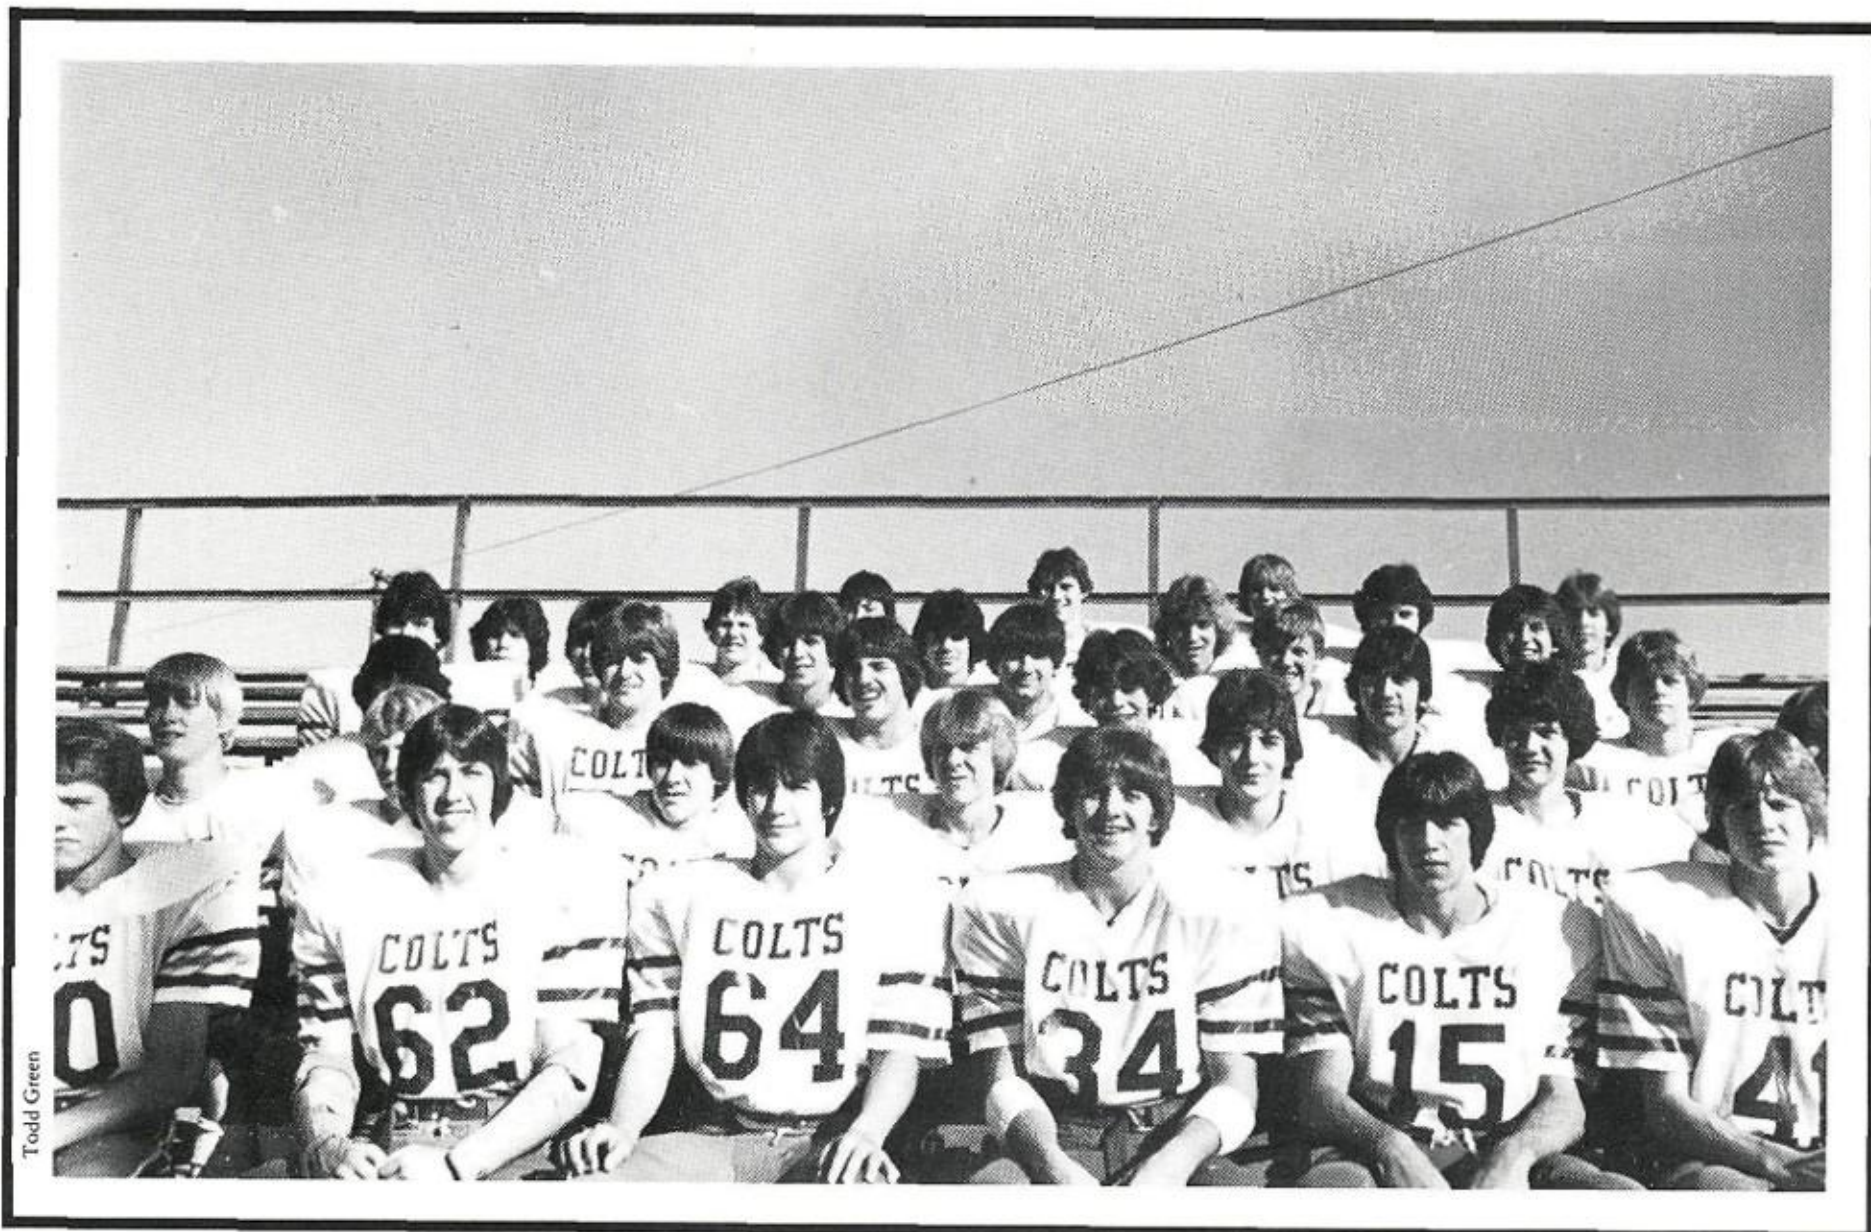

Things began to go down hill for the Colts on the opening kickoff of the second half. Hills' running back Gary Lockett ran 75 yards for the go-ahead touchdown. AHS soon answered back and re-took the lead as Kunz capped off a long drive with a 7-yard run.

After the Highlanders again took the lead with a 25-yard sprint from Spruell, the Colts made what would be their last score of the season, a 5-yard jaunt by Mark Rhodes.

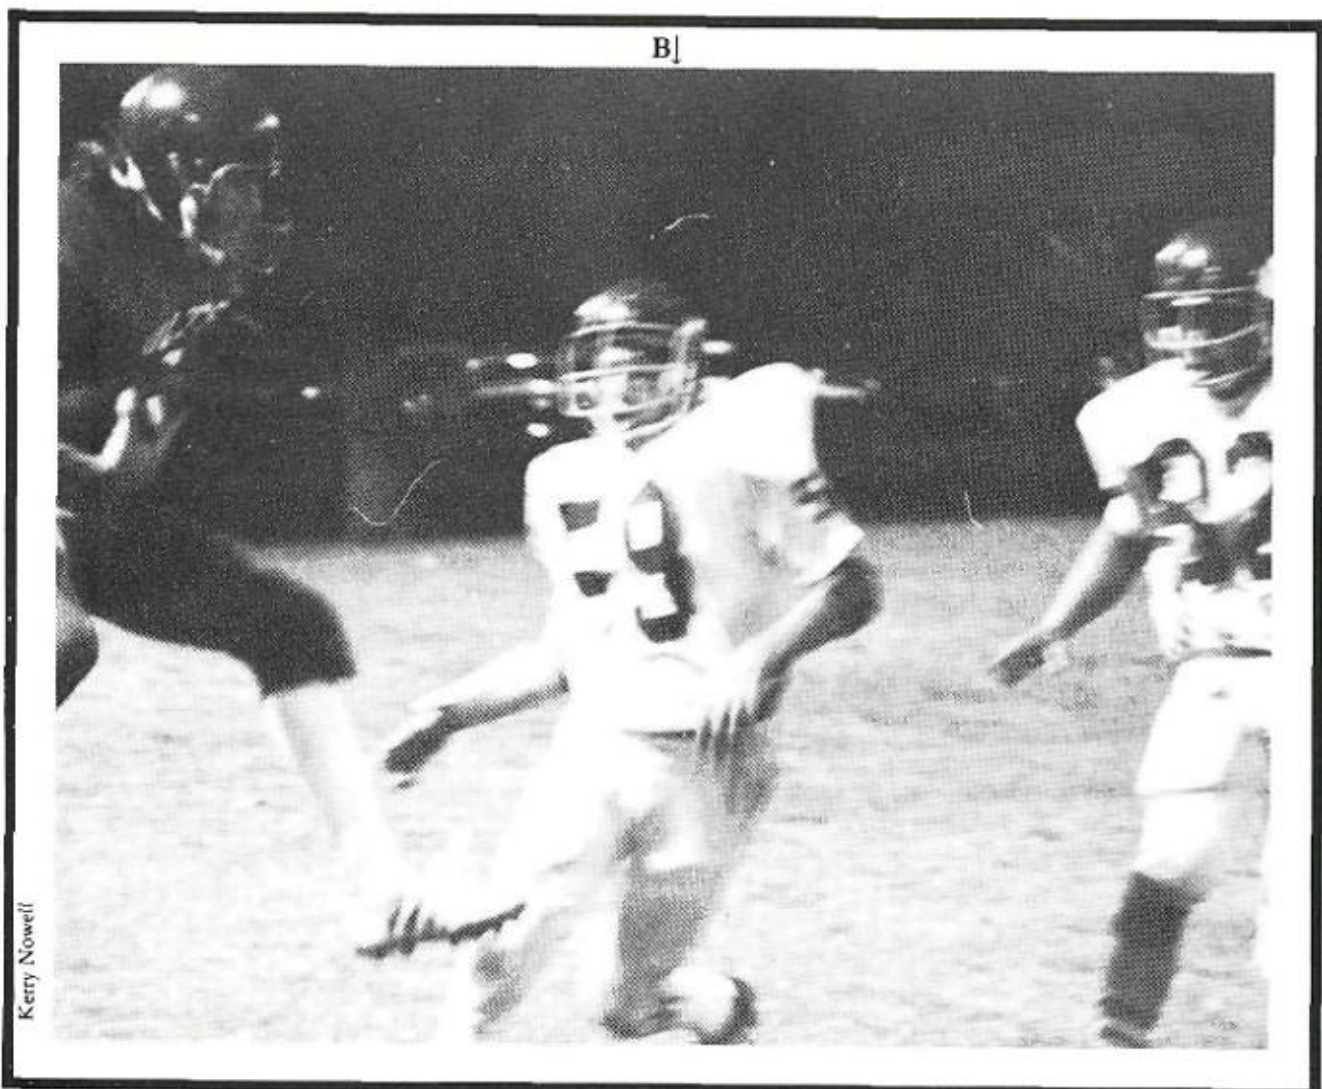

Hills still had one last drive left and they used it as they travelled from their own 38 and after an assortment of mistakes by the Colts, capped off the victory with a Jeff Atkins 3-yard sprint.

"It's been a good season — it just ended too soon" were Coach O'Brien's last words as the lights went out at Maverick Stadium on the '81 season.

JV football team caps season with two victories

The 1981 version of the JV football team was one of inexperience as the team consisted of 32 sophomores and only four juniors. The team concluded the season with a disappointing 3-7 record. The Ponies opened pre-season play with a loss at the hands of Arlington Heights. The team soon regrouped and, led by sophomores Chuck Sponslor and Scott Franks, were able to wrap up a 21-0 shutout against Eastern Hills.

The defense was overtaken in the next outing as the Ponies were beaten 20-6 by a tough team from Irving. The losses continued as the Colts fell to Lewisville and rival Sam Houston, despite the excellent showing by Franks, who ran for 190 yards and four touchdowns.

After a bitter loss to Burleson, the Colts still could not get on track as they again fell to Haltom. Another loss was taken when Bowie tacked a shutout on the Ponies, plus adding a mark by the team of eight consecutive quarters without a score.

Going into the last two games of the season Coach Lester was determined to capture victories. That determination proved to be vital, as the Ponies traveled to Birdville Stadium to face the Richland Rebels. The outcome was well accepted by Coach Lester as the JV squad shut out the Rebels by a margin of 28-0.

The Colts closed out the season against arch rival Lamar. Led by the throwing of quarterback Dean Marusak and the running of Franks, the team finished the year with an 18-0 win over the Vikings.

Colts capture first place at Birdville tournament

With the return of only one starter from the '80 season, the volleyball team was still able to add another year of volleyball excellence to the annals of Colt history.

In preparation for the '81 season, Coach Lynda Bradham entered the squad in a series of competitive tournaments.

First on the list was the Arlington Classic tournament, where a weak attack hurt the spikers. The bright spot for the team was a good defense plus the All-Tournament honors presented to co-captain Mary Viner.

The losses continued for the spikers as they traveled to Duncanville and after losing a close match to Ellison in the first round, the Colts were pitted against the reigning state champs from Big Spring. AHS fell by scores of 15-3 and 15-4.

Just like all Colt teams, the spikers soon asserted themselves and in their next outing at the Birdville tournament, the squad was faultless and captured the first place trophy. All-Tournament honors were given to Mary along with juniors Laura McDonald and Kathy Pyle.

With the conclusion of pre-season, the team moved right into district play where they repeated last year's record of 9-3.

The loss to Bowie in the opener was a tough break for the team. The Colts soon rebounded and claimed sweeping victories over Richland and Lamar. Even though in the next outing Haltom handed the spikers their second loss, they gained their composure and rattled consecutive victories over Sam Houston and Burleson.

The team finished up the first half of the district play with a record of 4-2 and a tie for second place with rival Sam Houston.

Young spikers tie for first in second half of play

Kerry Nowell

CJ

In repetition of the first half of play, the Colts fell to Bowie in a tough three-game match.

The loss motivated the girls to try harder and in their next outing they defeated a fierce Richland squad by scores of 15-9 and 15-7. The Colts were on a roll, and after decisive victories over foes from Lamar and Haltom, the team was prepared to take on district contender Sam Houston. The Colts jumped out to capture the first game, but Sam fought back in the second to tie. The team from AHS proved too powerful as they took the third game. After a victory over Burleson, the Colts captured a first place tie with Bowie for the second half of district action.

The determined efforts of the AHS team were soon recognized and as the season ended, the awards time began.

After serving as co-captain, Mary Viner was presented with All-District honors. When asked how to describe her senior season she stated, "the team was very talented and had a lot of potential." Mary felt that "there are a lot of returning juniors who will make up a strong '82 roster."

The awards didn't stop with Mary. Named to the second team were juniors Laura McDonald and Kathy Pyle.

Named to the Honorable Mention All-District squad were juniors Kathy Chapman and Sandy Faussett along with senior Diane Powell.

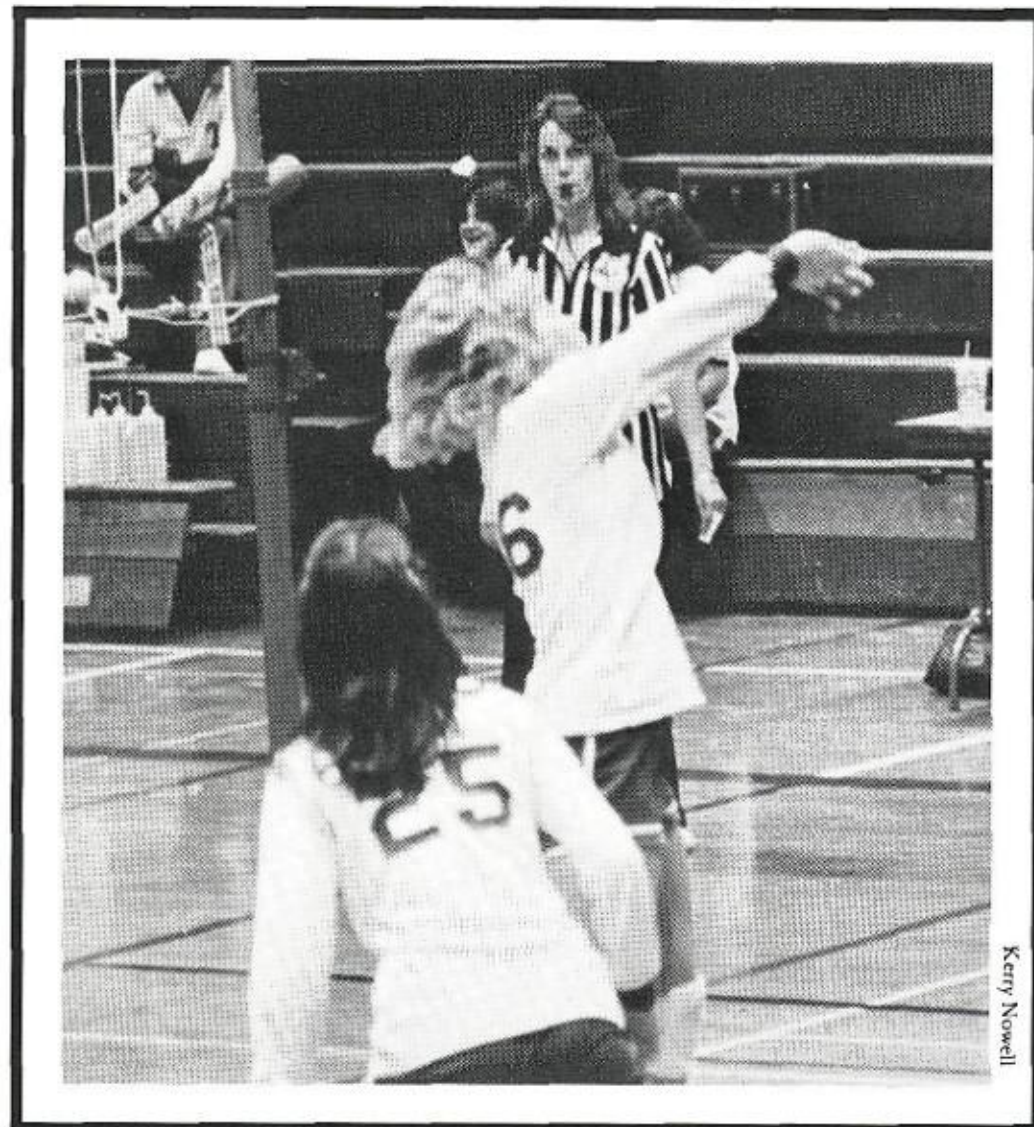

Coach Lynda Bradham was pleased with the team's outstanding performances and felt that if injuries hadn't plagued the team, they could have gone all the way.

JV volleyball coach Joni McCoy was quoted at the end of the '80 season saying "I will be starting over in the '81 season." The team started over in style as they claimed their second consecutive district title.

The team was flawless in district play and finished with a district record of 12-0 and a 27-3 season.

Under the junior leadership of Liz Kalina, Susie Faussett, and Kathleen Colby the squad participated in a tournament at R. L. Turner where they claimed third. Taking All-Tournament honors at the Richland tourney were spikers Kathleen and Susie.

Coach McCoy was well pleased with the results of the season and remarked that the season was "successful not only because of the winning record, but also because of the tremendous improvement of each player as well as the players learning how to work as a team."

In "B" team action, teamwork was the key as Coach McCoy employed the utilization of all her players in the right spots to finish up with an 8-0 district finish.

The squad played in tournaments at Plano and Grand Prairie, where Annette Powell earned All-Tourney honors and in doing so helped the team earn a spot in the district JV tournament as they recorded the best "B" team record.

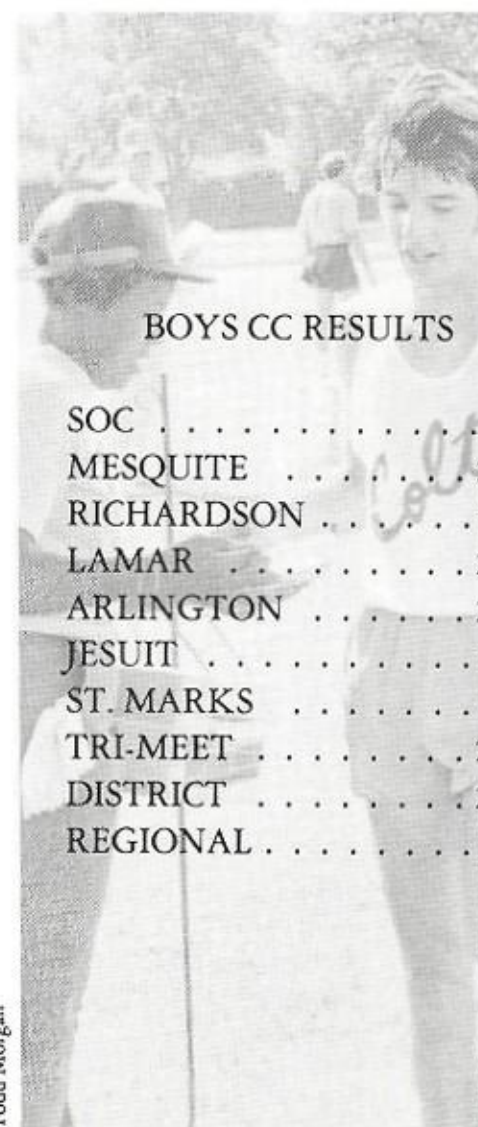

Coach McCoy stated that "good front line play by Margaret Dougherty, and Timi Greene along with consistent all-around play by Lori Pyle, Lynn Sulzen, and Jane Ford made the season successful."

Cartwright, Hill lead runners to 2nd in district

B†

A fine cross country team is a longstanding tradition at AHS. This year's team was no exception. Even though many unfortunate accidents hampered the team physically, they withstood the hardships and earned a well-respected 2nd place in the District Meet and a 5th place in the Regional Meet.

Seniors C. K. Cartwright and Jon Hill led the team with high finishes throughout the year. C.K. ran to a 1st place in district and a 2nd place in the region; thus, earning him an honored spot in the state meet. There he placed 35th out of approximately 130 of the best runners in the state.

Before being injured in a car wreck, Jon placed in every meet he participated in. In the Dallas South Oak Cliff Meet, he led all runners with a 1st place. He then raced to a 5th in the Mesquite run, 5th in the Richardson run, 9th in the Lamar run, 7th in the AHS run, and 7th in the Jesuit run.

Backing up C.K. and Jon were other outstanding performances by Mike Ashcraft, Rob Noland, Nathan Cash, and Alan Mathis. They placed 6th, 7th, 8th and 11th respectively at the District Meet.

Lady Colt thincladders win 3rd place in district

When the school year began, the girls cross country squad set their sights on performing well at the 8-5A district meet in October. With only two seniors, the task of doing well in the meet became a goal for all the ladies.

Coach Glenda Kramer was there to help the girls, as she set up a rigorous training program which helped improve many of the girl's personal times.

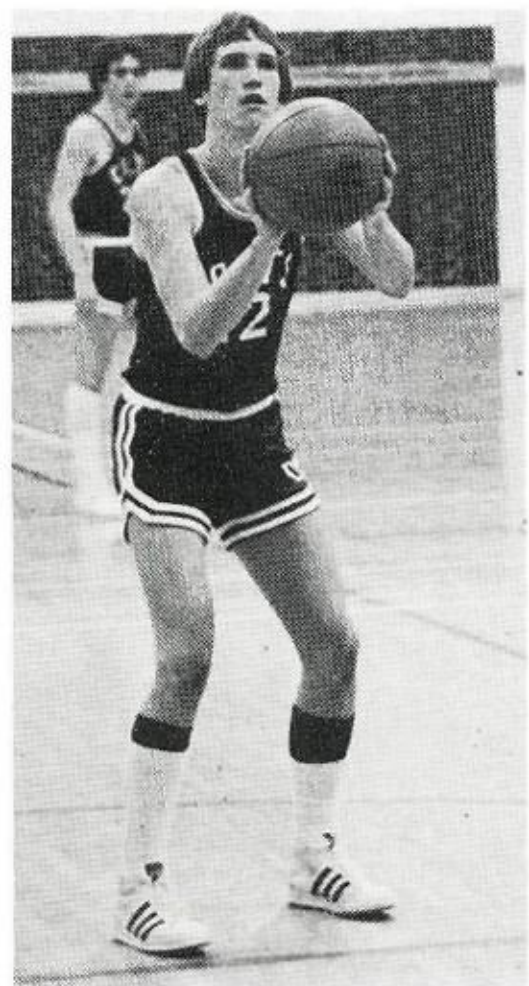

The team participated in meets throughout the metroplex, including their own Arlington meet, where the team placed fifth.

When time for the district meet rolled around, Coach Kramer's ladies were ready and, led by senior Mary Sue Kalina and junior Melissa Godsey, the lady thincladders captured a third place team finish. Some of the better finishes for the Colts included juniors Dawn Smith (16th), Susie Santarelli (18th), and Holly Masters (19th). Senior Kim Evans closed out the field as she claimed the 27th spot.

Coach Kramer will prove to be a threat in next year's district race as she will have eight returning juniors and two returning sophomores.

Although the '82 version of the boys' basketball team was not able to repeat the district championship performed by their predecessors, the team proved to be full of determination and pride as they fought hard throughout the season and concluded the year with three decisive wins which exemplified the character of the players.

With four seniors, Dan Dipert, Bob Fahey, Scott Hughes, and Russell Greer, returning from last year's team, Coach Dale Archer skillfully used the foursome to add experience and leadership to the semi-young team.

Behind the defensive play of captain Greer, the Colts were able to hold the opponents to a fairly low amount of scoring.

The team opened its pre-season play November 17 against, at that time, 11th ranked Denison Yellow-jackets. The game which was the first in the Colt's new gym, proved to be the highlight of the season as the Green Machine overtook the Yellow-jackets by an awesome score of 51-37.

Coach Archer then took his troops to nearby UTA for the Arlington Classic where the team placed well. Fahey was the only player to receive the All-Tournament award. The other tournament appearances by the team included the Big 4 Tournament where senior John Roy captured All-Tournament honors, and the Fort Worth Lion's Club Tournament.

Determination, pride lead cagers to final victories

After concluding the pre-season with losses at the hands of Cleburne and Duncanville, the Colts made final preparations and adjustments for the upcoming district play.

Behind the outside shooting of seniors Bob Fahey and Dan Dipert, the boys in green and white were able to pull off a thriller and defeated the tough Buffaloes from Haltom in the season opener.

The thrill of victory eluded the Colts for many weeks as the team was handed defeats by teams from Burleson, Richland, Bowie, and Sam Houston. The Colts finally added a mark in the win column as they proved to be too much for cross-town rival Lamar and handily defeated the Vikes 61-42.

The close of the first half of district, which left AHS with a 2-4 record, was soon copied in the opening of the second half in that the Colts could not put things together.

The road to a possible district title was soon blocked as the Colts fought hard but fell to teams from Haltom, Burleson, and Richland.

Even though the cagers were clearly out of the race for the district title, they reached inside themselves to decisively beat rivals Bowie, Sam Houston, and Lamar which boosted their district record to 5-7.

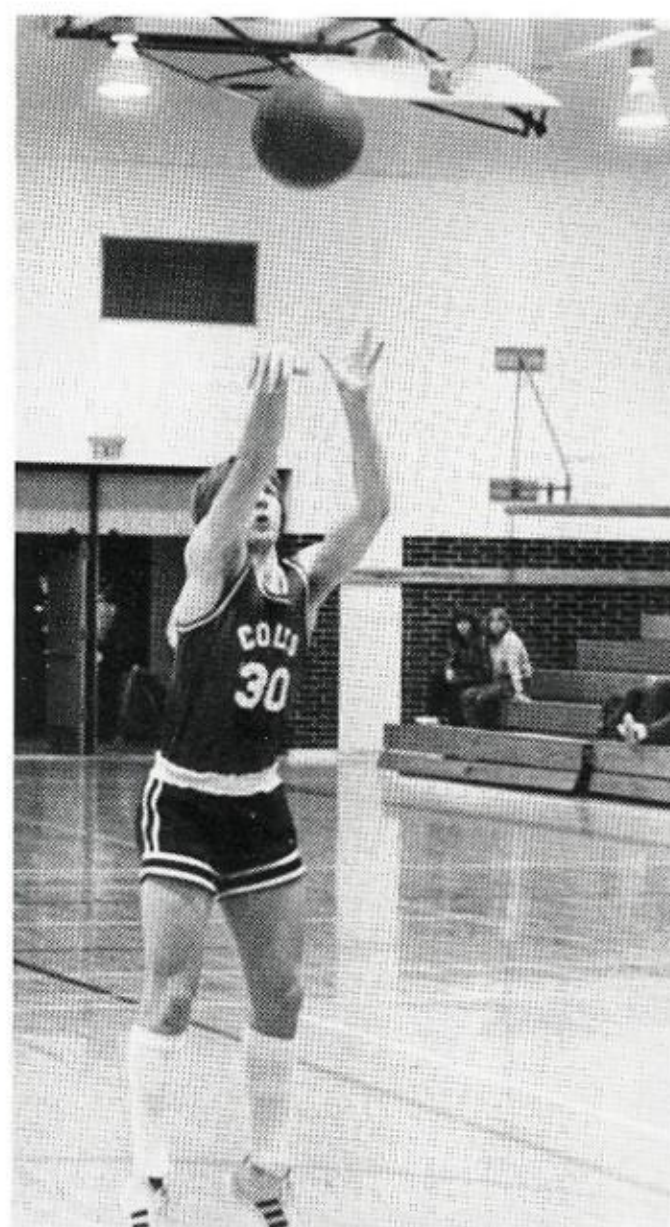

"The fact that the team finished with three decisive victories demonstrates that pride and character of the players" was Coach Archer's feelings at the conclusion of the season.

Since coming to AHS, Coach Robert Gill has produced very successful teams, and this year's JV basketball team proved to be no exception as they earned the title of district champs.

The Colts debut in the new gym proved gratifying as the team outlasted a tough Denison team and came out victorious with a 39-34 finish. Leading the scoring in the home opener was postman Steve Gomez, who had an impressive 23 points.

The young Colts exploded onto the tournament scene as they captured first place in the Mansfield tourney, the Colts beat teams from Duncanville, Irving, MacArthur, and Mansfield in the finals.

After the conclusion of pre-season play, the team dropped the district opener to a tough Haltom team. The boys in green soon rebounded and annihilated a struggling Burleson group.

Coach Gill stated that the team was not quite "fundamentally sound," and that proved to be evident as the team lost to the Rebels of Richland Hills.

Something must have happened after the Richland game because the young Colts came out in the next game and overtook an aggressive Bowie Volunteer gang. This victory would prove to be one of 10 in a row for the team.

After crushing a defenseless Sam Houston team, the Colts edged out nemesis Lamar by a score of 39-35.

The open of the second half proved to be a little scary as the Colts pulled out a "squeaker" against Haltom by a 47-46 result. After easily handling Burleson, Richland, and Bowie, the team battled a reborn Sam Houston team, who fought them to the wire, but AHS prevailed.

The Colts concluded the season with a joyous win over cross-town rival Lamar.

Cupps, Pippins, Chapman gain honors at tourneys

Last year, the girls basketball team faltered in district play because of inexperience and the maturity of the young players. This year those ladies grew up and combined to form one of the best teams to ever come out of AHS.

Coach Judy Stricklin was determined to overcome the third ranking in district which was placed upon them by their critics.

Coach Stricklin entered the team in tournaments throughout the metroplex in order for the players to sharpen their skills before the start of district play.

The Colts didn't do as well as expected in tournament competition, but they were able to place second in the Fort Worth Thanksgiving Tourney, where senior Brenda Cupps claimed All-Tournament honors. The team also competed in tournaments in Duncanville, where senior Zina Pippins received the All-Tournament statue, and their own Arlington Classic where junior Kathy Chapman took home the All-Tournament title.

Coach Stricklin stated that the tournaments provided good competition and built confidence for the players as they prepared for the district opener.

Lady Colts astound foes for 12-0 season mark

Pre-season play proved to be useful as the Lady Colts opened district play with a 64-59 win over a Bowie Vols team. At the time, the team didn't know it but this win would spark a flurry of 12 consecutive wins plus a district title for the team.

Next, the ladies faced a struggling Burleson team; where the Colts simply out-classed the Elks by an overwhelming score of 61-31.

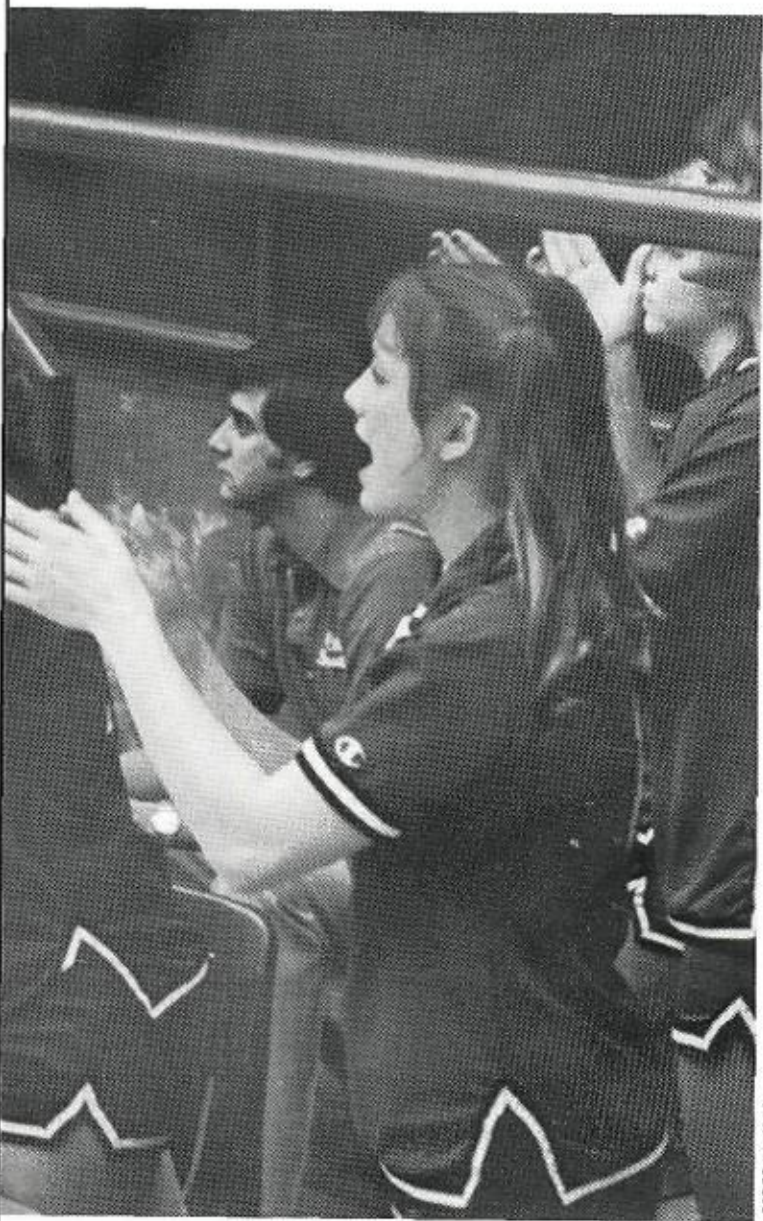

After dominating wins over crosstown rivals Sam Houston and Lamar, the Colts played host to a well-balanced Haltom squad. The cagers put on a show for the fans as they knocked Haltom off behind the scoring of seniors Brenda Cupps and Zina Pippins.

The team was on a roll as they easily demolished Richland by a margin of 65-24. Laura Abbott was a standout in the defense, while Cupps did it again pouring in the baskets. The Lady Colts would soon be faced with their toughest foe, the Bowie Vols. The Vols hosted the tilt, which proved to be an action packed game and also a victory for the Colts. The final score showed AHS 44, Bowie 43.

The Ladies hardly broke out a sweat as they overtook the sinking Burleson team 51-29. After winning a squeaker over Lamar, 42-40, the roundballers hosted Sam where they again claimed a victory.

Cager's dreams fade away at paws of Wildkittens

Susan Moore

C F

Susan Moore

The dream of winning district was fulfilled and new dreams for the Lady Colts soon appeared as the team prepared to take on the Wildkittens from Dunbar for the bi-district championship.

Even though the girls from Dunbar were considerably taller than the Colts, Coach Judy Stricklin was optimistic about the team's chances and believed the battle on the boards would decide the victory.

From the opening tip it was evident that there was a battle brewing. Each team exchanged baskets and the effort throughout the first quarter of play was extraordinary.

The Colts soon fell behind and found themselves playing catch up ball through the second quarter and closed the margin to six, 25-19, at the end of the first half.

The third quarter proved to be vital as both coaches battled strategies and tried various offenses and defenses, but the Colts were still behind.

The Wildkittens started to smell victory at the opening of the final quarter. The roundballers from AHS weren't through yet. Maybe they still had it in them for one final comeback with eight minutes remaining. The Colts began to slowly trim the margin, but the win was hampered by the inability to hit from outside. The Colts closed it to six points, four points, three points. That was the closest they could get and when the buzzer sounded, the scoreboard read, Dunbar 46, AHS 43.

When asked to describe her district championship '81-'82 team, girls basketball Coach Stricklin stated "I had nine talented players who thought 'team' instead of 'me', and that was the key to the success of the team."

Girls junior varsity basketball takes district title

Winning for the girls junior varsity basketball team is slowly becoming a tradition at AHS. Coach Glenda Kramer has put out some excellent teams in the past and the '81-'82 version was no exception.

The team led by captains Lori Eberhardt and Dee Ann Archer, swept the district field and finished tops in the district race with a 11-1 record.

The road to the district championship was not easy for the squad. The other Arlington teams such as Lamar, Bowie and Sam posed the biggest threat to the JV cagers.

One of the threats, Bowie was soon eliminated in the opener as the Colts overwhelmed the Vols by a score of 45-39. After an easy win over a struggling Burleson, a team the Colts surprisingly dominated, they eliminated another threat with a victory over the Texans from Sam Houston. The final tally showed the Colts 42, Sam 33.

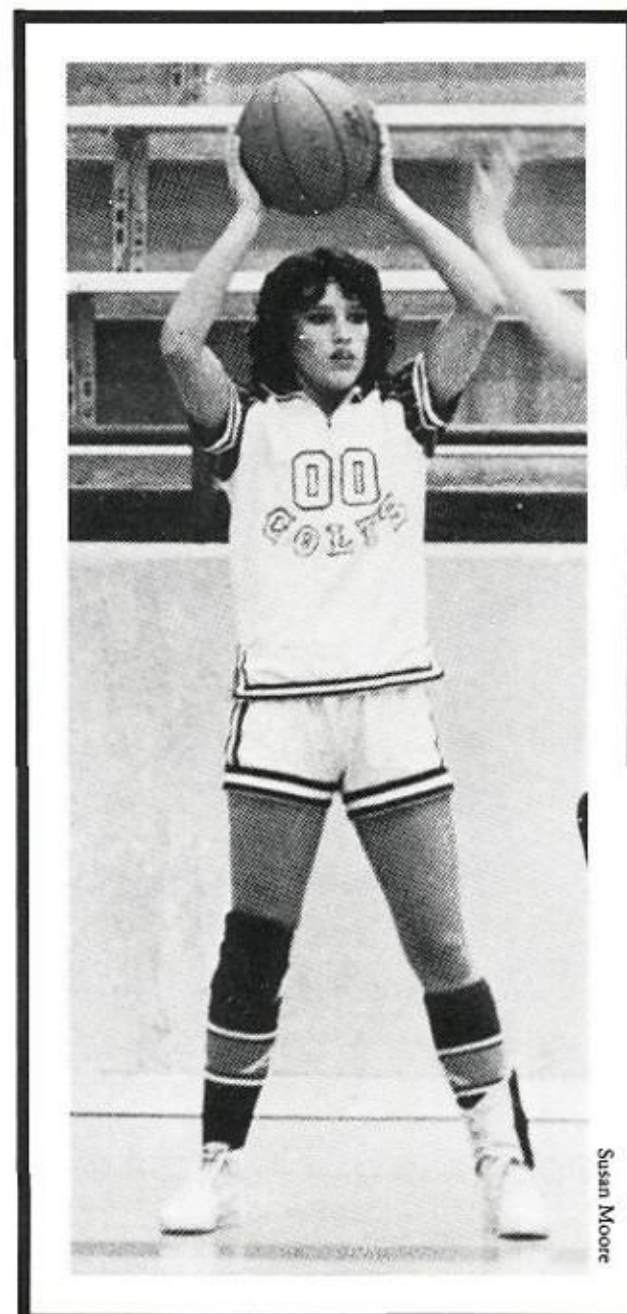

A showdown with arch-rival Lamar was next and the girls in green and white pulled out a "squeaker" as they edged the Vikes 34-30. The ladies finished out the first half of district with victories over Haltom and also over Richland, where the Colts only allowed 12 points on the night for the Rebels.

The Bowie team opened the second half of district play by handing a loss to the Colts by a score of 39-31. The team soon bounced back and trounced a hurting Burleson squad 48-24. The ladies coasted in from there as they beat the teams from Lamar, Sam, Haltom, and Richland, convincingly thus giving them the district title.

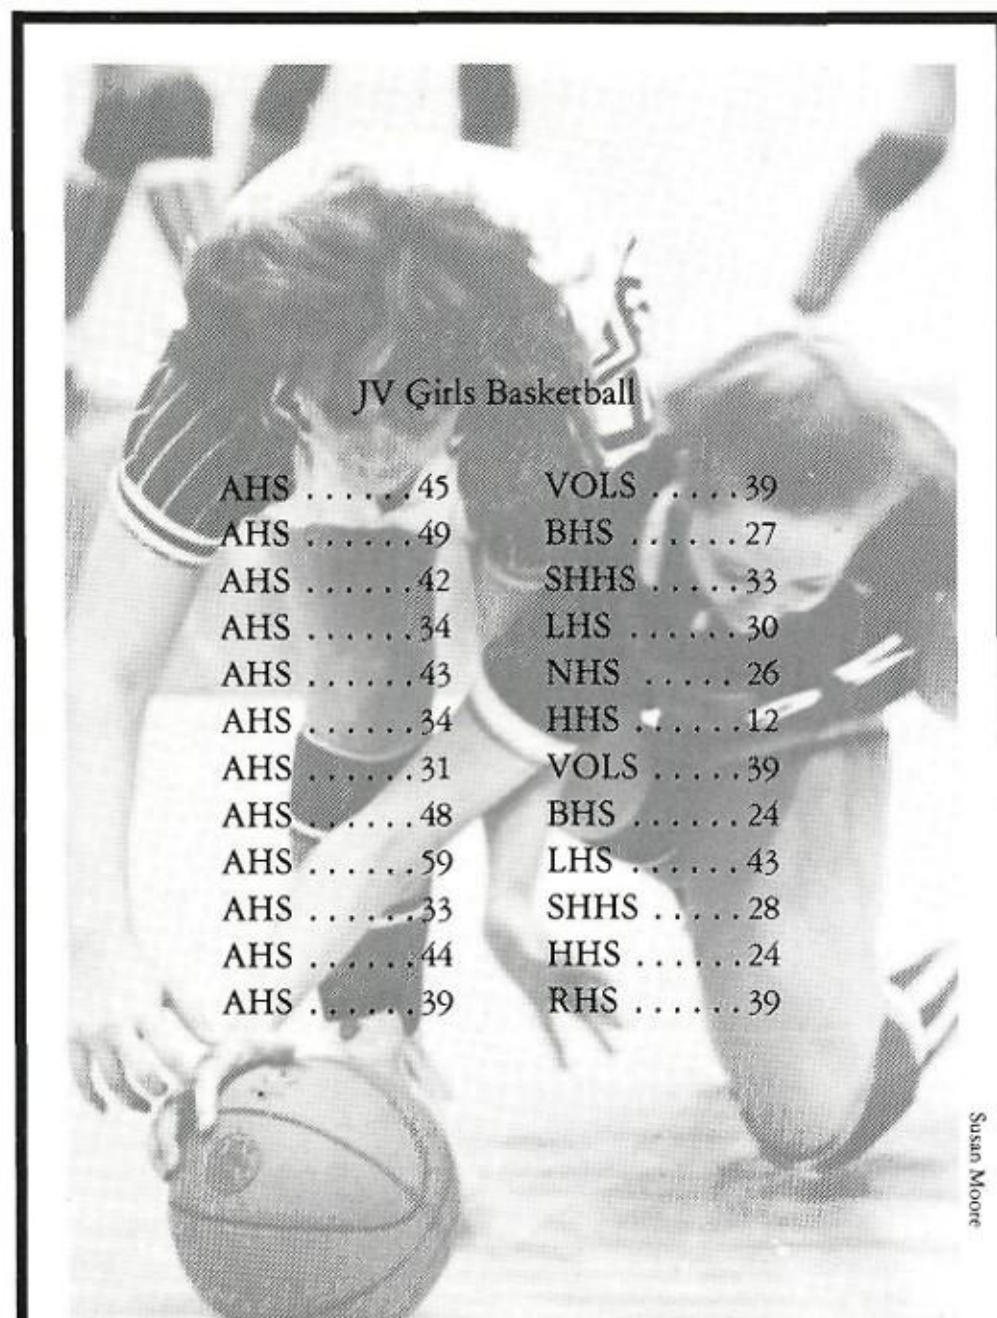

Coach Kramer stated that the players performed as a team, not as individuals, and that they improved their skills. She also claimed that many of the players will go on and be varsity champions.

Cheerleaders work hard, place well in competition

While Colt athletic teams were excelling in football and basketball this year, the Colt cheerleaders were doing the same by boosting spirit and arousing enthusiasm in the student body.

Head cheerleader Laurie Tillman was the only senior on the '81-'82 squad that consisted of juniors Connie Nuckols, Scott Cain, Linda Adams, Greg Campbell, Lori Seal, David Wiese, Jeff Burnett, Gretchen Polhemus, and Rod Hutchinson.

Junior varsity cheerleaders were headed by Dena Magazzine and included Cindy Muzyka, Connie Crawford, Sherry Felber, Joy Watson, and Laura White.

Working vigorously through the previous spring and regularly during the summer, often at 6 a.m., the cheerleaders were ready to show off their talent.

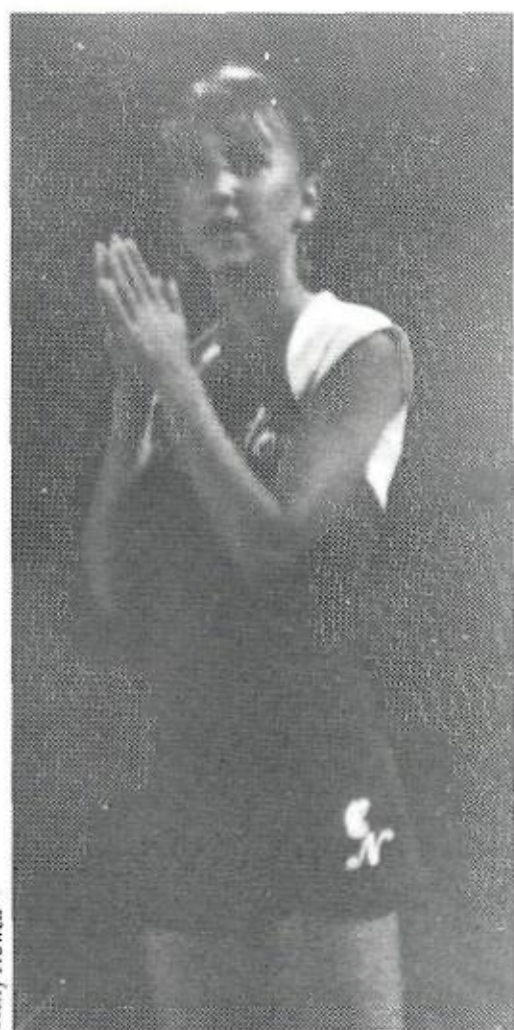

Though the Colt spirit squad was a young one, they performed like a seasoned group during the National Cheerleaders Association (NCA) cheerleading camp at SMU. Competing with 120 other schools, the cheerleaders landed a sixth place finish, won blue ribbons every night, and two spirit sticks.

Camp instructors expressed an interest in the yellmen's skills and suggested trying out for their staff the following summer. To qualify for the NCA staff, applicants must have graduated high school.

Pep rallies played a big role in raising spirit around AHS. That spirit took the Colts to a district championship. The cheerleaders gathered the student body every Friday, during fall, to get everyone hyped-up for the game that night.

Spirit leaders carried the exalted enthusiasm on into basketball season, this time sporting double duty, attending guys and girls games.

Kickers breeze to season opener win over WHHS

A]

If one word could describe the 1981-82 soccer season it would be "short." The reason for this is that soccer hasn't become an addition to the University Interscholastic League athletic system. Coach Larry Wadsworth was very relieved to find that next year soccer will finally become a UIL sport.

The fact that soccer was, for the most part, ignored as a major sport didn't stop the determination of the AHS players. Led by a senior-dominated squad, the team was able to post an impressive 6-3-1 record.

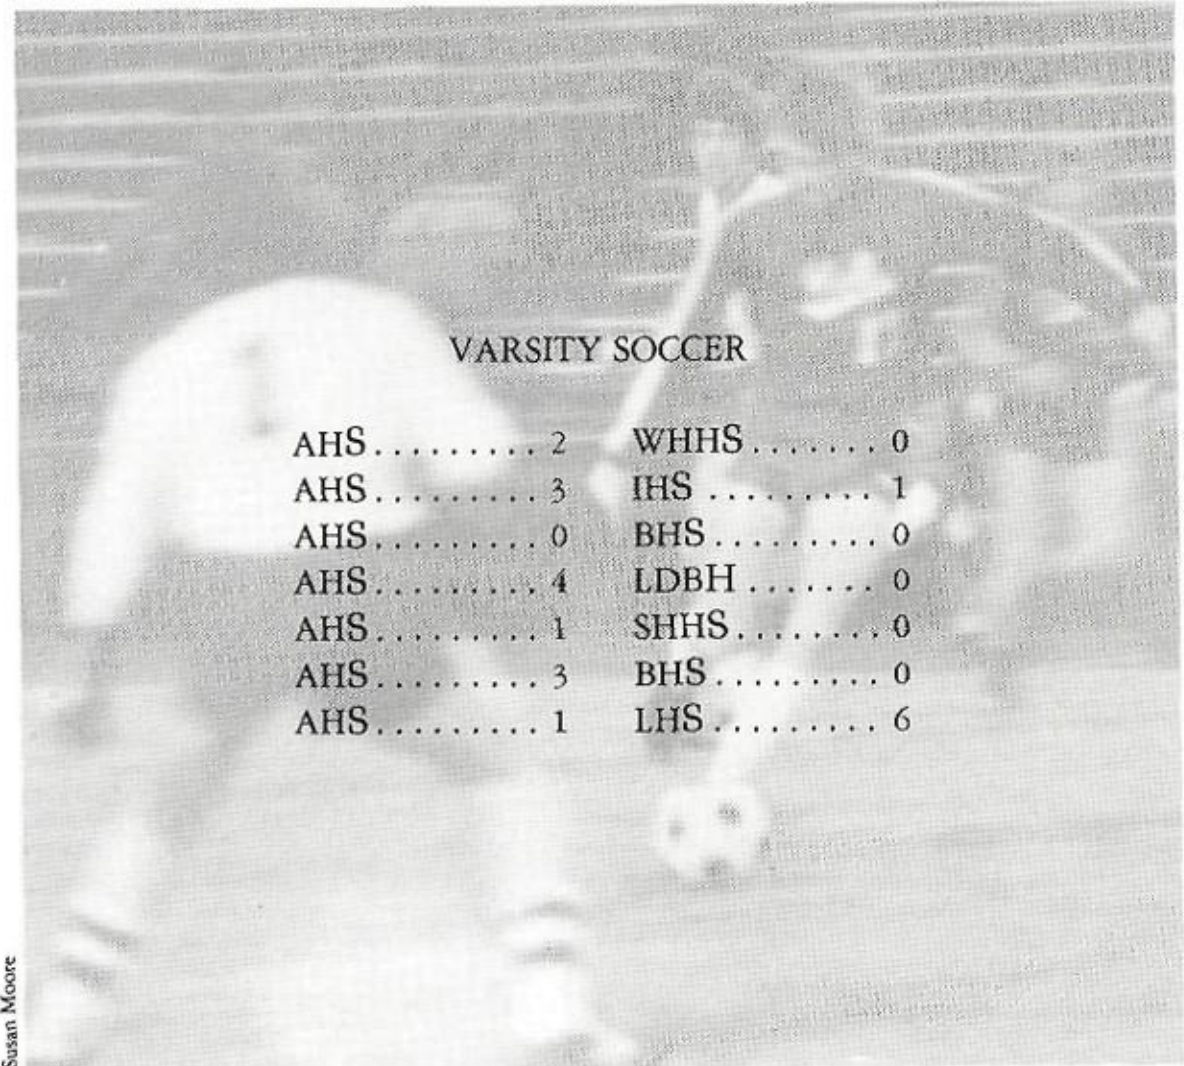

The return of many All-District players from the '80 season brought about a bright outlook for the team's chances of a district championship. The returnees were part of the squad that snapped Lamar's 32-game winning streak in last year's season finale.

Before the opening game of the season, the members of the team choose seniors Scott Morrison, John Uribe, Freddie Loeber, and Nick Shady to lead the team as their captains.

In the opener the Colts breezed to a 2-0 victory over a mediocre Western Hills squad. Led by outstanding offensive showings by seniors Mark Rhodes, Jeff Everly, and Scott Morrison, the Colts came out victorious in their next outing against the Irving Tigers by a margin of 3-1.

The Colts then returned to Irving to participate in the Irving tourney. The tournament hosted a variety of state ranked teams including that of Irving MacArthur. The team lost the opener to a tough Irving Nimitz squad but soon rebounded to annihilate a helpless Grand Prairie team 4-0. AHS then faced their toughest competition in that of Irving MacArthur.

Soccer title washes away from squad in mud, rain

The soccer team fought MacArthur tooth and nail till the Cardinals were able to squeeze in a goal in the late going. Claiming All-Tourney honors were Nick Shady and Jeff Fields. Coach Wadsworth felt "it was the team's biggest challenge yet, and I'm proud of the team's showing."

The team returned to Arlington to face a stubborn Bowie squad. Stubborn was a perfect description of the Vols as they fought the Colts to a 0-0 tie.

After days of bad weather, the Colts took on a struggling L. D. Bell team where the Colts proved to be awesome. The scoring was led by senior Richard Aikens, who had two on the night. Goalie Emmett Devlin recorded a spectacular shutout as AHS overtook the Raiders 5-0.

Another shutout would soon be recorded as Jeff Everly's lone score proved to be enough to take victory over city opponent Sam Houston.

Lets make it a hat trick as the Colts claimed yet another shutout against Bowie. The flawless defense of seniors Nick Shady and Walter Evans was more than the Vols could handle.

Shady added two goals along with senior forward John Uribe who added yet another goal. The victory proved very gratifying as it set up a district title game against arch-rival Lamar.

In the mud and rain the district title washed away from AHS as the Colts were stunned by an excellent Lamar team 6-1.

Swimmers work hard, perform excellently in meets

It started with 5 a.m. workouts at Hugh Smith Recreation Center and ended with two Colt swimmers finishing in the top ten in the state meet. This is a description of the 1981-82 version of the AHS swim team.

Coach Carl Tillery, who coached all four high school squads, took the Colts to meets throughout the metroplex. The team participated in the SMU Invitational, the Trinity Invitational, and the TISITA Invitational in Dallas.

Coach Tillery also added a variety of duel meets, against local foes as well as district rivals. The Colts dominated the duel meets, as the girls were led by seniors Nancy Stucker and Diana Stephens. Leading the boys were seniors Jay Kuhlman and sophomore Chris Smith.

With Spring came the district meet, the goal of all district swimmers to win.

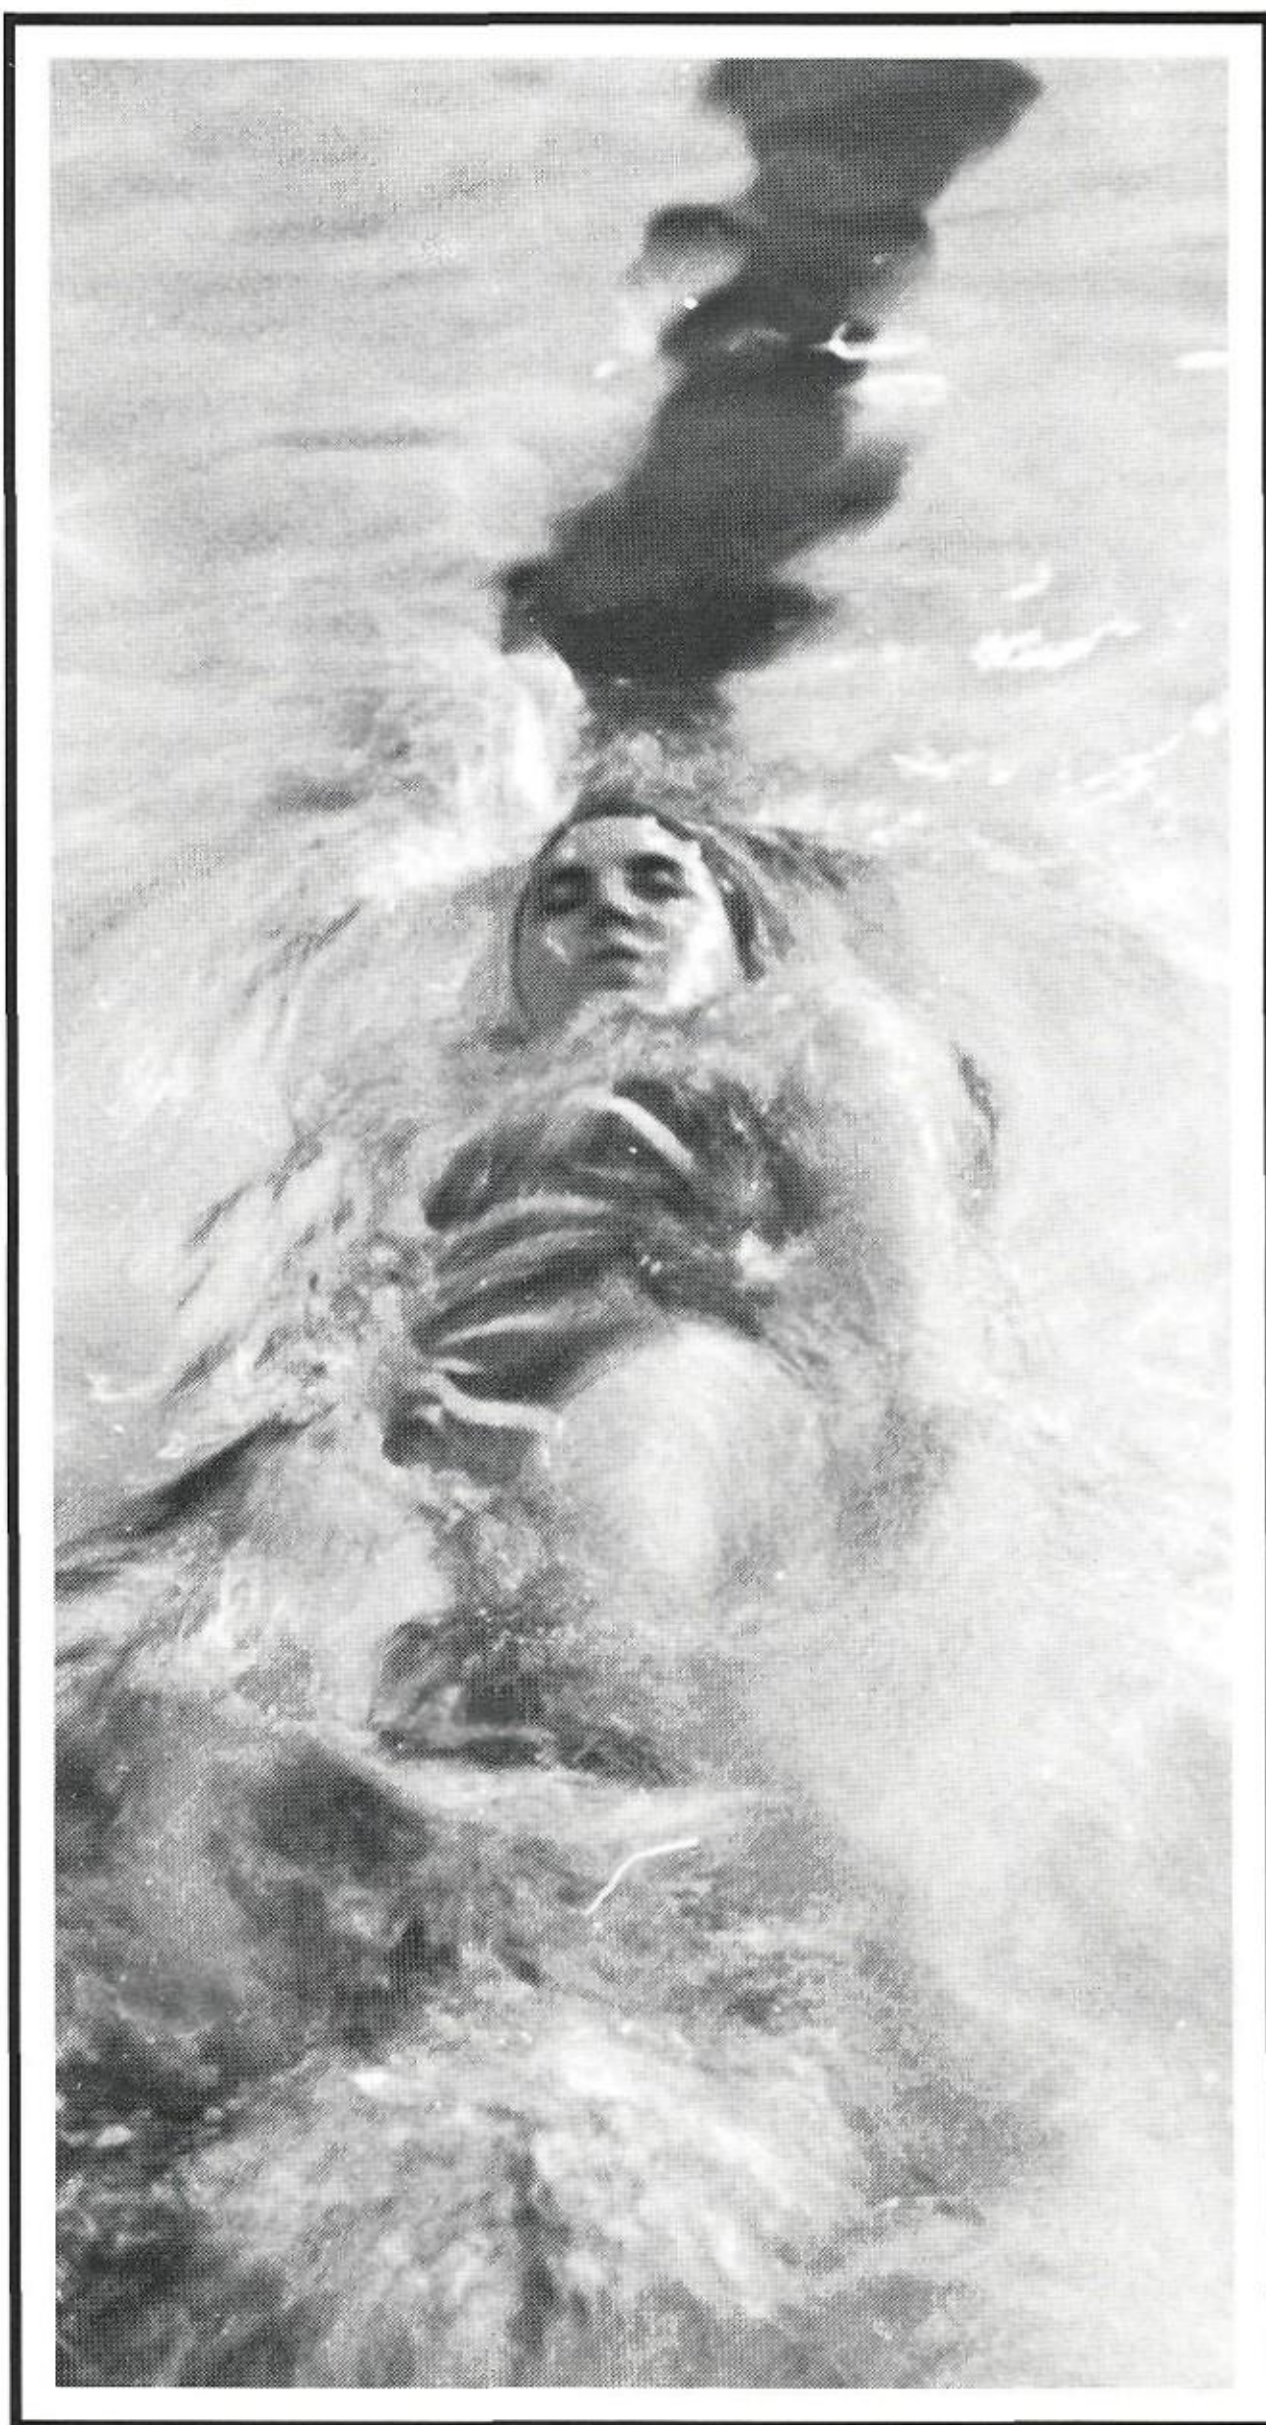

AHS came out smelling like a rose<sup>A</sup> as the girls took second place in the meet, and the boys took third.

The ladies were paced by Diana and Nancy. Diana won the 100-yard breast stroke, and the 200-yard medly, while Nancy took first in the 200-yard freestyle and 100-yard butterfly. Together, the tankers racked up 74 points.

Junior Jay Dickens and Senior Jay Kuhlman led the boys to a third place. Dickens had a victory in the 100-yard backstroke and a second place in the 50-yard freestyle. Kuhlman finished second in the 200-yard individual medly.

After the regional meet, the field was narrowed and the results came in. AHS would be represented by two seniors Nancy and Diana. They both captured top ten honors in their events in the state meet.

AHS swats MacArthur for first time in 12 years

The members of the Colt tennis team knew that this year would be the toughest year for them to capture their annual district crown, a title which the team had won for four consecutive years.

Coach Dillard Isabel knew this and used his fall season to try and prepare his netters for the district meet in the spring.

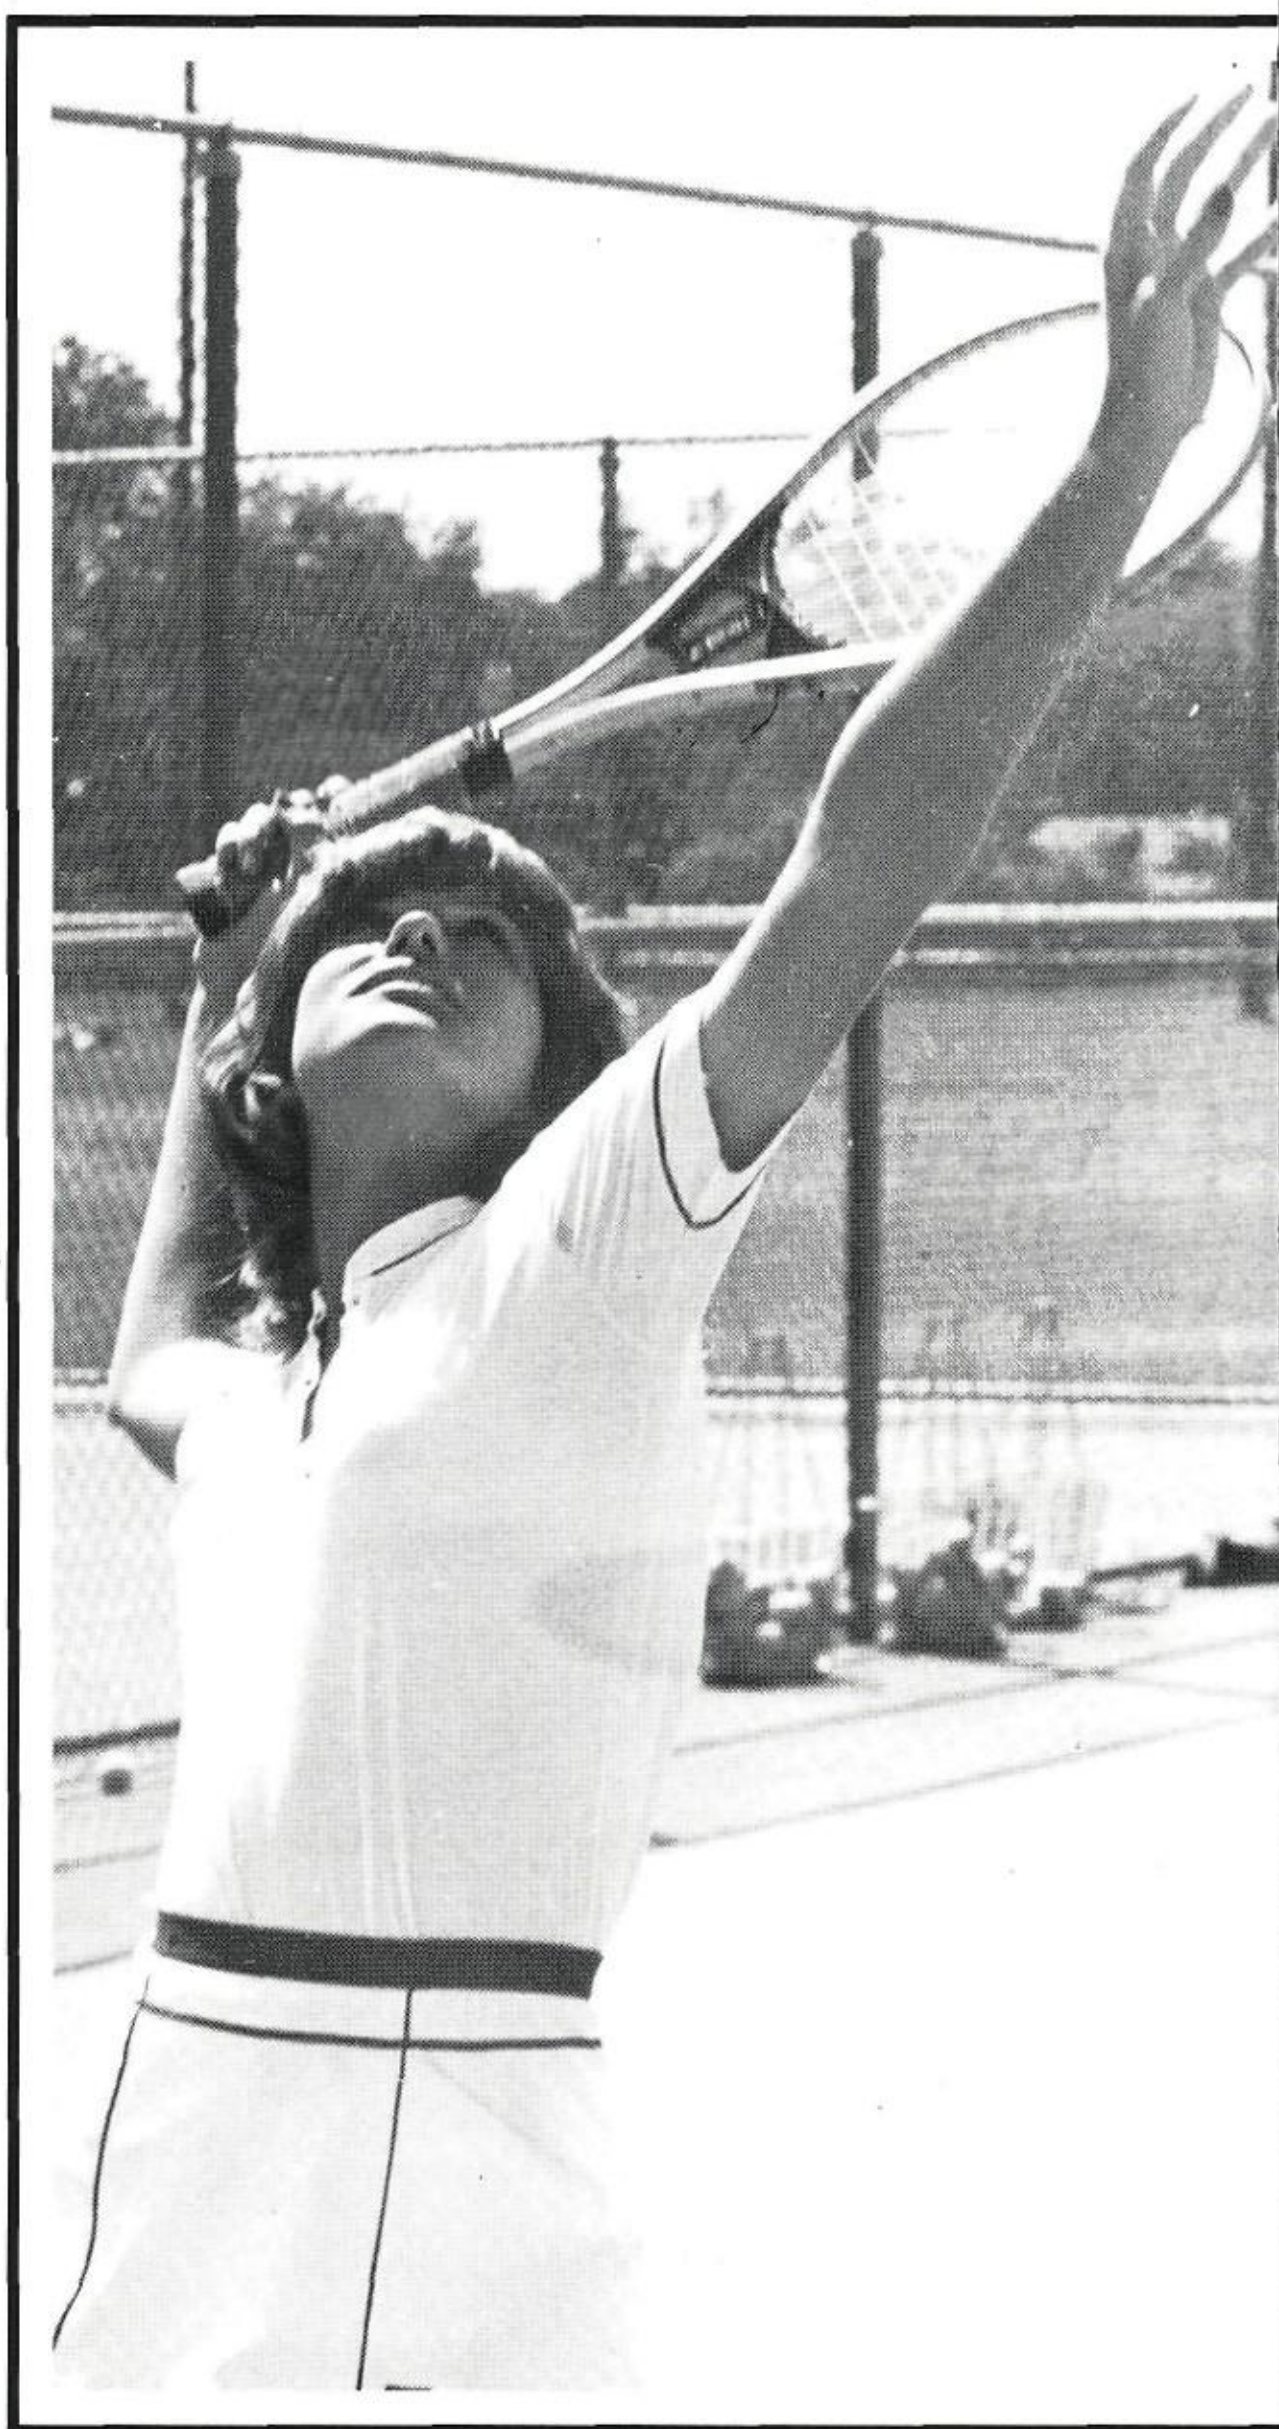

This year's team was one of great experience and maturity as it consisted of 11 seniors and 4 juniors.

Coach Isabel quickly put his experience to work as the team was put through rigorous workouts and a great amount of dual team matches.

The team soon perfected their strokes and at the highlight of their performance ran off a string of 18 consecutive wins, a school record. In route to this impressive highlight, the Colts knocked off Irving MacArthur, a team which AHS had not beaten in 12 years.

After concluding the successful fall season, the team went into a rest <sup>A</sup> period due to the inclement weather. But soon as the skies cleared, Coach Isabel had the team on the courts taking their daily 200 serves.

The layoff definitely proved to be hazardous as the Colts opened the spring season with a loss to MacArthur, a tie with Grapevine, and another loss to Burleson, a team which proved to be the Colts' toughest competitor. Coach Dillard Isabel soon had the team on the winning side and remained optimistic about the team's chances of winning district.

Coach Isabel made all his final pairings for district and the morale of the team was intense and the Colts entered the district meet with a good chance of capturing the title.

Apparently the district counterparts had a little bit better chance as the Colts were denied the championship by teams from Burleson (1st) and Lamar (2nd); the Colts took third place.

Some personal highlights of the tournament included district winners. Capturing first place in girls singles was junior Shari Slater. Taking second in boys doubles was the team of seniors Glen Hudspeth and Mark Fairchild.

All three captured All-District honors as well as a trip to Denton for the regional tournament. The players performed well, but were defeated in the preliminary rounds.

A blessing came to Coach Jim Shewmake's varsity baseball team this year as seven starters from last year's team returned to the diamond this year. The experience proved too much for the district counterparts, and the 81-82 edition of Colt Baseball claimed the 8 — 5A district championship.

The returnees who played a major role in capturing the title included seniors Mike Sulzen, Blake Hyde, Jack Dombroski, Richard Apel, Tommy Stinson, Jeff Lawson, and John Childress.

The Colts opened their season with a few pre-season games and tournaments including one at Texas Wesleyan, in hopes of improving the pitching staff.

The pitchers definitely were improved as the Colts entered district play. The Colts opened district with an awesome show of hitting power and defeated Lamar 18-4. The hitting power continued and the Colts racked up another victory with a win over Richland.

The domination by AHS continued through the rest of district play and one of the wins included a 9-4 romping of a tough Sam Houston team.

What a difference a year makes! A team which was 9-9 last year, this year posted a 9-2 record.

"They were young and inexperienced last year but this year they've improved 100 per cent," Coach Shewmake commented. "I could see it in their eyes," he stated when asked about his district championship players' motivation.

The Colts' next step was a 2-out-of-3 playoff series with a very offensive Southwest squad. The Colts fought hard, but the bi-district title came out in the Rebels' corner.

Coach Shewmake will be the first one to say that he was not angry about the loss. "The team showed great athletic ability and excellence," the coach stated.

Junior varsity experiences lean year despite effort

The Colt junior varsity baseball team finished the 1981-82 season in third place with a 6-5 record in district play.

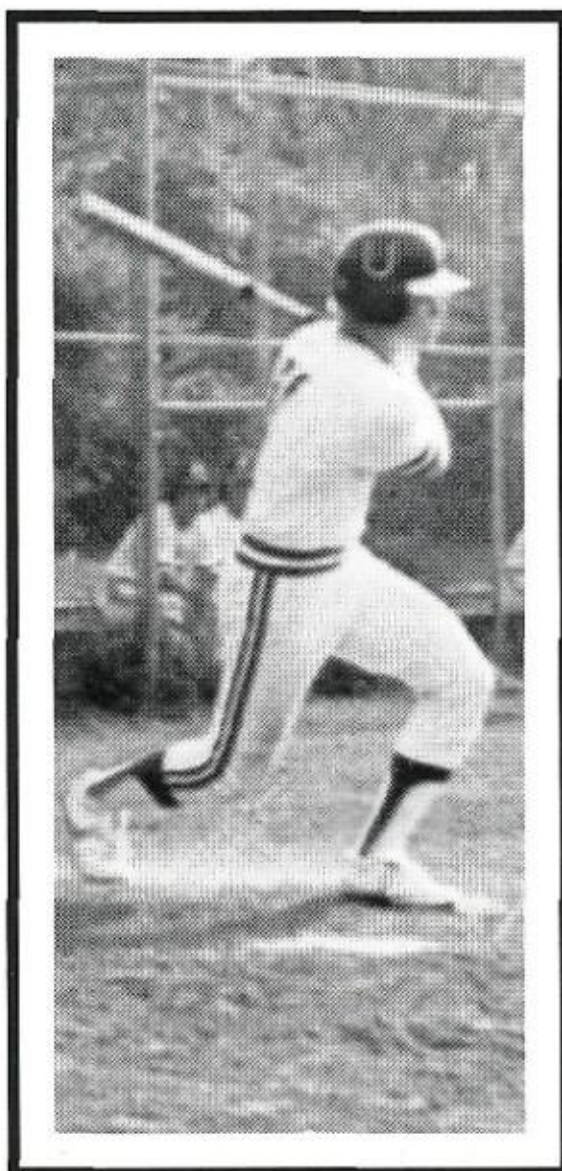

Leading the way for the young Colts were pitchers Steve Otto and Paul Hawrylak. These two flame throwers each won five games while dropping two.

The Colts had four players hit over .300 during the spring campaign, Joe Thompson, Dean Marusak, Chuck Sponsler, and John Deller.

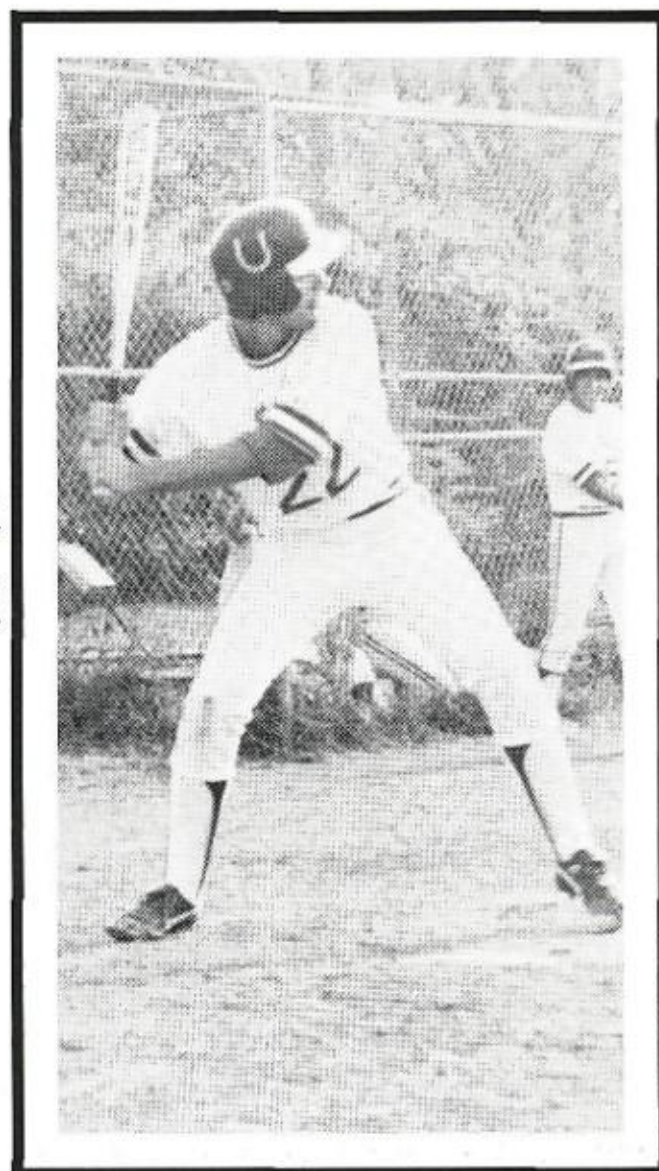

Coach John Moore's team possessed three outstanding outfielders. Marusak's, Deller's, and Thompson's arms proved to be strong and should help the baseball team again next year.

Coach Moore's squad went up against tough competition throughout the year playing teams from Ft. Worth, Richland, Grand Prairie, Irving, and the district teams.

Runners participate in many meets before finale

A | C |

The Colt track team put together another successful year in 1982. Under the guidance of Coach Gerald Richey, the Colt thinclads placed well in the meets they entered.

Senior C. K. Cartwright dominated the distance events this year topping off with a second place in the State 3200 meter event.

After several warm-up meets including the Fort Worth Coaches Indoor, the Arlington Relays, and the Irving Relays, the Colts headed for the district meet.

Cartwright won both the 1600 meter run and the 3200 meter run with times of 4:19.10 in the 1600 and 9:16.34 in the 3200. Mike Ashcraft was close on Cartwright's heels in the 1600 coming in second with a time of 4:34.15. Jon Hill came in third with a time of 10:04.72 in the 3200. Another Colt, Alan Mathis, came in fourth with a time of 10:13.54.

AHS finished fourth in the mile relay with a time of 3:33.59.

Pole vaulter Brent Thompson was an early season favorite before he broke his arm in a meet.

C. K. Cartwright captures double honors at region

Distance runner C. K. Cartwright highlighted another successful year for the Colts by placing second in state in the 3200 meter run. Cartwright won both the 1600 meter run and the 3200 meter run in district. The senior thinclad's times were 4:19.10 in the 1600 and 9:16.34 in the 3200.

Cartwright later advanced to regionals in Denton and there he won both distance events. Cartwright then competed in the state meet in Austin. There he finished second in the 3200 meter run with a time of 9:12.03. He was not as successful in the 1600 being as it was run right after the 3200 meter competition.

Some of Cartwright's awards this year consisted of being named All-District, All-Regional, and All-State. Other members who were named All-District were Mike Ashcraft and Jon Hill.

Girls capture laurels at 8-AAAAA District meet

Pure determination is the simple reason for the success of the 1981-82 district champion girls track team. The ladies worked hard during class and many times after hours to prepare for the meets.

Led by Coach Joni McCoy and Coach Glenda Kramer the team was able to place in two very competitive meets. The squad captured second in the Duncanville meet behind the winning efforts of junior Kathy Pyle, sophomore DeAnn Archer, and senior Zina Pippins. The Colts placed behind a skilled Ellison team who finished with 192 points compared to AHS 117.

The new track at Maverick Stadium proved to be the site for the next showing of the lady tracksters' talents. The meet was dominated by Kathy as she captured firsts in the triple jump, long jump and the 200 meter run. Even with Kathy's fantastic efforts the team just fell short of first as they finished second to the Trinity girls.

Kathy Pyle leads lady tracksters through season

Coach Joni McCoy soon began the process of fine tuning the team for the district meet. The Colts' toughest competition was presumed to be either Burleson or Lamar.

The meet again proved to be great for Kathy Pyle as she captured first in the triple jump, first in the 200 meter run, and was part of the first place 800 meter relay team.

The main reason for the district victory wasn't just the first place finishes, but the many second and third place finishes. The Colts combined for over nine second and third place finishes which proved to be enough for the Colts as they captured the 8 — 5A crown with an impressive 127½ points. The nearest opponent was Lamar who finished with only 111.

The outstanding talents of the Colt ladies didn't go without recognition as they were honored at the annual Girls Sports Banquet.

Taking home the Most Improved Awards were juniors Melissa Godsey and Laura McDonald. Voted as Most Dedicated was Mary Sue Kalina and High Point Award went to the outstanding Kathy Pyle.

The Colt boys golf team was made up of young inexperienced golfers. Fortunately, the Colts did not let the youth bother them as they finished the tournament year with a third place finish in district.

In tournament action the results included Sam Houston Invitational, seventh; Irving Nimitz Invitational, sixth; Denton Invitational, tenth; Arlington Golf Classic, eighth; and South Grand Prairie Invitational, seventh. The best finish was the South Garland Invitational in which the Colts placed fifth.

Leading the way for the boys was Adrian Littlefield. Littlefield was named first team All-District and was a third individual medalist in district. David Clark was named Sophomore of the Year.

The girls golf team also was made up of young players. Leading the way for the ladies was Karen Crocker. Karen was named Sophomore of the Year as well as being named to the first team All-District squad and was a district medalist.

Also contributing were Margaret Daughtery, Janet Barter, and Lisa Rabe. Both Janet and Lisa were named first team All-District.

The girls finished fourth in the Paschal Invitational and as a team won district and advanced to regionals where they finished ninth.

Coach Mike Cade felt that his team will need to be more poised and acquire a high higher level of competition. This will be their goal for 1983.

Administration make changes; new gym result

Arlington High School students started off the year facing several changes — a newly completed gymnasium, a new band hall, and an enlarged photography lab.

All of these changes were made possible by the Arlington School Board. Members of the 1981-82 school board included Dr. Tom Telle, president; Mr. Eroy Harry, vice president; Mr. Rick Cline, secretary; Mr. Clyde Godfrey, assistant secretary; Mr. Gary McClaskey, Mrs. Diane Patrick, and Mr. Joe Jesko.

Working closely with the school board were members of the central administrative staff including Mr. J. W. Counts, superintendent; Dr. Kenneth Greene, assistant superintendent-instruction; Mr. B. L. Davis, assistant superintendent-administrative; Mr. Bob Beene, assistant superintendent; Mr. Tom Dabbert, administrative assistant; Mr. John Webb, administrative assistant-finance; and Mrs. Mildred Helms, administrative assistant-secondary instruction.

Keeping AHS running smoothly was Mr. James Crouch, who for the fourth year, met regularly with the Faculty Relations Committee to hear teachers' opinions on various policies.

Principal runs school effeciently

For a school to be run effeciently, there must be at the head, quality leadership. For Arlington High, this came in the form of principal Mr. James Crouch.

Mr. Crouch started at AHS 12 years ago when the dress code "made little sense," said Mr. Crouch, "the girls wore mini skirts, but boys could not have their hair touching their ears," he went on to say, "I had more teachers in my office complaining about boys hair than teaching."

After changing the dress code his first year, Mr. Crouch went on to complete his first year as principal. He also started a traditional saying that almost every graduating senior has remembered, "... How Sweet it is ... to be in Colt Country."

Besides working closely with the students, Mr. Crouch also keeps his door open for parents and teachers, along with students, to hear their comments about any policies or procedures.

Advisor rides 3-speed cycle; continues fun

Riding a bike to school? In high school? Be seen on a three-speed? Never.

This healthy activity, riding a bike, is experienced almost every day by counselor Charlene Dorsey.

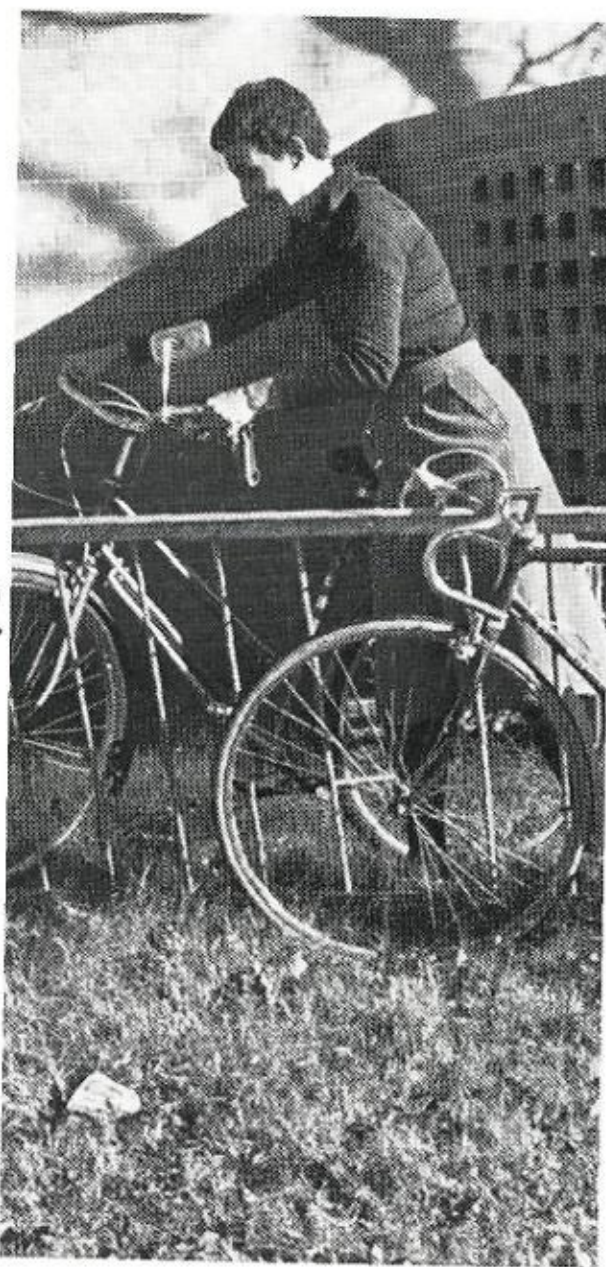

"It is really refreshing for me to ride my bike, because the cool air seems to make me feel alive," stated the counselor.

Mrs. Dorsey started eight years ago when she was teaching at an elementary school and she wanted to do some exercise, and riding her bike sounded exciting. She now rides her bike to and from work almost every day.

The only days that she does not ride her bike is when it is raining out or there is snow on the ground.

Her bike ride starts early in the morning when she rides up side streets, through parking lots, down several busy streets, and finally up to Arlington High.

"The only time I don't like is when I get caught in rain storms on the way home," said Mrs. Dorsey.

Workers keep front offices in good form

Answering phones, typing memos, notes, and letters, running errands, working the computer, and counting money, were jobs all done by the "Office Ladies."

Mrs. Jeanne Butler, Mr. James Crouch's secretary, kept the wheels running smoothly in the front office, while Mrs. Annette Archer took care of bookkeeping.

Mrs. JoAnne Derick and Mrs. Linda Ratliff manned the attendance records and answered all the attendance calls.

The counselor's office was in the good hands of Mrs. Carol Ferrell, while Mrs. Sharon Dollar fed the data to the computer.

Taking care of bumps and bruises, pains, aches, broken bones, and such was Mrs. Lucille Ward, while Mrs. Nancy Stephens served as registrar.

Teachers dance their way to fun

O.K. ladies, get your knees up ... don't stop ... stomach in ... keep your postures up. Does this sound like fun? It does to Mrs. Janet Wallace, Mrs. Flo Francis, and several other teachers. They did aerobic dancing each Monday and Wednesday of every week.

"It keeps you physically fit," said Mrs. Wallace, "and you get to dance also."

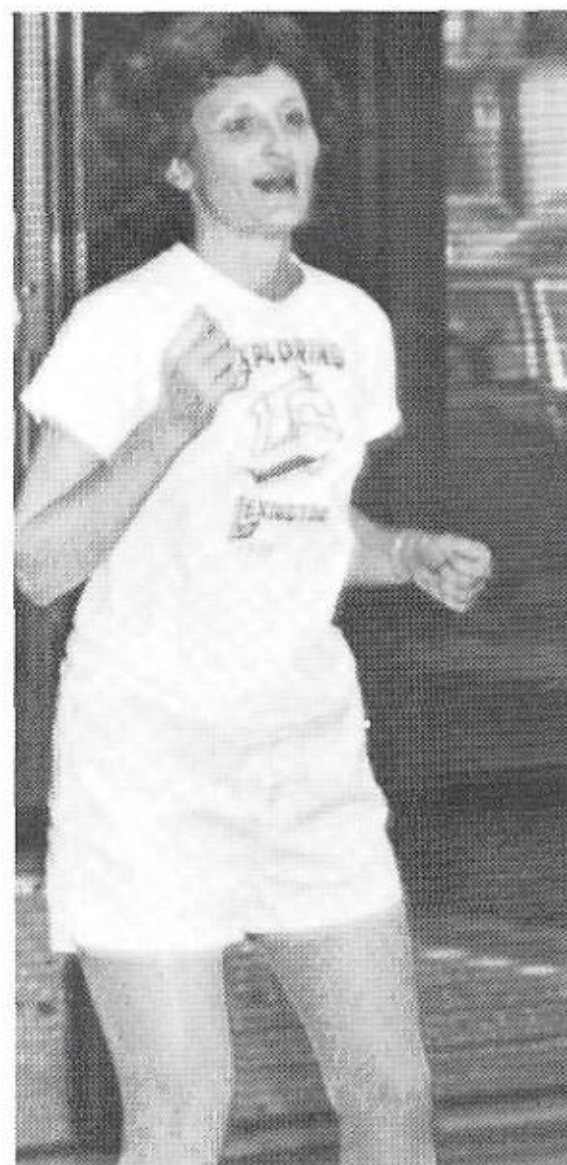

The Arlington High teachers who participated in Jacki Sorensen's Aerobic Dancing class were Mrs. Becky McDonald, Mrs. Carlene Cafaro, Miss Deanna Koonsman, Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Francis, Mrs. Martha Moore, Mrs. Laveta Moore, Mrs. Lou Baker, and Mrs. Lanell Goodman. They danced for one hour straight without stopping, doing such steps as the 7-up, the Banana Hat, the Pony, the Charleston, the Cha-Cha, and chorusline kicks. They also did warm ups before, cooldowns after and took heartbeats between dances.

The teachers participated in a dance-athon at the Tarrant County Convention Center in November to raise money for under-privileged children. They took pledges or straight donations. Dancing from 10 a.m. till 2 p.m., the teachers did a total of 50 dances in the four hour period.

Jacki Sorensen's Aerobic Dancing started in the early 60's and is still growing stronger with all the different variations of aerobic dancing.

Teacher turns pilot on weekends

"The biggest thing that I've ever dropped was a road grader," said Mr. Jim Saxon. When most people think of dropping things, they think of maybe dropping a pencil to the floor.

Mr. Saxon, a shop teacher, drops all sorts of cargo, even a road grader, from an airplane via parachute to the ground. They call him a "drop master."

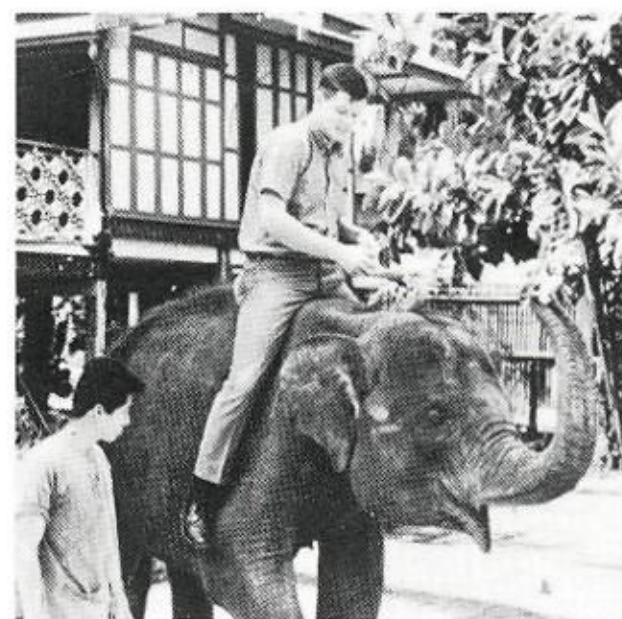

He began in 1966 when he joined the Air Force and asked to be a drop master. In C-135 cargo planes, he flew drop missions in Viet Nam — trying to drop cargo in the right place at the right time. Mr. Saxon experienced two crashes that were "hair raising." Once the plane on which he was a crew member ran off the runway and crashed. Another time the plane was taking off and hit a tree. Luckily, he wasn't hurt. Nor was he hurt when the enemy would shoot at his plane.

As a member of the Dallas Navy Flying Club, he flies privately on weekends. He is also an air crew member in the reserves, where he still is a drop master. Usually Mr. Saxon flies two or three times a week with the Reserve. During the week he "drops" locally and on the weekends, he flies cross country, even to Panama, with cargo loads.

Though his wife worries and the hours are long, Mr. Saxon doesn't seem to mind. "I've always wanted to fly," he said.

Excuses, excuses, excuses teachers hear them all

A teacher has many things to do, one of which is to listen to excuses given to them by their pupils. Almost every period of every day, teachers have to listen to excuses.

Even though most people would not believe some of the excuses given to teachers, still, the excuses continue to come. Such as the one told to Mrs. Sharon Phemister; "I couldn't do the homework because I had to wash my hair," or the one told to Mrs. Lou Baker, "My dad stole my homework." Or there is the one about the dog who attacked the report card, but there was only one hole, over the grade, on the whole report card.

Although some excuses become very elaborate and complicated, there are still the popular ones. The dog having very abnormal craving for paper, or the little sister who, along with the dog, had a craving for paper. Then there is the one about the mother cleaning the room for the first time, and accidentally throwing the paper away.

It seems that teachers have to listen to all of the various types of excuses. Can you imagine the teachers comparing excuses in the teachers' lounge, and them not laughing at the excuses.

But by and by, it seems that no matter what the excuses are, or how elaborate the excuse is, teachers always seem to see through the smoke. You would think they really don't believe the excuses.

Math teacher turns butcher on weekends

When is a teacher not a teacher? When he is a butcher, of course.

At least this is true when it comes to Mr. James Anton, Algebra teacher, who spends his Saturdays as a part-time butcher.

This occupation is not newly learned. To earn extra income in college, he worked in a butcher shop. It was there he received the training which he now applies at Callaway's Meats.

Because Callaway's is individually owned, Mr. Anton feels he enjoys his job more.

"I wouldn't want to work in a chain-store butcher shop," he stated, and went on to add, "Callaway's provides me with a friendly relaxed atmosphere and no pressure."

Mr. Gruenwald keeps on trucking

"I'll never forget when I was driving across some railroad tracks, and my engine died. There was a train coming down the tracks, but luckily I was able to coast across the tracks just in time before the train got to the tracks. It must have missed me by only a couple of feet," remembers Mr. Kenneth Gruenwald.

Besides being the shop teacher at AHS, Mr. Gruenwald is also a weekend and summer truck driver. He drives an eighteen wheeled Ford truck.

Mr. Gruenwald has been all over the eastern part of Texas, from Wichita Falls to Laredo, east.

"I started driving for Central Freight Lines because they offer good money. I enjoy driving to Houston, because it pays the most money."

Although he has to pay for his own food, the bigger truck stops offer free sleeping quarters for truck drivers. All truck drivers are allowed to drive 500 miles a day, then they must take a "rest" time, which is for eight hours.

"I usually talk on the C.B. at night, to someone I know, or if there is no one, I talk to myself, or I sing."

Mr. Gruenwald plans to continue to drive his truck for a while longer.

Along with raising roses, she also has a small greenhouse added onto her house, where she grows house plants.

Workers help feed students, clean hallways

Fixing thermostats, filling drink machines, and making cinnamon rolls are not jobs done by little elves around Arlington High School. These chores and many more are performed by a crew of hard working, friendly people.

Custodians had a tougher job since almost the entire school was carpeted. But they seemed to cope with broken pipes, chewing gum, and locker decorations as they answered the red light in the halls paging them throughout the day.

Feeding the tummies of AHSers were the ladies in the cafeteria who dished up the favorites such as Monster Burgers, Taco Rolls, and Cinnamon rolls. Two new items served this year were fish platters and tacos.

(A) Arlington janitors include Joe Bragg, Rosa Fuentes, Ed Shaw, and Joe Terrill. (B) Ladies who feed the tummies of AHSers are Joyce Bogkin, Karen Mack, Dottie Rogstad, Pat Wilkie, Barbara Brooks, and Valla Butler.

Seniors design awesome year

"It was an awesome year," said senior class president, Moody Alexander. Awesome seemed a good word to describe the well planned year of activities.

The planning started, early in the summer when the officers chose the Americana Hotel to host the prom.

Seniors started to raise funds to help pay for the big event. Magazine subscription sales amounted to $7,000, their biggest money making project. They sold confetti at football games and senior shirts. A highly successful masquerade dance was also sponsored.

As the prom got closer, seniors participated in the Colt County Fair. Sponsoring the annual Senior Saloon, they produced three shows with 13 different acts. A raffle and a rock band in the old gym added to the coffers.

Meetings became more frequent as graduation, Vespers, and prom night decisions were made.

Working with Moody were Walter Evans, vice president; Laschell Dietrich, secretary-treasurer; Sara Reed, girls' social chairperson; and Mike Foster, boys' social chairman.

Class selects Moody, Laurie

Moody Alexander and Laurie Tillman were voted by their classmates as senior favorites.

Moody was active in German Club, Concert Choir, Choraliers, Chamber Singers, National Honor Society, Student Council, and Class Council. This year he served as senior class president, was named to All-District Choir, and was Rotarian of the Month for September.

Laurie, head cheerleader this year, has been a cheerleader for all her three years at Arlington. Laurie was named Homecoming Queen this year.

Seniors attend prom, assembly

As the time drew closer for seniors to graduate, excitement mounted. The Senior Banquet and Prom and the Senior Assembly were looming over the horizon.

May 7 proved to be a beautiful night for the prom as seniors dressed in their elegant gowns and spiffy tuxes trekked over to the Americana Hotel in everything from motorcycles to limos. There they dined on sirloin and chocolate mousse, and after seeing themselves in the senior slide show, danced til midnight to music provided by DJ Craig Bandy.

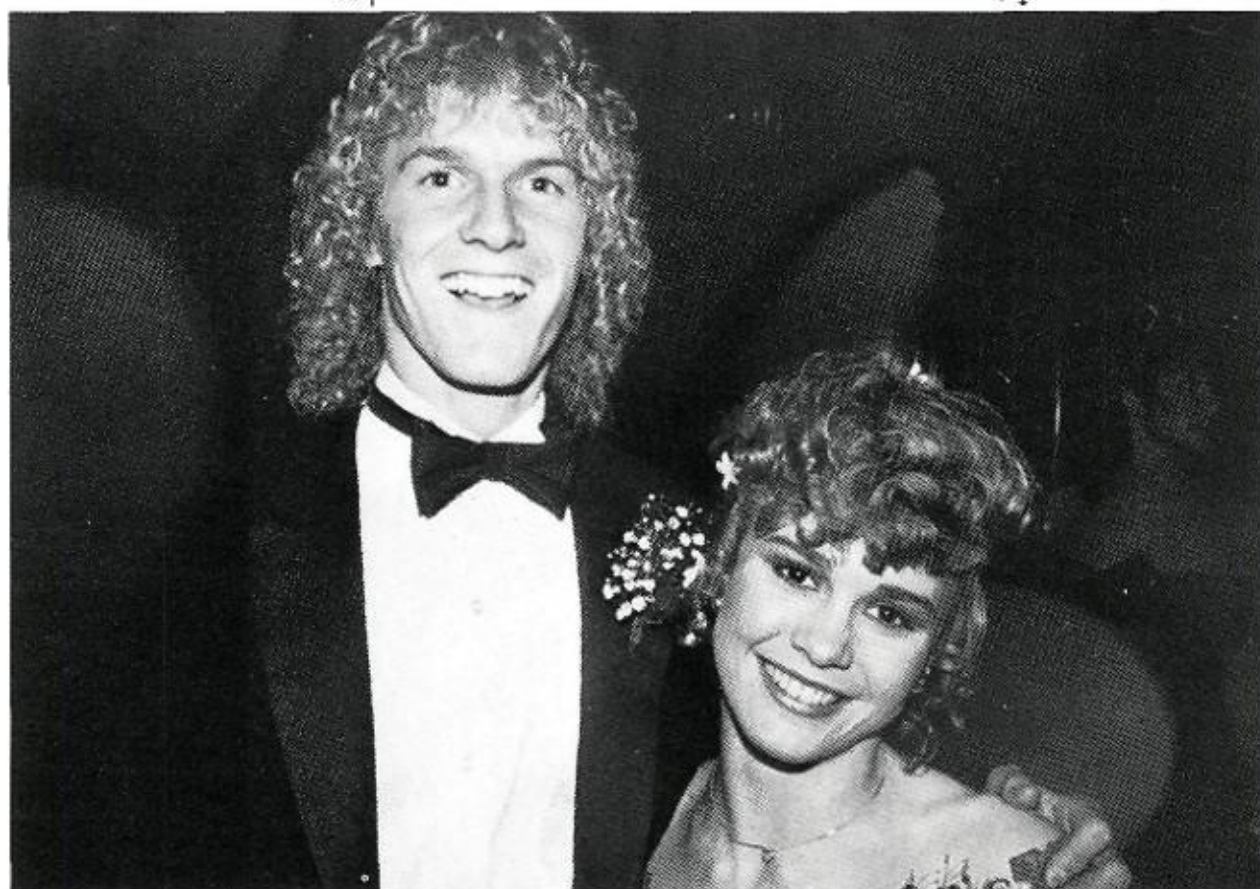

A week later the members of the Class of 82 filed into the auditorium for the annual Senior Assembly. Many of the classmates were cited with honors and awards. Principal James Crouch received a standing ovation when he prepared to give his Principal's Address.

After one more look at the slide show, the seniors tearfully sang the Alma Mater and departed.

Grads end year with ceremony

When the Texas Hall curtain went up at 8 p.m. sharp May 25, the audience was treated to an awesome sight of nearly 500 white robed seniors ready to go through their final gathering as Arlington High School students.

They listened attentively to honor speeches by Martha Moon and Diane Powell and to the Valedictory address by Anne Toxey and Cathy Dunning's Salutatory remarks.

Principal James Crouch praised the group for their efforts throughout their three years before he pronounced them graduates and told them to "change your tassels."

As Coach Mike Stovall, Mrs. Phyllis Forehand, Mark Joeckel, and Mrs. Flo Francis called out their names, the seniors strolled across the stage and received their diplomas from Mr. Crouch and Vice Principal Wendell Lackey.

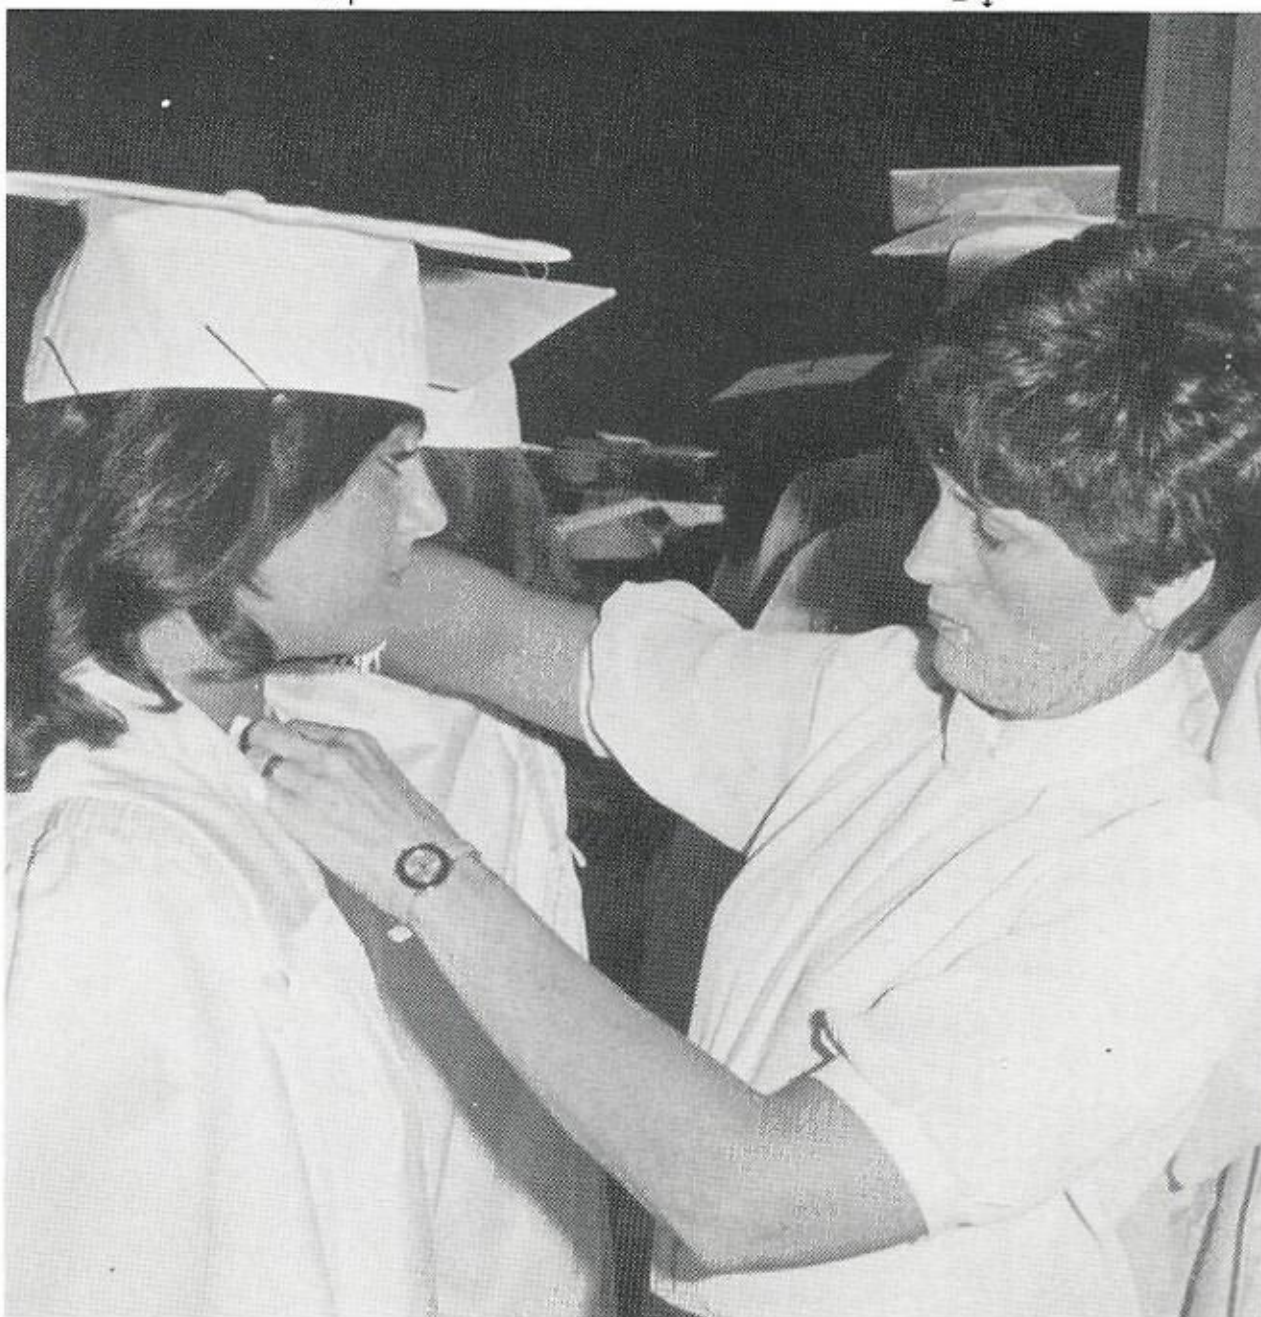

The traditional "You'll Never Walk Alone," sung for the 31st time by the Choraliers, closed a beautiful ceremony and high school career.

Magazine sales net big bucks for senior activities

Darryl Eng

Seniors hoping to cut down the price of a prom ticket hit the road to the tune of $7,000 in magazine sales in the year's biggest money raising endeavor.

Funds from a successful masquerade dance and confetti sales at football games were added to the magazine profits and the loot pulled in at the Colt County Fair to bring down the cost of the "Big Night."

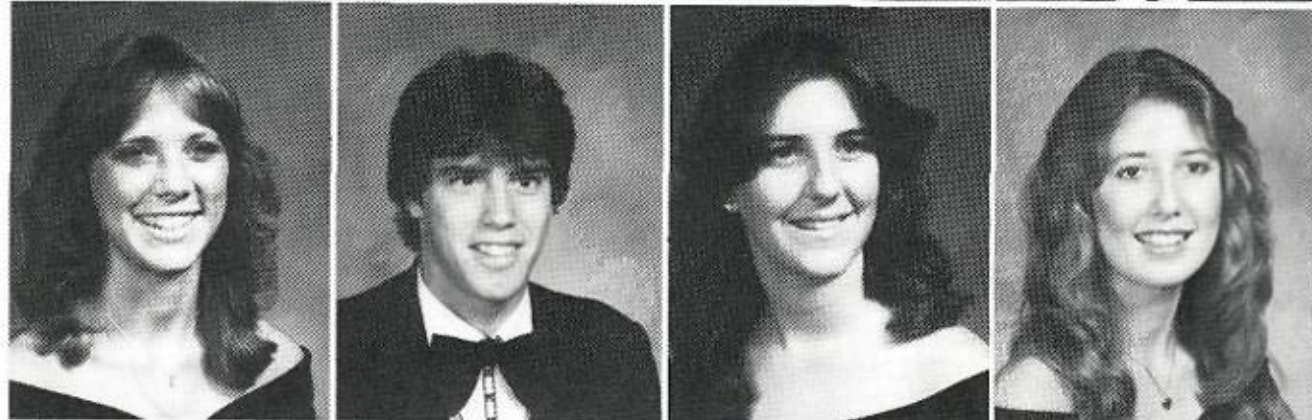

Helping the senior class treasury, Laschell Dietrich calls a neighbor to sell a magazine subscription.

Preppies invade in Zods, Polos

As the school year started a new "group" was seen around the halls. The "Preppies" had arrived. Though a few "preps" had been spotted before, this was the first time that "pink and Green" was intensely seen at the school.

Air hose and Weejuns loafers, pink oxford cloth shirts and khakis, L.L. Bean blue jeans and duck motif belts, and of course, Calvins and either "Zods or Polos" appeared to be the key part of a "prep's" wardrobe.

Students even went as far as to use nicknames like Muffy, Biff, Cuffy, or Tripp instead of real names.

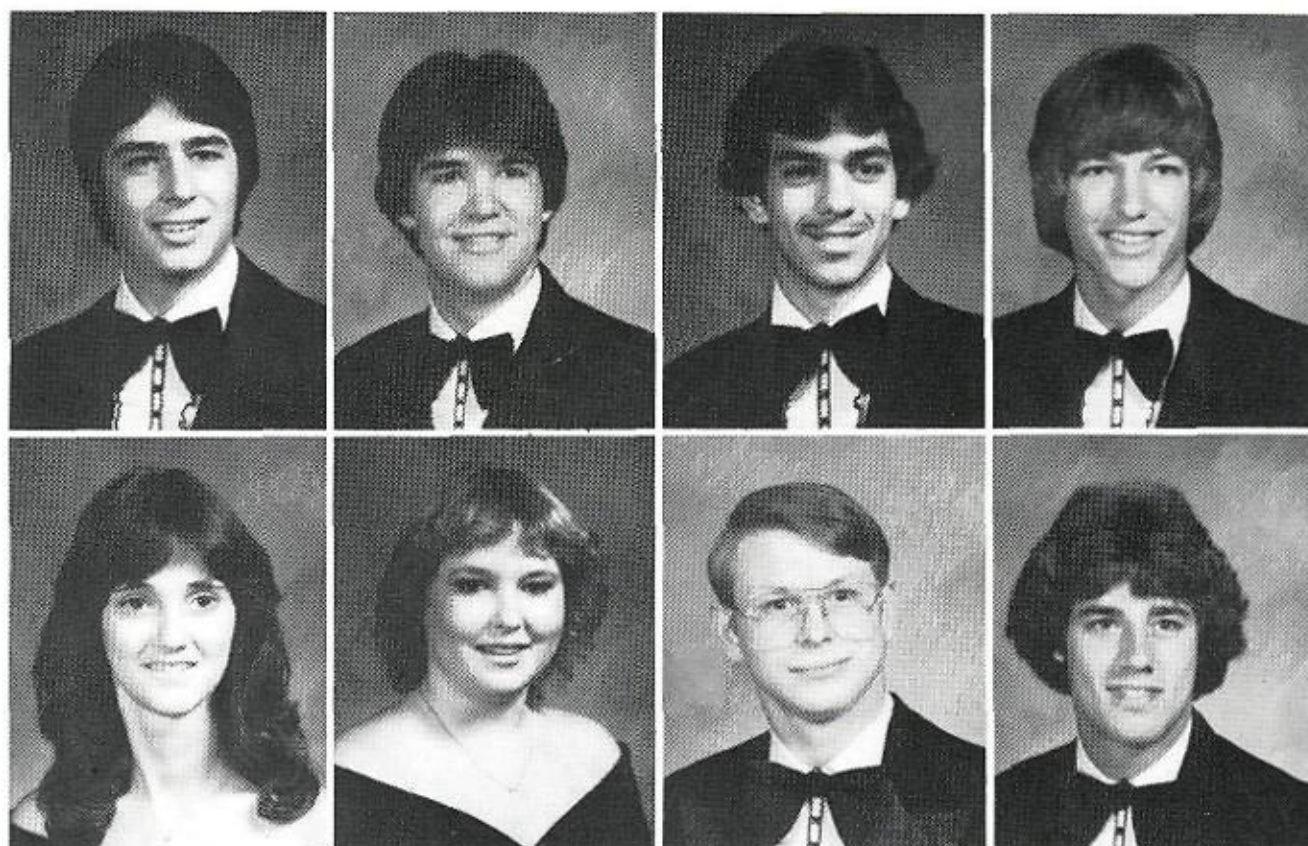

Non-preps who observed this change in their fellow schoolmates found them to be a "real hoot" — who wears top siders when there is not a boat in sight?

Though the "preps" went for "Za" — pizza and "Scream" — ice cream, and felt that anything really fun was "intense" or "awesome" and even "drop trou" for car caravans, most non-preps found them to be "spaced white-bread."

With his oxford-cloth button down and his navy pullover sweater, senior Leland Simpson sports the latest "prep attire."

Seniors pull together to form spontaneous class

Finally after years of waiting, seniors came together to form the most spirited, funniest, and outrageous class of the school. At least they thought so.

Several students suggested that spirit was just part of senior activities, but the spontaneous moments just could not be called "regular." Spirit stick scandals, senior sheets, pep rally prisoners, gym and hall decorations, dance preparations, and glittering halos for the senior hall added to the craziness of the year.

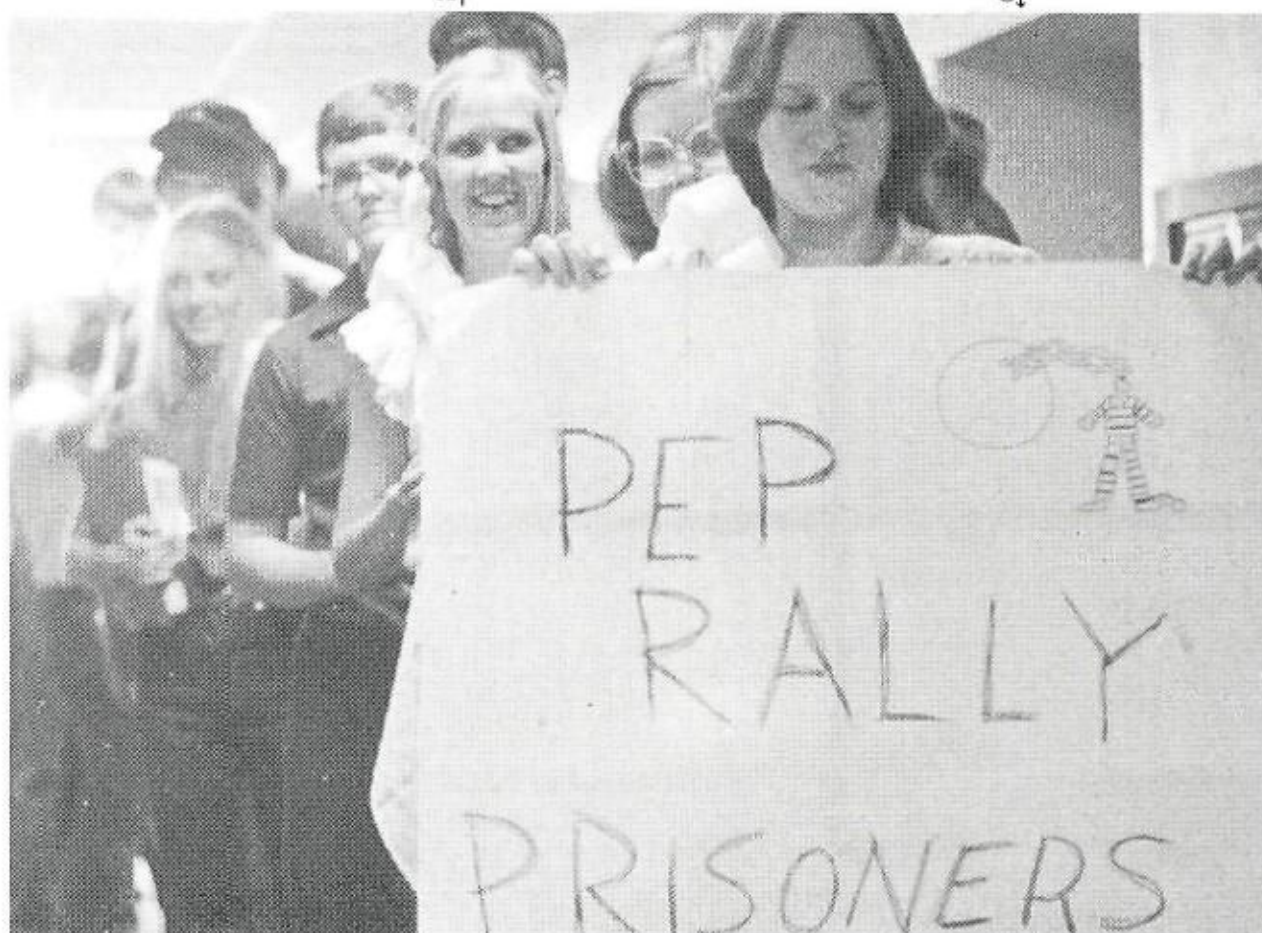

"With such outrageous events we will always remember the feeling we had this last year," senior Martha Moon said. It appeared to be a coming together not just an "activity." The seniors felt "We're the best at all we do, Senior class of '82!"

Seniors pose in cap, gown

Finally, after a long hot summer of waiting, seniors received THE card in the mail, notifying them that senior portraits would be taken.

With tube tops and formal white shirts, students gathered in the choir room ready to pose for photographers. Three "stations" were set up. Feathers, drapes and cap and gown were worn by the girls; tuxes with bow ties and cap and gown were available for the boys.

Seniors freeze for old timer

All the guys wearing a suit? Impossible! It happened, though, Oct. 13 when the seniors gathered to have their group picture taken.

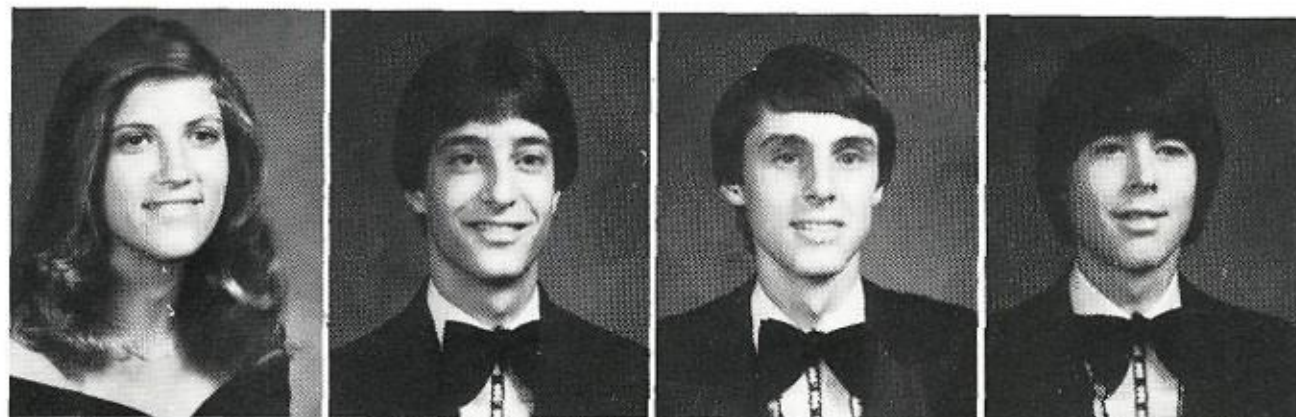

Although the girls disagreed, the photographer said the rainy day was perfect because there were no shadows. The camera used, a ten-inch circuit camera, was discontinued in 1936. Many of its features are out-dated. Because of this, seniors had to stand still for an extremely long time as the camera slowly swept the risers.

Gathering for the group picture, members of the senior class listen to instructions given by the photographer.

'Poal, Wolt' lead seniors in spirit

Who are those two seniors whose motto is "Walk proud and carry a big (spirit) stick"? Who are those "wild and crazy guys" from New York who brighten announcements with "Hey Poal . . . Hey Wolt"? Who just loved that "junior table cloth"? Paul Belauskas and Walter Evans, alias Poal and Wolt, tried to instill spirit into the school with crazy antics.

The two, in fact, did instill spirit in the school and senior class. They brought about the spirit stick scandal. For several weeks they awarded "The Poal and Wolt" spirit stick to the senior class when the seniors did not win the traditional spirit stick.

Paul and Walter could be seen at most of the school's sporting events heading car caravans and leading cheers at the games. Some of their antics received disapproval from a selected few, but almost everyone found their stunts humorous and spirit raising.

"Poal and Wolt" said their main reason for doing it was "to make the Class of '82 forever remembered as THE Class of THE high school."

Spirit Sisters up Colt morale

"I've got a garbage sack full of candy," one football player bragged after finding his surprise from his Spirit Sister.

The activities of the sisters involved more than just candy giving. They decorated lockers, front yards, and even bedrooms of the football players. Not stopping here, they gave spirit boxes, pumpkins of candy, and balloon grams. They even presented the coaches with a decorated cake.

And did the players like it? "It meant so much to come and see my locker all decorated on Fridays, I knew the school cared," senior Richie Miller said.

Weekly poster parties help bring class together

Tuesday night. Nothing to do?

When seniors found that they had nothing to do or wanted to delay doing homework, a faithful few attended the weekly senior poster party held at a different senior's house each week during football season.

At the weekly event, seniors made the posters for up coming football games and decided upon themes for pep rallies and class spirit halls.

The general opinion about the parties was very positive. Seniors enjoyed making the posters and trying to out-do the other classes. It also helped to bring the class together.

"It's a great way to keep the students off the street," joked DeeDee Askew about the parties.

All in all, poster parties were a lot of fun while being a "productive meeting" for the senior class. The finished results adorned the walls of the gym early Friday morning.

Students try computer cards

Report cards took on a new look this year as AHS joined Bailey Junior High in volunteering to try out a new computerized system.

All grades were combined on one card instead of the individual ones for each class. Accumulative and current grade point averages and graduation credits were also shown. A numerical code enabled teachers to comment about the students.

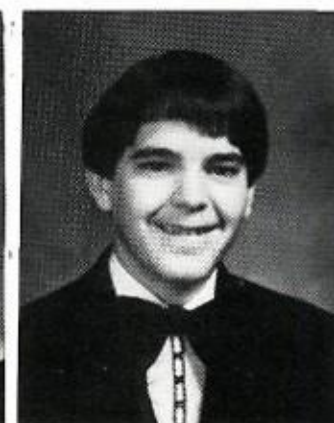

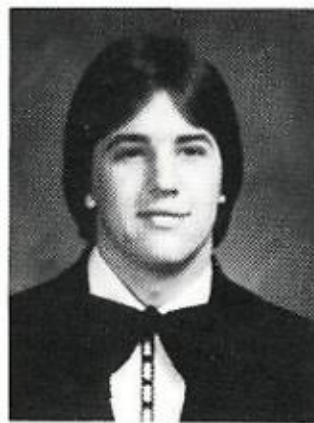

Report cards were distributed during homeroom, eliminating the necessity of teachers having to pass them out every period.

Seniors master computer logic

"OUT OF DATA ERROR LINE 90"

This was one of the most frustrating things for students in Computer Math. But this year, more students were submitting themselves to the unreasonable logic of the terminals.

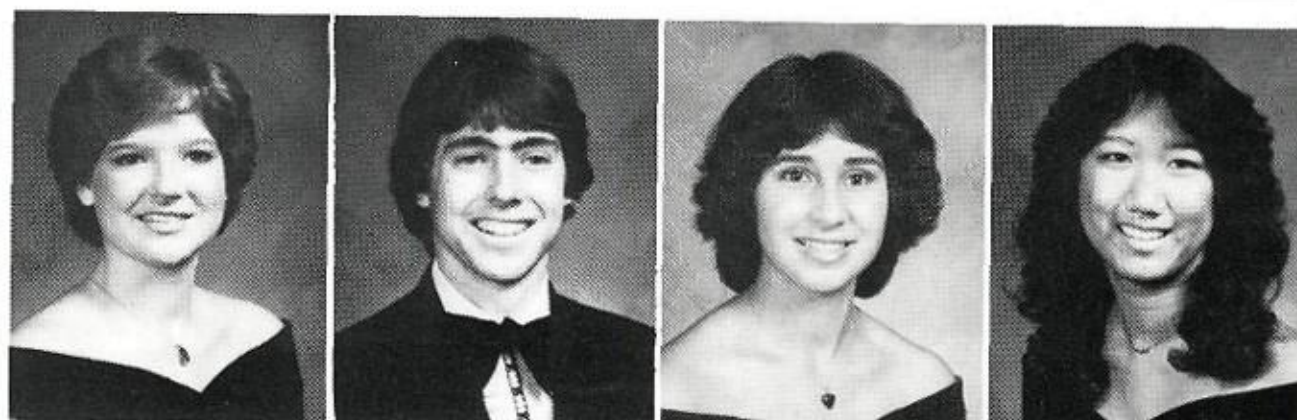

Mrs. E. G. Bearden had four Computer Math classes with about 30 students in each class. Along with more students, she also had the added responsibility of seven computers, five CRT terminals, one Compucolor, and one Hewlett-Packard. With all the tangled colorful wires hooking up the computers, Mrs. Bearden had all the logic she could handle.

Mrs. E. G. Bearden helps Senior John Sherrill with his new program.

Seniors host costume dance

The time was set. Nine o'clock to twelve o'clock. It was an open week during football season — Friday, October 22. The preparations began for the most awesome dance the seniors would present all year.

Theme topics were discussed at Senior Council meetings and finally the "Masquerade Dance" was decided upon since Halloween was just a week away.

The work had just started, though. Decorations had to be bought, a photographer needed to be called, just plain old hard work needed to be done. But the final result, the first senior dance, was one of the most successful of the year.

The cafeteria was decorated with multicolored ribbons, streamers, and balloon clusters. A photographer was there to snap for posterity the Playboy bunnies, bags of jelly beans, and the basketball team, who took the prize for the best costume. Music for dancing was furnished by DJ Micah Causey.

(A) Kelly Ivey and Richard Apel boogie down at the seniors' masquerade dance.
(B) Blake Hyde shows off his "tattoo" as Roshell Wade smiles her approval.

College trauma plagues seniors

Every year seniors go through the trauma of selecting a college to meet their needs. They wildly send off letters asking for applications and financial aid.

For the first time, seniors were not allowed to take a day off to visit the colleges. Instead the colleges visited the school and further information was made available at College Night hosted by Lamar High School.

In the career center, senior Keith Rogers discusses financial aid with a representative from Texas A&M University.

Senioritis hits Class of '82

The miserable senior stared dreamily out of a classroom window. What was wrong with this usually energetic senior? The dreaded senioritis, the disease that affects even the best of students had attacked.

Who would sit and listen to history notes when he could be home watching his favorite soap opera? It was absolute torture!

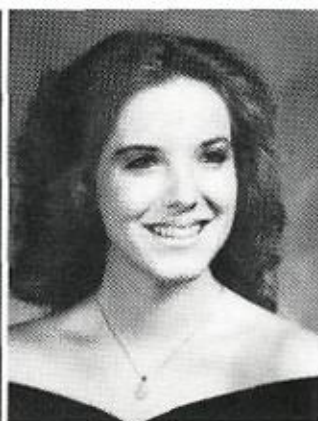

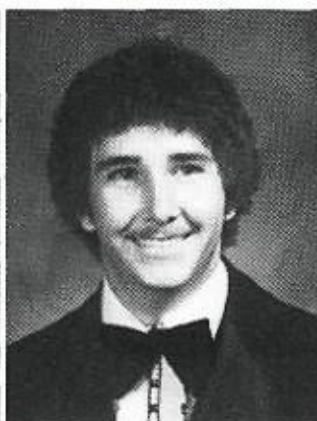

As graduation neared and the warm sun tempted seniors, it became almost impossible to find a senior doing his homework. This disease had been determined hazardous to a senior's health but not completely fatal.

As Mark Joeckel and Richard Apel head for class, they burst into their rendition of "Singin' in the Rain."

Seniors jam with Stones, Pat Benatar, Alabama . . .

Van Halen, Journey, Kenny Rogers, Alabama, Triumph, the Police, Pat Benatar, and the Stones all appeared in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Seniors stormed to see these groups and advertised the fact the next morning by donning their concert T-shirts.

Many seniors created a collection of shirts. Having several dozen shirts already, they found the trick was in trying to catch groups that toured rarely. Acts such as the Rolling Stones, Eric Clapton, the Who, and Bruce Springsteen were all prized possessions.

Even though a shirt often cost more than the ticket, the seniors more than willingly paid for their souvenir of a memory.

The morning after, concert T-shirts advertise the groups that came into the area.

Junior spirit reaches high

The Junior Class of 1983 "went all out" to put it in the words of class president, Kyle Talkington.

Fund raising began as early as June when several ambitious juniors got off to a headstart selling light bulbs.

Later during the year class members sold their class T-shirts and co-sponsored a dance with FFA.

A special source of pride for the juniors was their pep rally participation. Weekly themes and mega balloons and other decorations added to reach a spirit high.

Four booths were sponsored by the junior class at the Colt County Fair. Juniors hosted a Ring Toss, the Junior Cafe, the Junior Jail, and the Teacher Dart Throw.

Leading the junior class with Kyle were Diane Cde Baca, vice president; Andra Averitt, secretary-treasurer; Connie Bouchard, girls' social chairman; and Eddie Fields, boys' social chairman.

Juniors elect two favorites

After tallying the votes for junior class favorites, Suzie Santerelli and Cody Smith came out on top as the junior class favorite duo.

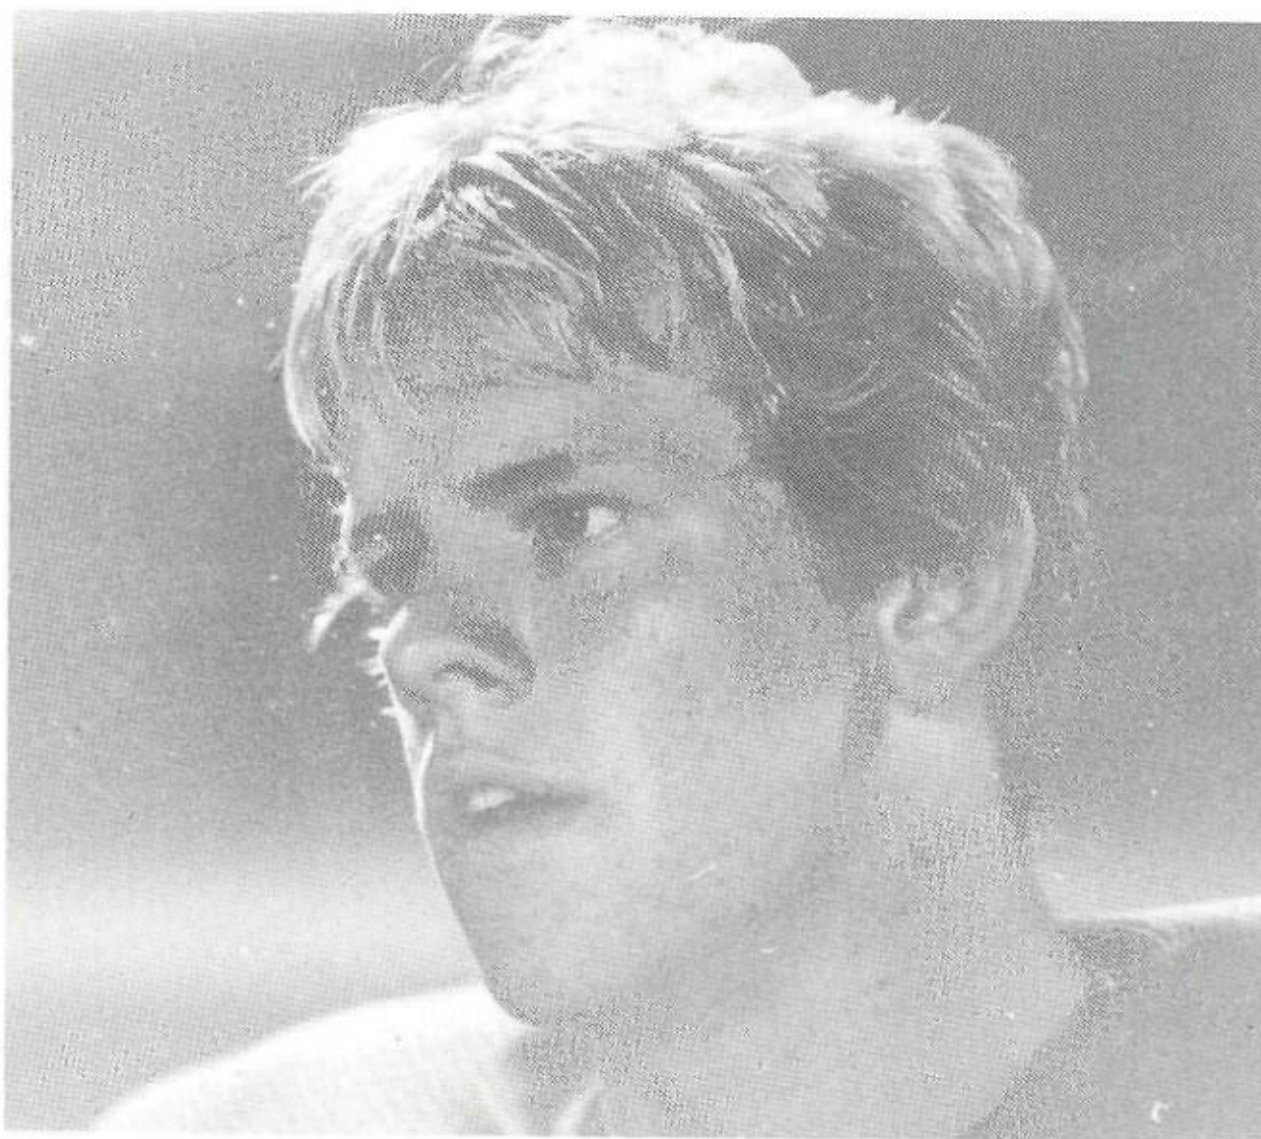

Suzie was the secretary for Interact and was a member of FBLA. She played on the varsity basketball team and ran for the varsity track team.

Suzie and Cody were both junior class representatives.

Cody also played for the winning Colt football team.

Rings carry on class tradition

Whoever said "Diamonds are a girl's best friend" should have added "class rings are a junior's next best friend."

1983 class rings arrived for juniors in many different shapes and sizes. Choosing the "just-right" ring was a major decision of the junior year — ranking right up there with a junior theme subject. Should it have a green stone or a birth stone, what should the inscription be ... juniors found themselves making these decisions and then waiting anxiously for the results.

Machine adds life to school

It knows all the soft drink junkies personally. It likes to eat money. And on top of all this, it can even make change ... well sometimes. Who is this active and important member of the school? It's the Coke machine.

For 50¢, it offered students brand name drinks — Cokes, Dr. Pepper, and Sunkist. Located outside the cafeteria, four machines attracted students who had missed the cafeteria or even the kids waiting for the bus.

Two more machines by the locker rooms gave those tired and thirsty athletes a pick-me-up.

As it became more and more used, the bright little red machine became a vivid part of the school as it spurted out those twelve-ounce drinks.

(A) After the Coke machine "eats" Romy Rawlinson's money, she administers a swift kick. (B) Outside the cafeteria, the Coke machine provides refreshment for thirsty students.

Junior reveals cube answer

Fifty-four little squares. Red, blue, yellow, orange, white, and green. Relaxation, Frustration. It's a puzzle. It's Rubik's Cube.

Rubik's Cube — the new craze across the nation — took AHS by storm. Cubes were seen in every class. Some students could solve the cube in a few seconds, but others would need a lifetime.

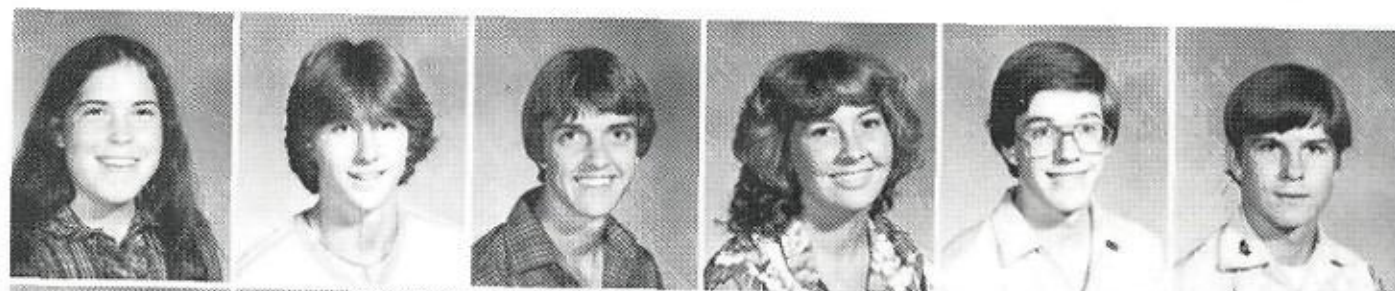

It appeared that everyone had his own secret to solving this cube — different strategies for better time. Junior Paul Cesario, though, had the best strategy of all, "Take a sledge hammer and destroy it!"

Library becomes junior hangout

Question: What single-most event in junior English class causes more fear, dread, anxiety, and panic than anything else?

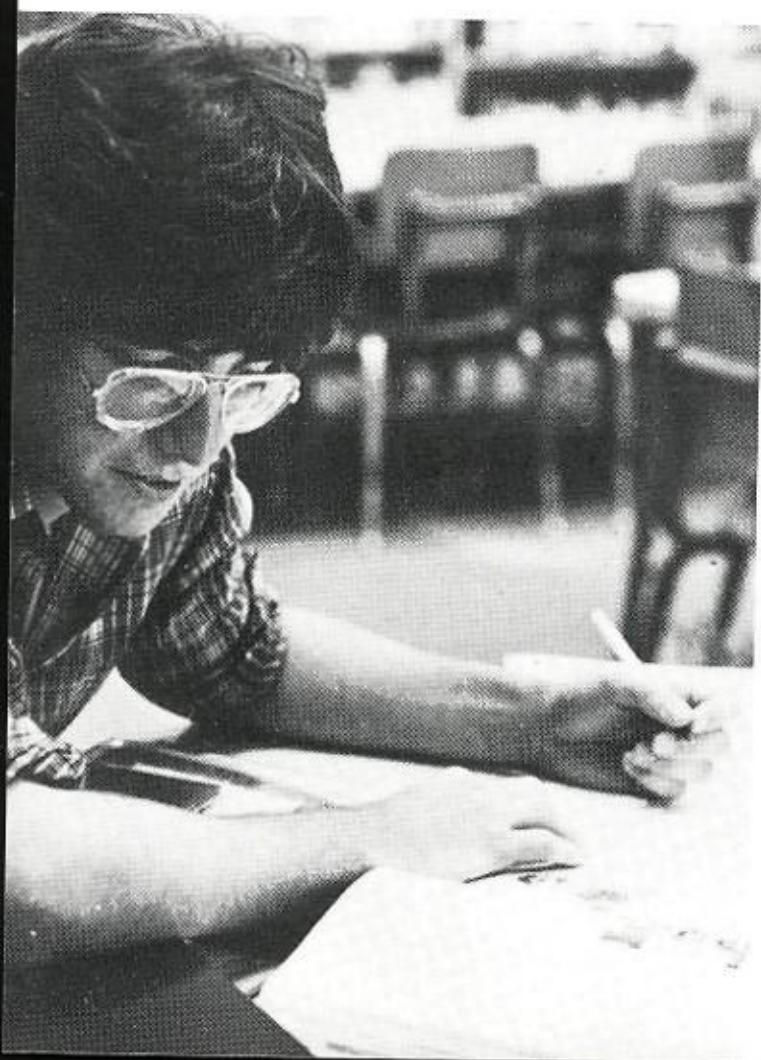

Answer: The junior theme.

The entire class experienced the tension which steadily mounted as "theme-time" approached.

When the paper was finally turned in, many emotions were felt. The one feeling that stood out among all others was relief — relief that the dreaded theme was over, never to do again.

(A) Alan Beavers patronizes the library looking up information for his junior theme. (B) Alan's typewriter makes a good pillow. (C) Triumphant, Alan turns in his finished theme to Mrs. Loveta Moore.

Cafeteria provides nutritious food for juniors

It's lunch time and there is no lunch money left. Where to go? This question was often faced by the juniors. Usually they end up in one of the most criticized places of the school — the cafeteria.

However, there they often found a variety of selections at reasonable prices. While eating Monster Burgers or tacos, juniors finished homework and even caught up on the gossip.

All in all the cafeteria wasn't such a bad place to eat, work, and socialize — all without costing too much.

(A) Paul Cesario munches down on his "nutritious lunch" in the Arlington High cafeteria. (B) Though the wait may be long, students take advantage of the cafeteria's nutritious food.

Juniors enjoy trick or treat

Hells angels, witches, and even punk rockers stormed through the hall of the school on Halloween.

On Costume Day, juniors got to portray their wildest fantasies — bags of jelly beans, killer bees, old "sockhoppers," hippies, and even Olive Oil. In fact Olive Oil, Beatriz Rodriguez, won the $10 prize given by Student Council for the best dressed student.

On Halloween, all those costumes came into good use. Juniors got to play "trick and treats" on friends and neighbors.

Sophs display dashing colors

Entering high school from junior high can be an exciting or even scary adventure. The 1981-1982 sophomores pulled through with dashing colors.

Soon after school began, the sophomores elected their officers to guide their class through the forthcoming year.

Leslie Littlefield took the office of president. Others chosen were Darlene Snowden, vice president; Lynn Dee McGahey, secretary; Darla Askew, girl's social chairman; and Tom Fahey, boy's social chairman.

The annual hall decorating contest most often won by upperclassmen, this time was taken over by the "Super Sophs."

The sophomore class held a game booth and a gambling hall at the Colt County Fair. To top off the year, sophomores hosted a dance for the entire school during April.

Sophs Select White, Dellar

Being chosen as favorites of one's class is truly an honor. Receiving this honor from the sophomore class were Laura White and John Dellar.

Laura was a junior varsity cheerleader and was elected as a varsity cheerleader for the 1982-83 school year. Laura is also a member of the German Club and serves on the Sophomore Council.

John spends a great deal of his time competing in athletics. He played on the junior varsity football, basketball, and baseball teams. John is also a member of the Sophomore Council.

Simulators aid driving process

Where can a sophomore run a red light, go 80 MPH on a residential street, hit a pedestrian and not be arrested or show any signs of destruction? In the Driver's Education simulator, all these hazards can be experienced without any side effects.

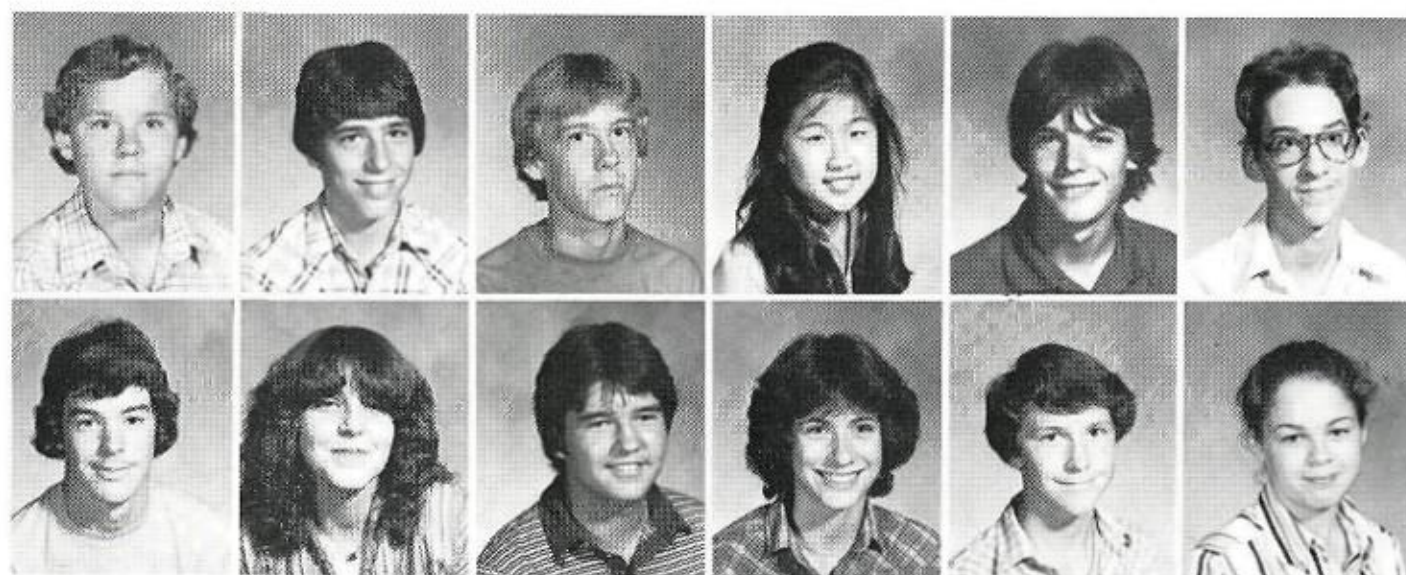

Driver's Ed brought to sophomores the realities of driving a vehicle. With three phases — classroom, simulator, and actual driving — the class helped sophomores on their way to that prized possession — a TEXAS DRIVERS LICENSE.

Nervous sophs arrive at AHS

Confusion, panic, nerves, and butterflies are symptoms felt by almost every sophomore on the first day of school. Looking for lockers and trying to find that English room always plague these newcomers.

Old timers at the school, seniors and juniors felt that the way to succeed in finding the way around was to learn the hall system. First, second, and third halls were the keys to the problem. But what did a senior say when a confused sophomore asked the location of the elevator???

Costumes lend Halloween fun

Along with football and volleyball games, Colt Jamboree, and the Senior Masquerade Dance, the month of October also brought Halloween.

October 29 was Costume Day at AHS. It was held the Thursday before Halloween so that the drill team, band, and football team members could participate.

In the midst of the halls, everything from the traditional ghosts, goblins and witches to Mickey Mouse could be seen. Punk Rockers, Greeks in togas, Mick Jagger, and playboy bunnies were also seen for the first time. Student Council gave a ten dollar prize for the best dressed student.

Later, on Halloween, everyone headed out to the traditional "Spook Houses." The March of Dimes, Wax Museum, and "The Greatest Little Horror House in Texas" were all frequented by students.

And, of course, Halloween would not have been the same without the regular "tricks" and "treats" that always come with it every year.

(A) Susan Adkins, Terry Walters, Edith Chen, and Elizabeth Garret show their favorite costumes on Halloween dress-up day. (B) Robin Murray contributes to the spirit by dressing as a scarecrow. (C) M-I-C ... K-E-Y ... sings Holly Brown in Biology Class. (D) Lesley Wright tries to spook Renee Masters.

Sophs dissect frogs in Bio I

When "the Day" finally arrived, sophomores entered with a stiff upper lip and gruesome tales in their minds. It was the day that Biology I was dissecting frogs.

With the smell of formaldehyde looming over the biology rooms, sophomores got to examine all the parts of a lifeless amphibian inside and out.

This would not be their only ordeal with lifeless creatures. Pulling crayfish pinchers off, pinning worms, and dismembering grasshoppers would all have been endured during biology.

Brand new gym brings triumph

At long last, the new gymnasium opened and shifted into full gear as students began to see results from the long anticipated project.

Features of the gym complex included permanent seating for over 1,800 people, a high quality sound system, a weight room, a classroom, a training room, an official's room, locker rooms for visiting and home teams, and a locker room for all AHS sports teams except the football teams. Physical education classes will use the lockers in the old gym.

Students, teachers, parents, coaches, and administrators agreed that although the gym was long overdue, it was an excellent addition to Arlington High School.

Bob Fahey, 25, makes two points in the first game held in the new gym.

Lunch choices plague school

Where to eat or where not to eat? That was the biggest question at the beginning of the lunch periods. The cafeteria offered Monster Burgers or burritos, while the Cooper Street restaurants furnished hamburgers or pizza.

This freedom was especially nice for the sophomores who had never had open lunches. Their problem, though, was asking Mom and Dad for three dollars a day for lunch money. So, usually you could find the sophomores hitting the cafeteria for another nutritious lunch — cinnamon rolls and french fries???

Big, yellow bus delivers kids

Through the mist it appears. More powerful than a house, traveling at a speed of 20 mph and able to take corners in a single turn, well sometimes . . . It is bus #149 or maybe #146. The faithful bus, whether rain, sleet, snow, or winter's cold winds, gave students, more than two miles away from school, a passage way to school and something to complain about.

It was equipped with 24 seats, which most of the time could seat two students comfortably. It picked up students as early as 7:15 and made them rush to meet a 3:30 departure time or hang around until 4 p.m.

Jeran King, Tonya Powell, Neal Staton, and Jack Cassidy, anxious to leave school, pile on the bus to go home.

THANK YOU MR. R.E.B. FIELDER

For 50 years AHS most outstanding boy and girl have been honored with the prestigious Fielder award. Nearly 100 students have been recognized by Robert Fielder, a 1925 AHS graduate who established this award in 1932. His loyalty to Arlington High School is greatly appreciated by alumni and students alike.

He has also been instrumental in improving the quality of life in Van Alstyne, Texas. Both of these communities salute you. It is an honor to have the opportunity to express my gratitude to a man who personifies the true meaning of a humanitarian.

Your generation will need as much electricity as is being used these days. Maybe more. We at Texas Electric are working to provide you with the electricity you'll need for college, your homes and your jobs.

In the past, we've used mostly natural gas and oil to make electricity. Today, we're making as much electricity as possible in plants built to use lignite coal. And, we're building a plant to make electricity using uranium fuel. By using these cheaper and more abundant fuels, we'll help keep your future looking bright.

Common Bond

Ending — a time to move on, a time to move up.

As the class of 82 moved on and the lower classmen moved up, there was a common bond between the students, classes, and faculty — Arlington High School. Arlington High was an ultimate limit for all. Just as seniors before them and seniors after them will do, the graduates of 82 left with only fond memories of AHS and a vision of the future. Their vision would take them on many different paths which would lead them high and low, and to many different places. Somewhere, though, the paths would cross, and the bond that had released them and the bond that they had believed in would tie them together to relive the memories they parted with.

We on the Colt Corral staff, have tried to show the uniqueness of the bond that seemed to be matchless against all. We have displayed Arlington High School and its speciality.

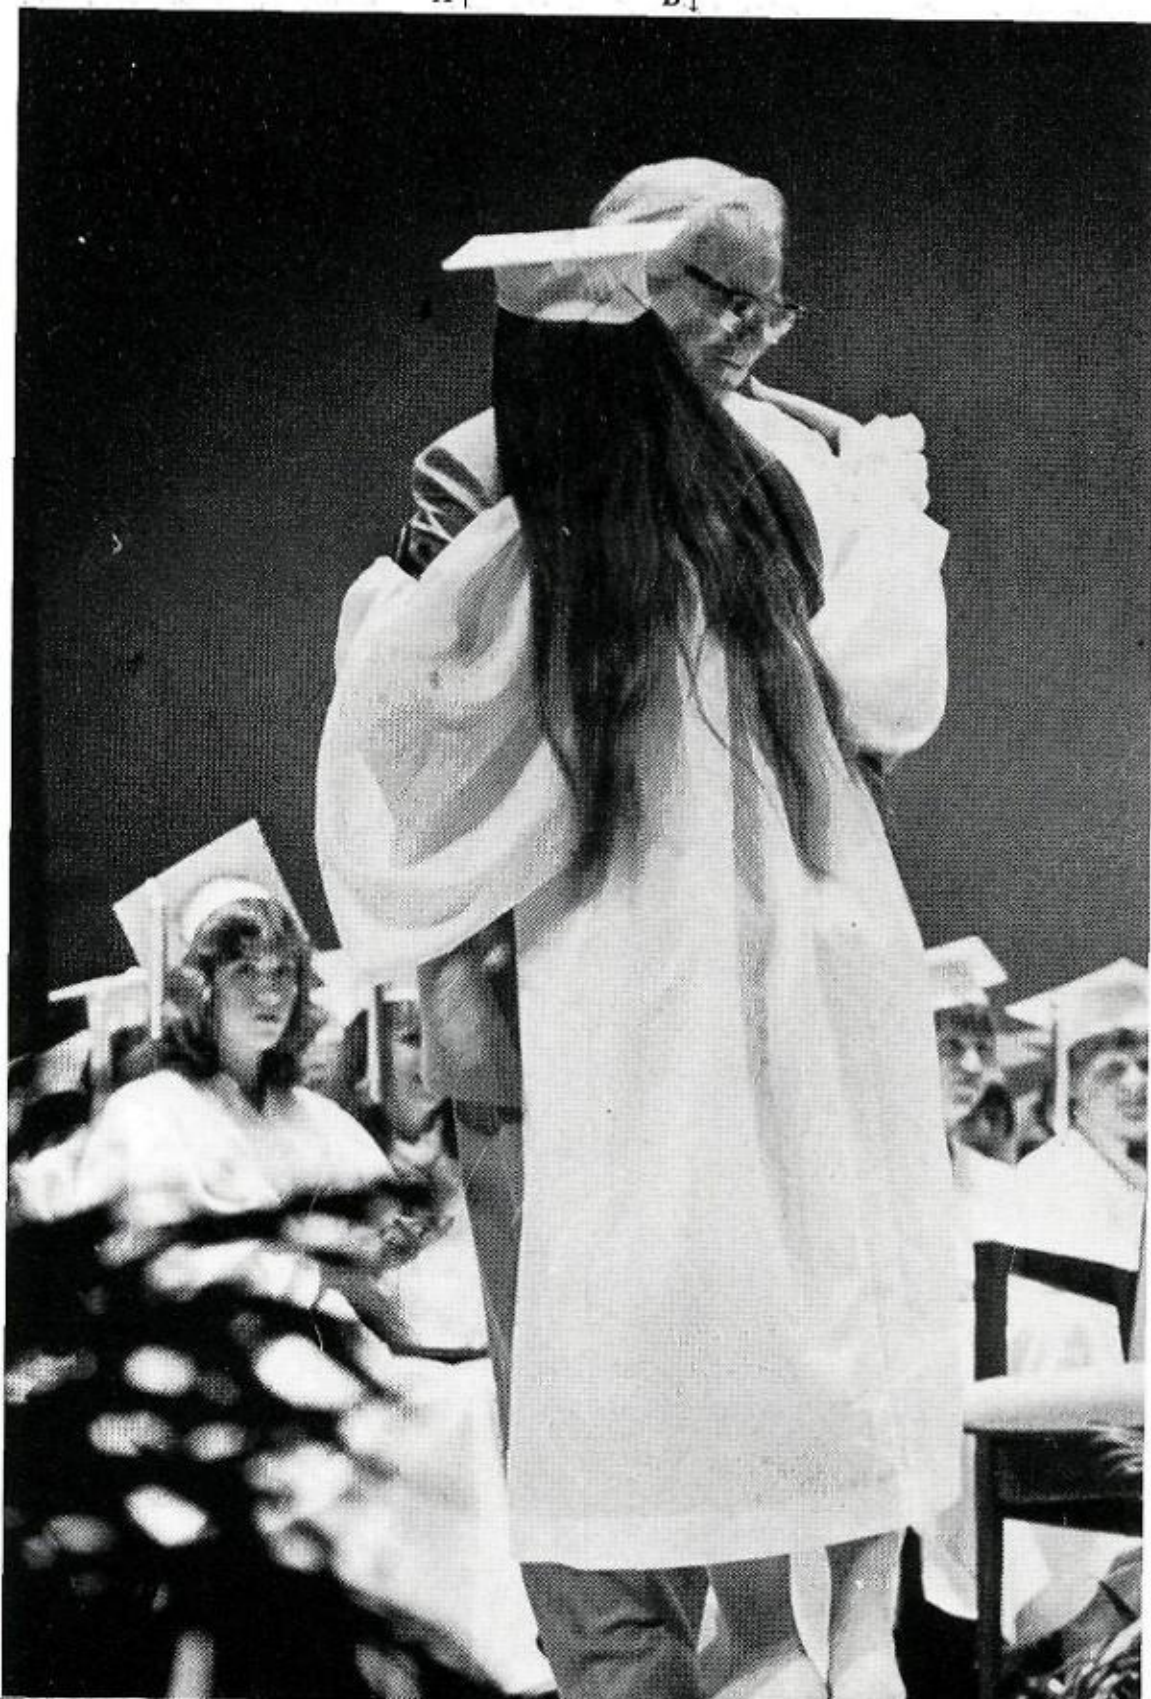

May the bond continue to live and always tie us together.

(A) Colts gather for the first pep rally in the new gym. (B) Valedictorian Anne Toxey expresses her appreciation for her three years at Arlington High as she hugs Principal James Crouch after receiving her diploma.
